

with their extremist budget. And then, on top of that, to vote themselves a Christmas recess when they should have passed a clean continuing resolution—this is the ultimate of irresponsibility.

Mr. Speaker, in the spirit of Christmas and the holiday season, I strongly urge my Republican colleagues to put an end to their budget impasse, protect Medicare and Medicaid, reopen the Federal Government, and begin sensible budget negotiations.

ALBERT SCHWEITZER INSTITUTE LEADS THE WAY IN HUMANI-TARIAN SERVICE

HON. ROSA L. DeLAURO

OF CONNECTICUT

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, December 22, 1995

Ms. DELAURO. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor the Albert Schweitzer Institute for the Humanities, a nonprofit organization in residence at Choate Rosemary Hall in Wallingford, CT. In this season of peace and goodwill, it is an especially appropriate time to honor this organization that is working for the ideals Dr. Albert Schweitzer dedicated his life to—promoting and improving human rights, health care, the environment, and peace throughout the world.

In 1984, the Schweitzer Institute has led the way in providing assistance to the areas where it is most needed. The Schweitzer Institute was the first organization to evacuate children from Bosnia, bringing over 20 Bosnian children to the United States and arranging for their medical treatment. While peace seems to be on the horizon, Bosnian civilians are still suffering from the ravages of war. Another trip to Bosnia is planned for January to bring desperately needed medicine, warm clothes, food, and toys.

The Schweitzer Institute is also working with the Inter-American Development Bank to run and monitor the Nickerie Hospital in Suriname. The hospital is in a remote area of Suriname's rain forest where no other health care is available. The institute will work to modernize health care facilities and improve the access and quality of care. In the past, the institute has evacuated children from the former Soviet Union to the United States for medical treatment; and has sponsored international conferences on issues such as global health, military toxic waste and ethics.

The Schweitzer Institute has improved the quality of life for thousands of people around the world. I am proud of the work they have done, and I would like to congratulate Harold Robles, president and founder of the institute, and his staff on their important and successful work. The Albert Schweitzer Institute for the Humanities is truly making our world a better place.

BALANCED BUDGET

HON. WILLIAM J. MARTINI

OF NEW JERSEY

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, December 22, 1995

Mr. MARTINI. Mr. Speaker, President Clinton is playing games with the American people. He claims to support a balanced budget, but he has failed to honor his commitment.

I believe that we have a moral obligation to balance the budget. A balanced budget is the right thing to do for our future, our children's future, and the future of generations to come.

Our message is simple, the Federal Government must learn to exercise the same fiscal restraint that families and businesses operate under each and every day.

My Republican colleagues and to their credit, some on the other side of the aisle, have put forth an ambitious agenda that would balance the Federal budget by the year 2002.

Unfortunately the Clinton administration has decided to fight us every step of the way instead of joining in our effort.

The truth is my friends, we will balance the budget, we will save Medicare, and we will change the way the Federal Government operates. For the sake of our children we must not back away from the awesome task at hand.

Mr. Speaker, Congress is finally shaping up and bringing long awaited fiscal fitness to the Federal Government.

I am proud to be part of this historic effort.

I urge the administration to stop playing games and honor its commitment to the American people.
