So the amendment was agreed to.

The result of the vote was announced as above recorded.

The Acting CHAIR. The question is on the amendment in the nature of a substitute, as amended.

The amendment was agreed to.

The Acting CHAIR. Under the rule, the Committee rises.

Accordingly, the Committee rose; and the Speaker pro tempore (Mr. HOLDING) having assumed the chair, Mr. CARTER of Georgia, Acting Chair of the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union, reported that that Committee, having had under consideration the bill (H.R. 238) to reauthorize the Commodity Futures Trading Commission, to better protect futures customers, to provide end-users with market certainty, to make basic reforms to ensure transparency and accountability at the Commission, to help farmers, ranchers, and end-users manage risks, to help keep consumer costs low, and for other purposes, and, pursuant to House Resolution 40, he reported the bill back to the House with an amendment adopted in the Committee of the Whole.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under the rule, the previous question is ordered.

Is a separate vote demanded on any amendment to the amendment reported from the Committee of the Whole?

If not, the question is on the amendment in the nature of a substitute, as amended.

The amendment was agreed to.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the engrossment and third reading of the bill.

The bill was ordered to be engrossed and read a third time, and was read the third time.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mr. LANGEVIN. Mr. Speaker, I have a motion to recommit at the desk.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is the gentleman opposed to the bill?

Mr. LANGEVIN. I am opposed.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Clerk will report the motion to recommit.

The Clerk read as follows:

Mr. Langevin moves to recommit the bill H.R. 238 to the Committee on Agriculture with instructions to report the same back to the House forthwith with the following amendment:

Page 44, line 15, strike "and".

(B) the Commission shall not consider the swaps regulatory requirements of a foreign jurisdiction described under subparagraph (A) as comparable to and as comprehensive as United States swaps requirements, if that foreign jurisdiction has been found by the Commission, in consultation with the Director of National Intelligence, to have engaged in cyber-attacks targeting any election held in the United States; and

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman from Rhode Island is recognized for 5 minutes.

Mr. LANGEVIN. Mr. Speaker, this is the final amendment to the bill, which will not kill the bill or send it back to committee. If adopted, the bill will immediately proceed to a vote on final passage as amended.

Mr. Speaker, the amendment I am offering this afternoon is simple. It would prevent any jurisdiction's swap laws from automatically being considered comparable to the United States if it is found to have engaged in cyber attacks targeting U.S. elections. As someone who has been involved in cybersecurity policy for the better part of a decade, it could not be more relevant, it could not be more timely.

During the past year, Mr. Speaker, the core of our democracy came under attack. The Russian Government, acting under the orders of authoritarian President Vladimir Putin, conducted a sustained information warfare campaign designed to undermine the American people's faith in our electoral system. The influence operation involved traditional tradecraft, including Russian state-owned media broadcasters. It also, notably and notoriously, involved the hacking of Democratic Party organizations, including the Democratic National Committee.

These are facts, Mr. Speaker. They are the findings of independent security researchers that have been recently confirmed by the brave men and women serving their country as part of the intelligence community for whom I have great respect. The contours of what happened are indisputable, and they should be undisputed.

Yet, our response to this unprecedented attack has been anything but unified. Putin and his henchmen acted with an intent to sow discord, to make us question each other's motives, and to raise doubt about the validity of our election results. We know this was Putin's intent, and yet, rather than acting with solidarity to address the problem, we bicker.

Mr. Speaker, next Friday, I will be here at the Capitol for one of the greatest American traditions, the peaceful transition of power. Mr. Trump may not have been my choice for President, but, come next week, he will nonetheless be my President. I will join with my colleagues here, and we will congratulate him on his inauguration. We will do so because there is no evidence that any vote tallies were altered and, like it or not, Mr. Trump clearly prevailed in the electoral college.

But if we can join together on the election of the President, something many of my colleagues have severe disagreements about, why can we not do so to decry Putin's attempted interference? Why do we not speak today as a body with one voice to say: you've failed, Mr. Putin; our faith in our democracy is as strong as ever?

I will not pretend that my amendment to this bill is sufficient punishment for the brazen attack on our democracy. But it will send a powerful message that this House is unified. It will send a powerful message to Putin that American democracy is resilient. It will send a powerful message to our allies that we will not stand idly by as Russians attempt to affect their democratic institutions. And it will send a powerful message to our constituents that our commitment to free and fair elections rises above partisan politics.

President Obama spoke very eloquently on Tuesday about the challenges faced by our democracy. "Our democracy is threatened," he said, "whenever we take it for granted." Passing this amendment makes it abundantly clear that we very much understand how lucky we are to live in this country and how attacks on it will not be tolerated. I will reiterate that this amendment will not kill the bill in any way. Rather, we will move immediately to vote on final passage following its adoption.

