

them all on the debt ceiling and then he'll decide how big a crisis he wants."

We cannot balance the budget on the backs of working people. We cannot cut Medicare $270 billion to give a tax break for the rich. Stop your extreme agenda, Republican leadership, and let us get on with the people's business.

REPUBLICAN BUDGET RESTORES AMERICAN DREAM

(Mr. TIAHRT asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. TIAHRT. Mr. Speaker, the debate rages on regarding the balanced budget and I am a little tired of hearing the same old excuses over and over. The calls that are coming into my office right now overwhelmingly say do not let up, keep pushing for a balanced budget and do it now. They tell me we have a wonderful opportunity to finally end the habit of spending away our children's future, and balance the budget.

What is so extreme about working together to save Medicare for our parents and our grandparents? What is so extreme about working together to reform welfare, to emphasize work? What is so extreme about working together to cut taxes for working families? This budget restores the American dream. An analysis done by the Heritage Foundation said the Republican plan to balance the budget in 7 years with tax relief will offer the following for workers: $32 billion more to keep for themselves in tax relief, higher compensation per hour for workers, lower mortgage rates, more industrial production.

This is clearly a wonderful opportunity. No more excuses. It is time to do the right thing for the people of this country. Balance the budget.

BIPARTISANSHIP CALLED FOR IN BUDGET BATTLE

(Mr. BISHOP asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. BISHOP. Mr. Speaker, the President should not give in to blackmail.

The Republican leaders in Congress are attempting to blackmail the American people into accepting a budget-balancing plan that pays for a massive $245 billion tax cut for the rich by extreme $450 billion reductions in Medicare and Medicaid.

The Republicans threaten to force the Government to default in its obligations and shut down unless the President lets them balance the budget in 7 years their way—a way that hurts seniors, hurts children, hurts veterans, hurts farmers, hurts rural hospitals, and hurts college students.

I am a fiscal conservative. I support a balanced budget. Conservative Democrats offered a bill to balance the budget in 7 years that is credible, makes reasonable reductions in Government programs while preserving those that benefit our Nation's people. The Republican majority rejected this fair bill.

Let's get a bipartisan agreement to balance the budget in a way that is fair and just to all Americans—not just the rich. But let's not give in to Republican's blackmail.

SPENDING BINGE HAS TO END

(Mr. WALSH asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. WALSH. Mr. Speaker, the mandate from Americans in last year's elections was clear.

Cut the fat in Government. Rein in the spending. Save our country. The spending binge has to end.

We promised our constituents we would balance the budget. President Clinton, you are standing in the way. This is not a political campaign. We are talking about the future of our country.

Republicans have produced a budget which spares the vulnerable.

Our budget will not cut spending on important programs. It allows for growth at a sustainable rate.

Student loans: In 7 years, annual student loan spending goes from $24.5 to $36.4 billion in 2002.

Medicaid: In the past 7 years, Medicaid spending totaled $443 billion. In the next 7 years, $773 billion.

Medicare: In the past 7 years, we spent $926 billion. In the next 7 years, $1.6 trillion.

Over the next 7 years, Medicare spending per beneficiary will increase 40 percent.

We have promised taxpayers we will balance the budget. We will do that.

It's time for President Clinton to say no to spending, and yes to our children. If not now, when, Mr. President?

BALANCE THE BUDGET IN 7 YEARS WITHOUT CUTTING MEDICARE AND EDUCATION

(Mr. GENE GREEN of Texas asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. GENE GREEN of Texas. Mr. Speaker, Speaker GINGRICH has said he wants to keep open the Social Security and veterans offices temporarily so the elderly and veterans will not have to suffer from the shutdown. Well, I am glad to hear that. The problem though is that once they reopen after this budget impasse, there are not going to be as many benefits for them there.

