MORNING BUSINESS

RETIREMENT OF CHARLES A. GILLIS

Mr. LOTT. Mr. President, I would like to acknowledge the upcoming retirement of Mr. Charles A. Gillis, who will retire on October 20, 2000, as Branch Manager of the Gulfport Branch Office, United States Small Business Administration (SBA). I know that I am joined by the entire business community of South Mississippi, Charlie's colleagues at the SBA, and all those who have had the privilege of interacting with him over the years.

I especially want to thank Charlie for a long career of completely devoted service to his community, the State of Mississippi, and this Nation. I have known Charlie for many years and have seen firsthand the substantial impact his extensive knowledge and business expertise have had on countless small businesses and the local economy of Southern Mississippi.

Charles Gillis' ties to the Gulf Coast run deep, as does his record of service and achievement. He is a life-long resident of Harrison County and a graduate of Gulfport High School. Charlie served in the First Cavalry Division in Korea in 1951. He received his Bachelor of Arts in Business Administration from the University of Southern Mississippi (USM), and later completed additional graduate studies in business at the USM-Gulf Park Campus.

Prior to serving with the SBA, Charlie was a small business entrepreneur in his own right, as owner and operator of Gillis Furniture in Gulfport. Moreover, Charlie served as a furniture manufacturers representative with regular travel assignments covering five states. Throughout his private sector career, Charlie honed the business skills that later made him such an invaluable public sector resource to other small business owners and operators.

Charlie began his tenure of service with the SBA in July 1982, and has faithfully served the agency ever since. His service in the SBA's Gulfport Branch Office is especially important to me since the branch office was created after Hurricane Camille devastated the Mississippi Gulf Coast and its economy in 1969, and during my service as Administrative Assistant to then Congressman William Colmer.

Charlie has been recognized for his continuous dedication to duty and his tireless community spirit. Over the years, he has been chosen as one of the "Outstanding Men in America," recognized as among the "Personalities of the South," and selected as "SBA District Employee of the Year."

In addition to personal accolades and longstanding official service, Charlie generously has given of his time in many ways to improve his community. He served as President of the University of Southern Mississippi's Alumni Association, as Chairman of the Harrison County Election Commission, and as Vice President of Governmental Affairs for the Gulfport Area Chamber of Commerce. Moreover, Charlie is an associate member of Delta Sigma Pi Fraternity, and serves as a Mason, a Shriner, Rotarian, and a charter member of Trinity United Methodist Church in Gulfport.

Charlie's constant professionalism and vast knowledge will be greatly missed by the Small Business Administration, the South Mississippi business community and officials at every level of government, who have had the distinct pleasure and benefit of his insight. Whenever called, Charlie always responds in a timely and effective manner with eagerness, efficiency and courtesy. Although I know he will miss daily interactions with his co-workers and colleagues, I also know that Charlie, his wife Rose, and their family, will have many opportunities to focus their abundance of energy and exemplary community spirit.

THE ACID DEPOSITION AND OZONE CONTROL ACT OF 1999 AND EPA'S ANALYSIS OF S. 172

Mr. MOYNIHAN. Mr. President, I rise today to express concern and dismay over the unwarranted delay of a critical analysis of S. 172, the Acid Deposition and Ozone Control Act. This analysis thoroughly documents the substantial benefits to be achieved, at comparatively insignificant costs, by passing S. 172. Unfortunately, we have received this information only after it is too late to coordinate the bill's passage this year.

I first asked the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) to analyze the impacts of S. 172 in 1998. Specifically, EPA was asked to calculate the costs and benefits of the legislation with regard to effects on human health, environment and the business community. EPA completed the report in March, 2000 and submitted it to the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) for their review. Unfortunately, OMB withheld the analysis for six months despite the fact that co-sponsors in both the House and Senate requested the report's release in letters to Director Jacob Lew. We have EPA's report today because Representative DAN BURTON, Chairman of the House Committee on Government Reform, was willing to subpoena the report. I am disappointed that this course of events had to occur.

