

and who pursue advanced teaching credentials, and establish local community partnerships to help to schools to recruit and retain qualified teachers.

TWO MILLION TEACHERS NEEDED OVER NEXT NINE YEARS

The number of elementary and secondary school students is expected to increase each successive year between now and the year 2006, from the current level of 51.7 million to an all time high of 54.6 million.

The need for qualified teachers will increase accordingly. Between now and 2006, enrollment and teacher retirement together will create demand for an additional 2 million teachers.

The shortage right now of qualified teachers to fill this demand is a significant barrier to students receiving an appropriate education.

TOO MANY TEACHERS ARE NOT FULLY QUALIFIED TO TEACH IN THEIR SUBJECT AREAS

Last September, the National Commission on Teaching and America's Future found that one-quarter of classroom teachers were already not fully qualified to teach in their subject areas. An even newer report—forthcoming from the Department of Education—indicates that 36% of teachers have neither a major nor minor in their main teaching field. Both reports show that the problem is even more serious in academic subjects such as math and science and in schools with high numbers of low-income and minority children.

Research evidence suggests that teacher quality is probably the single most important factor influencing student achievement. Now is the time to redouble efforts to ensure that all teachers in our Nation's public schools are properly prepared and qualified and that they also receive the ongoing support and professional development they need to be effective educators.

A FAIR DEAL FOR TEACHERS

Teachers are among the hardest working people in our country and they certainly have one of the most important jobs in our country. The vast majority of teachers deserve our wholehearted admiration, respect, and gratitude.

Unfortunately, our public polices have not always reflected this attitude. As the Association for Supervision and Curriculum Development recently pointed out, "teacher education, which encompasses preservice preparation as well as ongoing professional development, has suffered a chronic lack of funding resources, and status in the United States, particularly as compared to education in other professional fields."

In addition, the Teaching for America's Future report pointed out that: "Not only do U.S. teachers teach more hours per day but they also take more work home to complete at night, on the weekends and holidays." At the same time, the report goes on to say that "Other industrialized countries fund their schools equally and make sure there are qualified teachers for all of them by underwriting teacher preparation and salaries. However, teachers in the United States must go into substantial debt to become prepared for a field that in most states pays less than any other occupation requiring a college degree."

I think the public is willing to address these issues. Education tops the list of concerns in most public opinion polls. But at the same time, parents and taxpayers want greater accountability to ensure that any additional resources directed at improving teacher quality have a maximal impact on student achievement.

By coupling support for teachers with enhanced accountability, this bill is a win-win for all those involved—educators, parents, taxpayers and, above all, our Nation's schoolchildren.

125TH ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATION OF PEARL RIVER, NEW YORK

HON. BENJAMIN A. GILMAN

OF NEW YORK

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, July 23, 1997

Mr. GILMAN. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in recognition of the 125th anniversary of Pearl River, NY, this year. This is indeed a great moment for the people of this Rockland County, NY community, and I invite my colleagues to join with me in extending our congratulations to the Pearl River community on this momentous occasion.

It was on the 11th day of January, 1872, that a post office was founded in Pearl River, signaling the emergence of a community in that area. Since then it has steadily grown to become the second largest hamlet in the State of New York. Pearl River might well have remained a small, sleepy back-woods locality, had it not been for the coming of the railroad, which literally opened Pearl River to the outside world, allowing the place, and with it the people, to grow and diversify. However, although many things have changed in Pearl River over the last 125 years, one thing still remains the same: Pearl River's pride in its merchants and community. In 1997, a person can walk down the streets of Pearl River and still feel the sense of self-respect and security that was felt all those years ago. Indeed, Mr. Speaker, every year I look forward to the parade held in Pearl River on St. Patrick's day, which according to "The Almanac of American Politics" is the third largest St. Patrick's day parade in the world.

A committee has been set up to oversee Pearl River's anniversary celebrations, in what promises to be an action-packed, fun-filled week of excitement and jubilation. Festivities will begin on Sunday, July 27, 1997, with events for all age groups and interests. The calendar of events is filled with such diverse activities as a bicycle race, musical performances, slide shows, and the cutting of the 125th birthday cake. Celebrations will end with a parade, to be held on Sunday, August 3.

Mr. Speaker, in joining the celebration on this auspicious occasion, I once again invite our colleagues to join with me in extending our greetings and congratulations, and wishing the people of Pearl River continued progress, growth and happiness for the next 125 years.

STAMP OUT BREAST CANCER ACT

SPEECH OF

HON. ROBERT A. UNDERWOOD

OF GUAM

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, July 22, 1997

Mr. UNDERWOOD. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to express my strong support for H.R.

1585, the Stamp Out Breast Cancer Act. The bill would authorize the Postal Service to establish a special postage stamp, priced one cent above the price of ordinary first class postage, the revenues from which would go toward the research of breast cancer. Seventy percent of the profits would go to the breast cancer research at the National Institutes of Health, and the remaining 30 percent would go to the Defense Department where breast cancer research is also conducted.

The importance of breast cancer research cannot be over-emphasized. More than 1.8 million women in America have been diagnosed with cancer. Each year, nearly 50,000 die. Although medical research and greater public awareness have gone a long way toward improving these statistics, through early detection and more effective treatment, the challenge still remains. As you may know, I have long been a strong supporter of legislation that helped promote breast cancer research and treatment. In the 104th Congress I cosponsored a bill that provided Medicare coverage for annual screening of cancer for women over the age of 65. I also supported H.R. 418, the Breast Cancer Early Detection Act, which required Medicare to cover annual mammograms for women over the age of 65.

Now, in the 105th Congress, I rise in support of the Stamp Out Breast Cancer Act, an innovative and effective weapon in the battle against breast cancer. The act deserves special praise in two particular aspects. First, the act insures that Federal support for breast cancer research is not decreased, offsetting the increased funds raised through the special postage rate. Second, the act helps increase public awareness and involvement in this worthy cause by allowing them to make voluntary contributions to breast cancer research through their purchase of the stamp. Once again, I state my unwavering support of the Stamp Out Breast Cancer Act and urge my fellow Members of Congress to do likewise.

DENYING LEGAL IMMIGRANTS VALUABLE PRENATAL CARE SERVICES ISN'T EVEN PENNY WISE—IT'S JUST POUND FOOLISH

HON. FORTNEY PETE STARK

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, July 23, 1997

Mr. STARK. Mr. Speaker, today I rise to defend the rights of legal immigrants in our country. In particular, I would like to address the potential health care crisis that is threatening the well-being of our legal immigrants and our health care system.

In the quest to shrink the Federal budget deficit, many government programs have been threatened. Many of my Republican colleagues would lead you to believe that eliminating funding for legal immigrant health care is a fiscally and morally responsible way of attacking the deficit. In the new welfare law, my colleagues have done just that, by leaving many health care funding decisions to state governors. As a result, health insurance programs that currently benefit legal immigrants, such as California's Medi-Cal Program, stand to lose funding when money-strapped states refuse to appropriate sufficient funds. Legal immigrant prenatal care is an example of an