The balanced budget proposal cuts Medicare $270 billion over the next 7 years, and, in my own State, the Republican bill cuts Medicare by over $16 billion in Texas. Such a dramatic cutback would have a severe cutback on the 2 million senior citizens. The veterans better watch out because $6.4 billion is cut over the next 7 years, including increasing veterans' costs for prescription drugs.

Let me look at what has happened from 1 day of the Government shutdown: 28,000 American seniors and workers have been unable to apply for Social Security or disability benefits; 200,000 American seniors have tried to call the 1-800-HELP line, oftentimes to report abuses we need to have reported, and they have not gotten an answer; 7,600 veterans have not been able to file for compensation.

Let us cut this impasse. We want to balance the budget in 7 years, too, but not to cut veterans and Social Security.

STICK TO COMMITMENT TO BALANCE THE BUDGET

(Mr. WHITE asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. WHITE. Mr. Speaker, the public does not like it when Congress and the President cannot get together on a budget. Frankly, neither do I. It would be so much easier on all of us if everything was sweetness and light here in Washington, DC. But, unfortunately, there is a reason that things are not sweetness and light here in Washington, DC, and it is because there is a fundamental disagreement between Congress and the President on an issue that is very crucial to our country. Congress is committed to balancing the budget as soon as possible, but certainly no later than 7 years from now, and the President is not.

Mr. Speaker, since I came here 11 months ago, we have worked very hard on our budget. We have had to make some very difficult decisions. We have had to say no to our own constituents. We have had to make sure we did not use all the phony numbers that we sometimes see from the budgets in the past.

For the first time in 30 years, we have proposed and passed in both Houses of Congress a budget that will balance over the next 7 years. We cannot back off that commitment. It is too important to our children. I hope that the President joins us.

IT IS TIME TO END THIS CRISIS

(Mrs. KENNELLY asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend her remarks.)

Mrs. KENNELLY. Mr. Speaker, if today were a normal day, 28,000 people would be planning to apply for Social Security, survivors, or disability benefits, 1,600 veterans would be filing their new claims for compensation or pensions, and 900 more would be claiming their benefits under the Montgomery GI bill.

If today were a normal day, three-quarters of a million people would be getting up this morning, planning to visit one of the national parks. And, on a normal day, 55,000 of those people would be here in Washington, ready to visit the Washington Monument, the White House, Ford's Theater and other locations here.

If today were a normal day, 23,000 Americans would be applying for their passports to get ready for trips abroad. And on a normal day, 700 young men and women would be ready to dedicate themselves to our country by enlisting in our Nation's Armed Forces.

But instead of these normal everyday things, today we have paralysis, confusion, delay, and waste. It's time to end this crisis, and get people back to work.

IT IS TIME FOR THE PRESIDENT TO GET SERIOUS ABOUT BALANCING THE FEDERAL BUDGET

(Mr. CHABOT asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. CHABOT. Mr. Speaker, I am a little troubled by some of President Clinton's comments the last couple of days. I have been listening to the White House press conferences, which seem to occur about every 20 minutes, and I can keep hearing the President claim that he wants to balance the budget.

Now, that is interesting, because the budget that he sent to Congress called for $200 billion annual deficits into the foreseeable future and added $1 trillion to the national debt over the next 5 years. His so-called balanced budget was so unbalanced, the Democrats in the House refused to offer it. In the Senate, where it was introduced, it received not one single vote.

Now every time we turn on the television we see a somber President Clinton proclaiming that theoretically he supports some balanced budget at some time, just not this particular balanced budget.

Baloney. The President could care less about balancing the budget. He should join us and we should work together to finally balance the budget for this country.

WHO IS GOING TO BALANCE THE BUDGET IS NOT THE ISSUE

(Mr. WILLIAMS asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, here is something the national Republicans do not want to talk about. The last time they were in charge, under former Presidents Reagan and Bush, they passed their budget. You remember it, it was called trickle down. The Federal deficit tripled last time they were in charge.

Under President Clinton, the deficit has finally begun to come down. In fact, for 3 years in a row the deficit has come down. The last President to pull that off was Harry Truman in the 1940's.