Nonetheless, I am quite pleased with the results of EPA's analysis. Not only would S. 172 significantly improve visibility and the state of ecosystems sensitive to acid rain and nitrogen loading, but it would produce approximately $60 billion in public health benefits annually and save 10,000 lives each year. All this for an additional cost to utilities of $3.3 billion. What a tremendous service we could do to society by simply passing this legislation. If we don't, an epidemic could ensue. For example, according to EPA and DGAO, 43% of the lakes in New York's Adirondack Park will become acidified by 2040 even with the reductions mandated by the 1990 Clean Air Amendments.

As far back as the 1960s, fisherman in the Adirondacks began to complain about more than "the big one that got away." Fish, once abundant in the pristine, remote Adirondack lakes, were not just getting harder to catch—they were gone.

When I entered the Senate in 1977, there was much we needed to learn about acid rain. So I introduced the first Federal legislation to address our "knowledge deficit" about acid rain—the Acid Precipitation Act of 1979. My bill was enacted into law as Title VII of the energy Security Act, which Congress passed in June 1980. Title VII established the National Acid Precipitation Assessment Program (NAPAP), an interagency program charged with assessing the causes and damages of acid deposition, and reporting its findings to Congress. NAPAP spawned tremendous academic interest in the subject of acid deposition, and our understanding of the subject has since developed substantially.

In 1990, I helped write Title IV of Clean Air Act Amendments, which established a "Sulfur Dioxide Allowance Program." Its creation represented a radical departure from the traditional "command and control" approach to environmental regulation, common at the time. This program was the first national, statutorily-mandated, market-based approach to pollution control. It has been immensely successful.

We can be proud of these accomplishments, but we have a long way to go yet. Since 1990 we have learned, for instance, that the sulfur dioxide (SO₂) emissions reductions required under the Clean Air Act Amendments of 1990 are insufficient to prevent continued damage to human health and sensitive ecosystems. NAPAP has reported that forests, streams, and rivers in the Front Range of Colorado, the Great Smoky Mountains of Tennessee, the San Gabriel and San Bernardino Mountains of California are also now showing the effects of acidification and nitrogen saturation. We have learned that nitrogen oxides (NO_x), which we largely ignored nine years ago, are significant contributors to our nation's air quality deficiencies. And finally, we have demonstrated that legislation containing regulatory flexibility and market incentives is highly effective.

S. 172, which I first introduced with Senator D'Amato in 1997, seeks to build upon this new body of knowledge, combining the best and most current scientific evaluation of our environmental needs with the most effective and efficient regulatory framework. Today, S. 172 is cosponsored by Senators SCHUMER, JEFFORDS, LIEBERMAN, REED, DODD, KERRY, FEINSTEIN, LAUTENBERG, KENNEDY, BOXER, and WYDEN. In the House, the bill is sponsored by Representatives BOEHLERT and SWEENEY, and co-sponsored by 48 House Members.

These are my final days in this great legislative body, and I will surely cherish the accomplishments we have made through the years. Today, I ask my friends and colleagues to continue the push to protect our nation's public health and environment from critical pollutants such as nitrogen oxides, sulfur dioxide, mercury and carbon dioxide. It is my understanding that the able Chairman of the Environment and Public Works Committee, Senator BOB SMITH, has indeed made this commitment and I commend him for it.

As I mentioned before, I am disappointed that the release of important information regarding the effects of S. 172 was withheld for so long. However, now that we have this information, we must act upon it and pass legislation that goes beyond our clean air achievements so far. The SO₂ Allowance Program established by the Clean Air Act Amendments of 1990 has achieved extraordinary benefits at costs less than half of initial projections. The efficacy of the approach is proven. The science indicates that we did not go far enough. The Acid Deposition and Ozone Control Act endeavors to build upon our accomplishments, and to begin the work which remains to be done.

Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that my remarks and two recent articles on this issue be printed in the RECORD.

There being no objection, the material was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

RELEASE STUDY ON ACID RAIN

Why is the government withholding documents that could shed light on how best to deal with the ravages of acid rain?

Remarkably, that's the case now involving a federal Office of Management and Budget report. The report likely shows a remedy put forth by Sen. Daniel Patrick Moynihan won't be too financially onerous on the utility industry, a leading cause of acid rain, according to the Adirondack Council. But it would better protect the environment, the environmental group states.

Acid rain occurs, in part, when polluting emissions from utility plants are carried in the wind hundreds of miles from their origin, often causing smog. They also can mix with water vapor, falling as the acid rain that kills lakes and aquatic life in the Adirondack and Catskill regions and elsewhere.

