

separate land-grant institution on property donated by Claflin adjacent to its campus.

In its 140-year history, Claflin University has been served by only eight presidents. Following Dr. Webster were Dr. Edward Cooke (1872–1884); Dr. Lewis M. Dunton (1884–1922); Dr. Joseph B. Randolph (1922–1944); Dr. John J. Seabrook (1945–1955); Dr. Hubert V. Manning (1956–1984); Dr. Oscar A. Rogers, Jr. (1984–1994); and Dr. Henry N. Tisdale (1994–present).

During Dr. Cooke’s administration, a fire destroyed the Fisk Building, which was designed by Robert Bates, who was the first certified Black Architect in the United States.

The first college class graduated in 1879 under Dr. Cooke’s administration. Dr. Cooke was succeeded by his vice president and development officer, the Reverend Dr. Lewis Dunton. He established a law department under the tutelage of the Honorable J.J. Wright, a former Associate Justice of the S.C. Supreme Court. The program’s graduates were admitted to the South Carolina Bar. Dr. Dunton also increased the campus from 6 to 21 acres. He even deeded his home and 6 acres of land to Claflin after his retirement.

Claflin’s fourth president, Dr. Joseph Randolph, emphasized a liberal arts education. He sought to inspire students intellectually, culturally, and spiritually to prepare them for a variety of professions. Under his direction, the high school and upper grades were discontinued. The first four years of elementary school were retained for the teacher education program; however, they were later discontinued as well.

Dr. Seabrook, who became the fifth president, persuaded the South Carolina Annual Conference to substantially increase its annual giving to Claflin. He also renewed the interest of the New England Conference of the Methodist Church in the institution. The increased funding enabled the college to expand its programs, and in 1948 it became accredited for the first time by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools.

The tenure of the sixth president, Dr. Manning, was most noticeably marked by the significant increase in Claflin’s physical plant. He also strengthened the faculty and increased the endowment. It was during Dr. Manning’s tenure that I was first associated with the University.

Under Dr. Rogers’ administration, two capital campaigns were completed. This increased the endowment and improved the college’s financial base. Student enrollment grew and the Grace Thomas Kennedy building was constructed. He also commissioned a master plan to guide campus development into the 21st century.

In 1994, the current president, Dr. Henry Tisdale took the helm of Claflin. He was a former senior vice president and chief academic officer at Delaware State University. His dedication to scholarly achievement led him to declare academic excellence was the number one priority of the institution. Dr. Tisdale established the Claflin Honors College and the Center for Excellence in Science and Mathematics, and gained the national accreditation of more than a dozen academic programs. Under his leadership, Masters programs in Business Administration, Biotechnology and Education were established. He also oversaw construction of the Living and Learning Center, Legacy Plaza, the Student Residential Center, the Music Center and the new University Chapel.

Claflin University has been recognized as one of the nation’s Top Tier higher education institutions by publications including U.S. News and World Report, Forbes.com, Consumers Digest, Chronicle of Higher Education, and the Journal of Blacks in Higher Education.

Madam Speaker, I ask you and my colleagues to join me in congratulating Claflin University on its rich 140-year history. Claflin began as a mission to educate African American ministers and today has become one of our country’s premier higher education institutions. I commend Dr. Tisdale and Claflin University for their tremendous contributions to South Carolina and its students.

HONORING DALLAS POLICE CHIEF
DAVID BROWN

HON. EDDIE BERNICE JOHNSON

OF TEXAS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, May 26, 2010

Ms. EDDIE BERNICE JOHNSON of Texas. Madam Speaker, I rise today to recognize and congratulate Dallas Police Department’s new Chief of Police, David Brown. A 27-year veteran of the Dallas Police Department, Chief Brown was sworn in to his new role earlier this month.

A graduate of Dallas Baptist University and Amberton University, Chief Brown has spent his entire police career with the Dallas Police Department. He has served as police Lieutenant, Sergeant, Senior Corporal, Officer, Deputy Chief, First Assistant Chief, Interim Dallas Assistant City Manager, and First Assistant Chief. His expanse of experience within the police department will certainly serve him well in his role as chief.

Chief Brown is a strong and dedicated manager who is extremely knowledgeable about and dedicated to the Dallas community. A native of Oak Cliff, Chief Brown has deep connections to the community he protects. He is known in the department for leading innovative projects to reduce crime, and plans to continue to explore new methods of crime prevention.

I look forward to working with Chief Brown as he seeks to increase the visibility of the Dallas Police Department and reduce crime. He has an important job ahead of him and I am confident that the dedication that has dictated his career will continue in his new role as chief.

RECOGNIZING CAPTAIN DON
GRIGG FOR HIS SERVICE TO OUR COUNTRY

HON. JOHN BOOZMAN

OF ARKANSAS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, May 26, 2010

Mr. BOOZMAN. Madam Speaker, I rise to recognize Captain Don Grigg, who lived a life of service to his country.

Grigg proudly served in the Vietnam War where his selflessness earned him the Silver Star, a Bronze Star and two Purple Hearts.

He was a veteran who always remembered what an honor it was to fight for freedom and defend liberty. He continued his fight off the battlefield as a strong supporter of veterans and worked to get them the benefits they earned.

Grigg’s hard work on behalf of our nation’s veterans was noticed by people across Arkansas. In 2008 Governor Mike Beebe appointed him to the Governor’s Commission on Veterans Affairs.

As a man who devoted his life to the United States and our veterans, it is fitting that Captain Grigg will be laid to rest with his comrades at Arlington National Cemetery.

We appreciate his service to our country and our veterans appreciate his work on their behalf.

CELEBRATING THE 25TH ANNIVERSARY OF THE BOB HOPE VILLAGE

HON. JEFF MILLER

OF FLORIDA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, May 26, 2010

Mr. MILLER of Florida. Madam Speaker, I rise to recognize the 25th anniversary of the Bob Hope Village. Located in Shalimar, Florida, the Bob Hope Village has succeeded in creating a safe and secure housing community for enlisted Air Force widows. For that reason, Madam Speaker, I am glad to acknowledge the compassion demonstrated by the community’s founders.

The Bob Hope Village was a vision of active duty and retired Air Force non-commissioned officers. Upon learning that more than 50,000 enlisted Air Force widows were living in poverty due to the challenging nature of transient military life, the group acted to create the Air Force Enlisted Village in 1967. After much determination and generosity, the vision of the community was finally realized, and in 1985 the Bob Hope Village was opened.

Due to its huge success, the Bob Hope Village has built upon its original vision of providing housing to widowers, retired military couples, parents of active duty members and spouses of enlisted members who have died or are killed on active duty. In addition to providing housing, the Village supports all surviving spouses of enlisted Air Force members financially—regardless of their financial status. Due to the benevolent work on the part of the founders and contributors of the Bob Hope Village, many lives have been impacted. In addition to the Bob Hope Village being a place that provides a home and financial security for those in need; it is also a place where individuals can find emotional comfort in sharing memories of military life.

Madam Speaker, I am so proud to represent a community of devoted citizens who have sacrificed so much for our Nation and her ideals. Through the efforts of the Bob Hope Village, spouses of enlisted Air Force members can find support and care when they need it the most. It is with much pleasure that I congratulate the Bob Hope Village on its 25th anniversary. Continue the good work and I wish the community many more years of success.