Here is a very remarkable thing: If the Gingrich budget passed, it would not reduce the deficit in its first 3 years as much as the Clinton budget reduced the deficit in its first 3 years. And Bill Clinton did it with equity and fairness, without savaging kids or farmers or veterans or old folks.

So the issue is not who is going to balance the budget. The Republicans have proven they do not know how to do it. President Clinton has proven Democrats do.

EVERYBODY WANTS A BALANCED BUDGET

(Mr. NEY asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. NEY. Mr. Speaker, the American people need to know that there was a vote on this floor to protect Social Security funds from being raided. They need to know there was a vote on this floor to protect pension funds from being raided to pay the national debt.

We voted for it, but we were not successful. We needed more support from over here. People talk about the fact that they want a balanced budget, until it is time to actually do it. The American people are not extremists. My district is overwhelmingly Democrat, and the calls are coming in overwhelmingly 9 to 1, by Democrats, Republicans, independents, working people across this country that they want a balanced budget.

The American people care about the money they put into their wallets, and their money for 26 to 30 years the Government has taken out of their wallets. No more smoke and mirrors, no more false promises of Gramm-Rudman. It is time to act and for Washington to act right now on behalf of the American people and the future of children in our country to balance the Nation's budget once and for all so people can keep their own hard-earned money.

GOVERNMENT SHUTDOWN

(Ms. MCKINNEY asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend her remarks.)

Ms. MCKINNEY. Mr. Speaker, since April of this year, Speaker GINGRICH has threatened that he would close down the Government in order to pass his extremist agenda. Well, yesterday, Speaker GINGRICH got his wish—the Government closed down.

All this because the GOP is in a mad rush to make their gargantuan cuts to Medicare, the environment, and education, so they can help pay for $245 billion in tax breaks.

Mr. Speaker, the American people yearn for Medicare reforms worthy of the mainstream and not the GOP extreme. Clearly, extremist GOP policies have only one purpose in mind, and that is to reward those who finance the Republican Party at the expense of those who don't make campaign contributions.

Don't try to blame the President, pass the appropriations bills.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. BUNNING of Kentucky). Further 1-minute will be recognized at the end of the legislative day.

FOREIGN OPERATIONS, EXPORT FINANCING, AND RELATED PROGRAMS APPROPRIATIONS ACT, 1996

Mr. CALLAHAN. Mr. Speaker, I call up the bill (H.R. 1868) making appropriations for foreign operations, export financing, and related programs for the fiscal year ending September 30, 1996, and for other purposes, with the remaining Senate amendment thereto, and move to disagree to the Senate amendment to the House amendment to the Senate amendment numbered 115.

The Clerk read the title of the bill.

The Clerk read the Senate amendment to the House amendment to the Senate amendment numbered 115, as follows:

Senate amendment to House amendment to Senate amendment:

In lieu of the matter proposed to be inserted by the House amendment to the Senate amendment, insert: " Provided, That in determining eligibility for assistance from funds appropriated to carry out section 104 of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961, non-governmental and multilateral organizations shall not be subjected to requirements more restrictive than the requirements applicable to foreign governments for such assistance: Provided further, That none of the funds made available under this Act may be used to lobby for or against abortion".

Mr. CALLAHAN (during the reading). Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that the Senate amendment to the House amendment to the Senate amendment be considered as read and printed in the RECORD.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Alabama?

There was no objection.

MOTION OFFERED BY MR. CALLAHAN

Mr. CALLAHAN. Mr. Speaker, I offer a motion.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Clerk will report the motion.

The Clerk read as follows:

Mr. CALLAHAN moves to disagree to the Senate amendment to the House amendment to the Senate amendment numbered 115.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman from Alabama [Mr. CALLAHAN] will be recognized for 30 minutes, and the gentleman from Texas [Mr. WILSON] will be recognized for 30 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Alabama [Mr. CALLAHAN].

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. CALLAHAN. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members