Council officials express concern the White House is putting the lid on the OMB study because it could show just how ineffective government efforts to curb acid rain have been. It also might demonstrate why more environmental regulations must be imposed on Midwestern utilities in particular, something that won't play well in those states right before the national presidential election.

"OMB is stonewalling while Adirondack lakes continue to die," said Timothy Burke, executive director of the council.

At issue are Moynihan's suggested changes to a federal program intended to convince power producers to run cleaner generating plants. Under the 1990 Clean Air Act, the Environmental Protection Agency program gives utilities a financial incentive by allowing them to sell pollution credits to other companies. The program has been fairly successful in New York, allowing utilities here to reduce pollution below the federal maximums and then sell unused pollution credits to out-of-state utilities. By purchasing the credits, some utilities can stay within EPA pollution guidelines and avoid huge fines. Thus it's more cost-effective for them to continue to buy the credits rather than make expensive alterations to their plants to cut emissions.

Problem is, many of these utilities are located in the Midwest and are believed to be major contributors to acid rain. This year, New York lawmakers took it upon themselves to close the loophole by passing a law prohibiting utilities in this state from selling credits to utilities in the Midwest. But that will only go so far to fight acid rain, unless other Northeastern states follow suit.

SOLUTION CAN'T WAIT ANY LONGER

And it's clear dramatic changes are needed soon. Hundreds of Adirondack lakes and streams have been killed by acid rain, and they'll never recover. And for years, environmentalists have projected that 40 percent of the lakes will be dead within 50 years. Most recently, the U.S. General Accounting Office, the independent investigative arm of Congress, said the Adirondacks have been socked with so much acid rain, the fragile mountain soil can no longer soak up the pollutant nitrogen oxide. And that means the nitrogen oxide is flowing into Adirondack lakes at a more rapid rate than previously believed.

Moynihan and the rest of the state's congressional delegation are proposing a 50-percent cut in emissions beyond what's called for under the credit allowance program. They would do so by halving the amount of sulfur dioxide that can be produced through the purchase of one pollution credit. Before congressional leaders are willing to consider the measure further, however, they want to know the potential costs of the legislation. Fair enough. The Adirondack Council says the study will show the costs won't be astronomical to the utilities, pointing out they were greatly off base on their projections of how much the original allowance program would cost their businesses.

The Office of Management and Budget could shed light on this important matter. But the only way that will happen is if President Clinton shows sufficient political courage to order the study to be released. He should do so immediately.

ACID RAIN BOTTOM LINE—A NEW EPA STUDY SHOWS JUST HOW AFFORDABLE IT IS TO FIGHT POLLUTION

How much would it cost to keep Adirondack lakes from dying from acid rain? How much to spare thousands of Americans who suffer respiratory illnesses caused by the smokestack pollutants that contribute to acid rain? New York Sen. Daniel Patrick Moynihan put those questions to the Environmental Protection Agency two years ago, as he and Rep. Sherwood Boehlert, R-Utica, struggled to push through strict new federal limits on emissions of nitrogen and sulfur that drift from power plants in the Midwest and South and descend on the Northeast, causing health problems in populated areas and killings trees and aquatic life in the Adirondacks and other pristine regions.

Now, after an unjustified delay by the Clinton administration that some critics are attributing to election-year politics, the EPA report is finally public, thanks to a subpoena issued by the House Government Reform Committee. And the price tag turns out to be so affordable that any further delay in reducing smokestack pollution is indefensible. The bottom line: $1. That is how little the average household monthly utility bill would rise if the Moynihan-Boehlert bill were law.

But time is running short, Congress has only a few days left to conclude its business this year, and there are no encouraging signs that lawmakers will give the Moynihan-Boehlert bill the prompt attention it deserves.

But they should. The EPA report not only makes a convincing case for stricter pollution controls, but it also spells out the benefits that the nation—not just the Northeast—stands to reap in return. In a cost-benefit analysis sought by Mr. Moynihan, the EPA pegs the benefits of reducing acid rain at $60 billion, compared with $5 billion that power plants would have to pay to meet the tighter emissions standards. That's a $55 billion payback, as represented in savings on treating chronic bronchitis, reducing emergency room visits for asthma and eliminating 1.5 billion days of lost work each year because of respiratory illnesses. There would be scenic improvements as well as the atmosphere cleared over national treasures like the Adirondacks and the Shenandoah and Great Smoky Mountains national parks.

