PETITIONS AND MEMORIALS

The following petitions and memorials were laid before the Senate and were referred or ordered to lie on the table as indicated:

POM-480. A resolution adopted by the Legislature of the State of Alaska; to the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation.

"RESOLUTION

"Whereas the federal government is considering legislation that would repeal the existing authority of the Interstate Commerce Commission to regulate water carriers transporting property between the 48 contiguous states and Alaska; and

"Whereas Alaska is uniquely dependent on water transportation in that virtually everything that Alaskans eat, drink, wear, or use comes into the state by ship or barge; and

"Whereas the deep water transport market serving the Alaska Railbelt is a classic duopoly situation in that two water carriers provide the vital service of transporting at least 75 percent of all goods shipped for 80 percent of the state's residents; and

"Whereas, in a duopoly situation, the service providers have an obligation to their customers to operate with the highest degree of fairness and disclosure; and

"Whereas the freight system by which Alaskans receive vital cargo should treat all customers fairly by guaranteeing equal access to competitive rates; and

"Whereas the citizens of Alaska, recognizing that their interests may best be served by allowing market forces to determine the cost of bringing vital goods to the state so far as possible, continue to have concerns about the cost of shipping goods to Alaska; and

"Whereas the citizens of Alaska have also expressed their desire to preserve the essential elements of the current system of regulating water carriers serving Alaska; and

"Whereas, if the Interstate Commerce Commission is abolished and if there is no other forum for shipper complaints, the citizens of the state may have no place to present and resolve complaints about water carriers serving Alaska other than in court; and

"Whereas the federal government has historically had a role in water transportation to Alaska through the Interstate Commerce Commission; and

"Whereas the federal government is considering whether to transfer some functions of the Interstate Commerce Commission to the United States Department of Transportation; and

"Whereas the Interstate Commerce Commission has recommended that the regulation of all domestic offshore water carriage be handled by the Federal Maritime Commission, which may also be abolished; and

"Whereas regulatory functions of the Interstate Commerce Commission relating to domestic offshore water carriage could be performed by other existing federal entities if the Interstate Commerce Commission is abolished in order to save federal taxpayer money; and

"Whereas three primary interests of Alaskans if such abolishment occurs are to ensure that rates for carriage to Alaska are fair and competitive, to ensure that carriage service to Alaska is dependable, and to ensure that an accessible forum exists in which Alaskans can present and resolve complaints; be it

Resolved, That the Alaska State Legislature respectfully requests that the Governor and members of the Alaska delegation in the United States Congress support the preservation of the essential regulatory functions of the Interstate Commerce Commission pertaining to domestic offshore water carriage that serve the best interests of Alaska's consumers while providing an acceptable rate of return to the carriers which serve the Alaska market by transferring such regulatory functions to the United States Department of Transportation, if and when necessary."

POM-481. A resolution adopted by the Commission of the City of Boynton, Florida relative to the Superfund Reform 95 principles; to the Committee on Environment and Public Works.

POM-482. A resolution adopted by the House of the Legislature of the State of Georgia; to the Committee on Finance.

"Whereas, the members of state legislatures are required to be away from their homes while performing the duties of their offices; and

"Whereas, members of state legislatures are reimbursed for their travel expenses and the other expenses incurred in performing their duties; and

"Whereas, under the provisions of 26 U.S.C., Section 162(h), state legislators are allowed to deduct such reasonable travel expenses for purposes of income taxation; and

"Whereas, the payment of such expenses is currently subject to withholding for purposes of the federal Social Security Act and for purposes of federal income taxation; and

"Whereas, it is only fitting and proper that such expenses should not be subjected to withholding for these purposes: Now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the House of Representatives, That this body urges the Congress of the United States to enact legislation which would exclude the travel expenses and per diem of state legislators from income for purposes of contributions required under the federal Social Security Act and from withholding for purposes of federal income taxation, BE IT FURTHER

"Resolved That the Clerk of the House of Representatives is authorized and directed to transmit appropriate copies of this resolution to the Congress of the United States and to each member of Congress from the State of Georgia."

STATEMENTS ON INTRODUCED BILLS AND JOINT RESOLUTIONS

By Ms. SNOWE (for herself and Mr. Mack):

S. 1473. A bill to authorize the Administrator of General Services to permit the posting in space under the control of the Administrator of notices concerning missing children, and for other purposes; to the Committee on Environment and Public Works.

MISSING CHILDREN LEGISLATION

• Ms. SNOWE. Mr. President, I introduce a small but important piece of legislation designed to assist parents in times of terrible crisis and need, times that every parent has nightmares about—when their children are missing.

Imagine the horror of discovering that your child is missing. Imagine the pain and emotion that overcomes a family at such a time. Imagine the strength and dedication that such families muster in order to do everything possible to locate that child. And imagine how this horror and devastation becomes compounded by senseless Government regulations which hinder their efforts to locate their children.

Consider the tragic experience of Claudine and Don Ryce, the parents of Jimmy Ryce, a 10-year-old Florida boy who disappeared on September 11 of this year. Jimmy disappeared somewhere in the three square blocks between his school bus stop and his home.

Tragically, Jimmy's body was found late last week. I extend my deepest sympathy, and my most sincere condolences, to his family.

I want Jimmy's parents to know that I heard about the frustration they encountered as they searched for their son. I want them to know that Congress will do something to rectify this. Today, I want to break down one barrier that they encountered in their vigilant efforts to locate their son.

Jimmy's parents tell the story of how simple tasks, such as posting notices in Federal buildings with Jimmy's picture on it, were frustrated by senseless Government regulation. They tell of how, with the assistance of the FBI, they would post these notices in one Federal agency building, only to have them removed by employees of another agency. Imagine how frustrating this must be to parents of missing children. How frustrating this must be, especially since photographs of missing children are the most effective tool we have for locating these children.

Unfortunately, far too many children are missing in this country. A 1990 study by the Department of Justice—the most recent study on this issue—found that in 1988 there were as many as:

114,600 attempted abductions of children by non-family members;

4,600 abductions by non-family members reported to the police;

300 abductions by non-family members where the children were gone for long periods of time or were murdered;

354,000 children abducted by family members;

450,700 children who ran away; and

438,200 children who were lost, injured or otherwise missing.

Moreover, the National Crime Information Center reports that approximately 60,000 children are missing at any given time.

The legislation that I introduce today is designed to help the parents of these missing children by eliminating one barrier that Jimmy's parents faced in their search for their son.

This legislation amends the Protection of Public Property Act, which empowers the General Services Administration [GSA] to set rules governing Federal property under its control. Currently, Federal regulations issued by the GSA prohibit the posting of materials on Federal property. My bill directs the GSA to make a very important exception to these rules, and requires the GSA to draft regulations allowing the posting of notices designed to locate missing children. It also ensures that Federal employees cannot needlessly remove these posters.

As Jimmy's father said, "There are things the Government can do, simple things, that would make it easier to publicize" that a child is missing. He also said that we need to "turn these agencies into our allies."

Well, Mr. Ryce, you are correct, and I believe that this legislation will do just that. •

By Mr. HATCH:

S. 1474. A bill to provide new authority for probation and pretrial services officers, and for other purposes.