I urge my colleagues to join me in this display of solidarity and resilience.

Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. CONAWAY. Mr. Speaker, I claim the time in opposition.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman from Texas is recognized for 5 minutes.

Mr. CONAWAY. Mr. Speaker, I rise in opposition to the gentleman's amendment. Those of you who paid attention to the debate earlier in the day will find it curious that much of the debate, some of the debate, was about the specificity with which we instructed the CFTC to set up a regime in which to evaluate foreign jurisdictions, and it irritated the group. In fact, many of them are voting against it because that is in the underlying bill that is there, so I oppose the gentleman's amendment.

I also don't know that it wouldn't require a referral to the Permanent Select Committee on Intelligence, and while the vaunted Committee on Agriculture would love to claim all the jurisdiction we possibly could, I am not interested in referring it to a different committee.

For 4 years now, the end users and folks have been waiting to get this thing done. It is time for us to get it done. I urge my colleagues to vote against this motion to recommit and support the Commodity End-User Relief Act.

Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Without objection, the previous question is ordered on the motion to recommit.

There was no objection.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion to recommit.

The question was taken; and the Speaker pro tempore announced that the noes appeared to have it.

RECORDED VOTE

Mr. LANGEVIN. Mr. Speaker, I demand a recorded vote.

A recorded vote was ordered.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to clause 9 of rule XX, the 5-minute vote on the motion to recommit will be followed by a 5-minute vote on passage of the bill, if ordered.

The vote was taken by electronic device, and there were—ayes 190, noes 235, not voting 9, as follows:

Ms. MAXINE WATERS of California. Mr. Speaker, I am requesting an investigation by the House.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair cannot unilaterally grant an investigation. The gentlewoman is welcome to use whatever other procedural means that she may have at her disposal to effect a result.

Ms. MAXINE WATERS of California. I thank the Chair. I have made it known. I have asked for the investigation. If there is no assistance from the House, I would appreciate allowing other kinds of cooperation.

I must say this, Mr. Speaker, if we were sitting in on the House and if we were streaming, then the House would know what to do since they investigated our past actions when we were trying to bring attention to gun violence in this country. So I don't really accept the fact that the House has no role in this and that it should not be participating in it.

The House participates when it wants to, and I am asking the House to participate and investigate in this the same way you did when you decided that somehow it was improper for us to stream from the House on this issue.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentlewoman yields back.

Ms. MAXINE WATERS of California. No, I don't yield back.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentlewoman's time has expired. The gentlewoman is no longer recognized.

HOUSE INVESTIGATION REQUESTED IN RE C-SPAN INTERRUPTED BY "RUSSIA TODAY"

(Ms. MAXINE WATERS of California asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Ms. MAXINE WATERS of California. Mr. Speaker, today while I spoke on the House floor on H.R. 78, the state-owned Russian channel called "Russia Today" suddenly interrupted my speech, and C-SPAN coverage was replaced with Russian programming.

Can the Chair please explain the proper rules for coverage of House floor proceedings? How did this happen?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair will inform the gentlewoman that the Chair has no information on this at this point.

Ms. MAXINE WATERS of California. Mr. Speaker, I would like to request an investigation of this incident because it does not seem to be coincidental. I was speaking about the SEC, and I was speaking about President-elect Trump and how he could influence the SEC and his relationship with Russia when I was interrupted.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. As debate, the gentlewoman's remarks will appear in the RECORD.

Ms. MAXINE WATERS of California. Mr. Speaker, I am requesting an investigation by the House.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. As debate, the gentlewoman's remarks will appear in the RECORD.

IN SUPPORT OF NOMINATION OF SECRETARY OF EDUCATION BETSY DEVOS

(Mr. TROTT asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. TROTT. Mr. Speaker, I rise this evening to voice my strong support for President-elect Trump's outstanding choice for Secretary of Education, Betsy DeVos.

A fellow Michigander, Betsy has worked tirelessly on behalf of the children of our country, striving to improve education and return authority back to those who know best—parents and the States. Not only has Michigan benefited from her efforts, but she has worked across the country to improve test scores and promote the highest level of academic achievement. She is committed to not only promoting strong schools, but she has also worked on an individual basis by personally mentoring children and interacting with their parents.

I have no doubt that Betsy will continue to be a strong advocate for our children and that she will ensure that our education is as it should be—the greatest in the world.

THE AFFORDABLE CARE ACT WORKS