In the Adirondacks, the struggle is a life-and-death one. A recent Times Union series found that without sharp new curbs on acid rain, half of the Adirondack lakes will no longer be able to support aquatic life in 40 years. Already it is too late to save some ponds and lakes that have been contaminated by nitrogen oxide. The pattern will continue unless prompt action is taken. As our series noted, state leaders and the New York congressional delegation have made a strong bipartisan effort to combat the problem. Now it is Congress' turn. No one state can stop acid rain on its own. But Congress can, and should, provide the necessary federal remedy. The EPA has just given 55 billion reasons to act now.

RAIL SERVICE ISSUES

Mr. MCCAIN. Mr. President, I would like to discuss a subject of great importance to our nation and its economy, that is rail transportation.

Earlier today, a few of my colleagues expressed views alleging a failure by this Congress for not passing legislation to regulatorily address rail service and shipper problems. As Chairman of the Senate Commerce, Science, and Transportation Committee, I want to set the record straight concerning the work of the Committee to address service and shipper problems.

Since becoming Chairman of the Senate Commerce Committee, the Committee has held no less than six hearings during which rail service and shipper issues were addressed. Three were field hearings, one each in Montana, North Dakota, and Kansas. Three hearings were conducted here in the Senate at which the topic of rail service dominated the testimony and members' questioning. I also have publicly stated a willingness for the Committee to hold even more hearings.

Further, Senator HUTCHISON, the Chairman of the Surface Transportation Subcommittee, and I requested the Surface Transportation Board (STB) to conduct a comprehensive analysis of rail service and competitive issues. The STB is the federal agency which oversees rail service and other matters. The Board's findings are extremely important and they were widely discussed during our Committee hearings last year. In addition, earlier this year the Board announced it would conduct a proceeding to change its merger guidelines in recognition of the drastically changed rail industry dynamic that has transformed since the rail deregulation movement of the late 1970's and the 1980's. The Board announced its new guidelines proposal earlier this week and will be taking comments on the proposal through November 17.

Three very diverse bills concerning the STB's authorities have been introduced in the Senate and another bill was submitted in the House. However, to date no consensus on a legislative approach has been achieved. I have had the privilege to serve in Congress nearly twenty years and during that time I have learned that significant legislation is always the product of careful analysis and bipartisan compromise.

Pending rail legislation and the STB's future will be no exception.

My colleagues from North Dakota and West Virginia referred to a letter with 277 signatures seeking rail regulatory changes. I am in receipt of that letter. But I am also in receipt of literally hundreds of letters—letters from Governors, rail shippers, and others—strongly opposing any rail reregulatory efforts.

To allege the Senate Commerce Committee doesn't take the issue of rail service seriously is a gross misstatement. The fact is, and I will repeat it, there is no consensus. A bill supported by only five members is not a solution, but it does allow those sponsors to sound high and mighty about their good intentions.

In order to pass a bill and send it to the President, we clearly have a long way to go. But I remain optimistic, and as a deregulator, stand ready to support any proposal that fairly and safely balances the needs of shippers and carriers.

POLICE REFORM IN NORTHERN IRELAND

Mr. DODD. Mr. President, yesterday, an op-ed on police reform in Northern Ireland written by my friend and colleague Senator KENNEDY appeared in the Washington Post. In that op-ed Senator KENNEDY very concisely and eloquently stated why it is so important that meaningful police reform happens in Northern Ireland. As all of our colleagues know full well, Senator KENNEDY has worked tirelessly to promote peace and reconciliation in Northern Ireland for many years. It has been an honor to work closely with him in that effort and I commend him for his leadership on this issue. Needless to say I agree completely with him that the recommendations of the Patten Commission must be fully implemented, to ensure a genuine new beginning for a police force in Northern Ireland that will be acceptable to the Catholic community.

I hope and pray that those who are currently playing a role in the legislative process in the British Parliament take time to reflect upon the thoughts expressed in this very important op-ed. I would ask unanimous consent that a copy of Senator KENNEDY's article be printed in the RECORD at the conclusion of my remarks. I would urge all of our colleagues to take a moment to read it when they have the opportunity to do so.

There being no objection, the article was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

[From the Washington Post, Oct. 4, 2000]

A POLICE FOR ALL IN N. IRELAND

(By Edward M. Kennedy)

This month Britain's House of Lords will have the opportunity to improve the flawed legislation approved by the House of Commons in July to reform the police force in Northern Ireland and give it the support and respect it needs from the Catholic community.

The case for reform is clear. The current force—the Royal Ulster Constabulary (RUC)—is 93 percent Protestant. The vast majority of Catholics, who make up more than 40 percent of the population in Northern Ireland, do not support it because it does not represent them or protect them and has too often failed them.

Many Catholics believe the RUC has been involved in a long-standing “shoot-to-kill” policy. Questions continue about collusion of the RUC with Protestant paramilitaries in the murder of Patrick Finucane, a defense attorney shot dead in front of his wife and children in 1989. In 1997 RUC officers stood by as Robert Hamill, a young Catholic, was kicked to death by 30 Protestants shouting “kill him” and ethnic slurs. The RUC was shamefully inactive when death threats were made against another defense attorney, Rosemary Nelson, who was later murdered when her car was blown up as she drove to work last year. Many other examples could be cited to demonstrate why Catholics distrust the police.

Northern Ireland’s 1998 Good Friday agreement presented a historic opportunity to change all that—to reform the police service and make it representative of the entire community. Under the agreement, an independent eight-member international commission was established, led by a former chairman of the British Conservative Party, Christopher Patten. Its mission was to propose an alternative and create a community-oriented, human rights-based police service that Catholics and Protestants alike would be prepared to join. In September 1999, the Patten Commission published its unanimous report containing 175 recommendations for change.

The assertion has been made that in the current legislation, the British government will implement 95 percent of the Patten’s recommendations. But quantity does not measure quality. In fact, the most significant reforms recommended by the commission are not adequately implemented in the legislation.

The commission’s task was to balance the desires of each community against what is necessary to create a fair and representative police force. The recommendations of the Patten Commission reflected those compromises. Patten is the compromise. It must not be diluted.

Unfortunately, the British government has done just that. It has made unwise concessions to those of the Protestant majority who still view the police as “theirs,” and to the police themselves, who have always resisted reform. If the new police service is to succeed, it must represent and be accepted by the community it serves. Catholics must be convinced they should support and join it. Otherwise, the entire Good Friday agreement is in jeopardy.

As the legislation is considered by the House of Lords, the British government should propose changes to implement fully the Patten recommendations. Among the most obvious:

Name, badge and flag: As Patten recommended, to attract Catholics, the police force should have a neutral name and symbols. The legislation should ensure that the proposed name change to the neutral “Police Service of Northern Ireland” is made for all purposes, not just some purposes. The badge should be free of any association with Great Britain or Ireland, and the British flag should no longer fly above police buildings.

Oversight Commissioner: Patten recommended the appointment of an oversight commissioner to supervise the implementation of its recommendations. Thomas Constantine, former New York State police chief and former head of the U.S. Drug Enforcement Administration, was recently named oversight commissioner. He should be free to comment on the adequacy of British decisions in implementing the Patten Report—not just oversee the changes made by the government.

Accountability: Patten recommended a new policing board to hold the police accountable and an ombudsman to investigate complaints against and wrongdoing by the police. Restrictions on the board’s power to initiate inquiries and investigate past complaints should be eliminated, as should the British government’s power to interfere in its work. The ombudsman should be able to investigate police policies and practices—not just report on them.

On June 15 British Secretary of State for Northern Ireland Peter Mandelson wrote, “I remain absolutely determined to implement the Patten recommendations and to achieve the effective and representative policing service—accepted in every part of Northern Ireland—that his report aims to secure.” This determination has yet to be convincingly demonstrated.

Full implementation of the recommendations of the Patten Commission is essential to guarantee fair law enforcement and to create a new police service that will have and deserve the trust of all the people of Northern Ireland. It will be a tragedy if this opportunity to achieve a new beginning is lost.

PIERRE ELLIOT TRUDEAU

Mr. HATCH. Mr. President, it is often said that Canada and the U.S. share the longest undefended border in the world. While this is repeated so often it has become a cliché, like all clichés, there is a fundamental truth in it. In this case, the fundamental truth is a striking geopolitical reality which Americans do not always appreciate. The peace we enjoy in North America is largely a function of this border.

With our neighbor to the north, we share a border of approximately 4,000 miles, a border that runs through New England and the Great Lakes, through the great forests, plains, and mountains, and along the Alaskan frontier of this rich North American continent. Mutually respected sovereignty is the fundamental basis of peaceful international discourse. But I will add that an undefended border makes for the warmest of relations, and the greatest of respect.

Last Thursday, Canada lost perhaps its best known Prime Minister of recent times, when Pierre Elliott Trudeau died, at the age of 80. For the past week, our neighbors to the north have been in mourning, and I stand today to pay my respects to the family of former Prime Minister Trudeau and to all the citizens of the country he served with singular dedication.

Mr. Trudeau and I did not share a common political tradition, nor did we share a political ideology. This does not diminish my respect for the man and his work one bit. I note, with appreciation, that one of Mr. Trudeau’s mottos was “reason before passion,” a principle I certainly believe conservative lawmakers would share.

I admired former Prime Minister Trudeau for his dedication to his country, to the rule of law, and to the betterment of the world. In his moving tribute at his father’s funeral earlier this week, Justin Trudeau said, “My father’s fundamental belief never came from a textbook, it stemmed from his deep love and faith in all Canadians.”

Pierre Trudeau led Canada at a tumultuous time in its history and in the history of the world. In 1970, he was confronted with a terrorist, separatist threat from Quebecois extremists. Prime Minister Trudeau—who, in Canadian history, was at the time, only its third of Quebecois descent himself—was a dedicated federalist and, even more fundamentally, dedicated to the rule of law. He faced down the terrorists, and since then issues of separatism have been dealt with at the ballot box. While he successfully defended the rule of law, Canadians recognize the advances he instituted to preserve Canada’s unique cultural diversity.

Mr. Trudeau had a different view of geopolitics than did most of the American administrations with which he dealt. It is said that he succeeded, at times, in aggravating U.S. presidents from Nixon to Reagan.

Some of this had to do, in my opinion, with the nature of the relationship between our countries. While Canada is the second largest political land-mass in the world, its population is small, approximately one-tenth of ours, and its economy is dwarfed by ours. In fact, the former Prime Minister famously said once: “Living next to you is in some ways like sleeping with an elephant. No matter how friendly and even-tempered is the beast, one is affected by every twitch and grunt.”

While Mr. Trudeau held substantively different views on the world than many American leaders, he demonstrated that policy disputes can exist and nations remain civilized and respectful. And that is how I think of former Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau.

In closing, I wish to note another story his son, Justin, told at his father’s funeral this week. He recounted how, as a child, his father took him one day for lunch at the cafeteria in Ottawa’s Parliament. There, young Justin saw a political rival of his father and made a childish crack about him to his dad. His father sternly rebuked him and, according to his son, said “You never attack the person. You may be in total disagreement with the person; however, you shouldn’t denigrate him.” That day, Pierre Trudeau taught his son, who is now a teacher, that “having different opinions from those of another person should in no way stop you from holding them in the greatest respect possible as people.”

That is the principle of a civilized man, and the practice of a civilized nation. As the world bids adieu to Pierre Trudeau, I extend my deepest condolences to his family and to all the good citizens of our great neighbor Canada.

THE INTERIOR APPROPRIATIONS BILL AND THE CONSERVATION AND REINVESTMENT ACT

Mr. ROBB. Mr. President. I would like to say a few words about the Interior Appropriations bill and CARA. The Interior Appropriation is a good bill. CARA is a great bill. CARA brought together a variety of supporters from all parts of the country to develop a program that would provide for wildlife protection, urban parks, green space, coastal impact protection and would guarantee funding for the development of recreation areas for years to come.

Elements of CARA have been included in the Interior bill, although the funding for these provisions is paltry by comparison to the House and Senate CARA bills. Other provisions may find a home in other appropriations packages, but one of the most important elements may be orphaned in the end. That is the provision for wildlife and habitat protection. Just as we are cheering our success in securing a place for wildlife, as we celebrate a growing population of eagles on the Potomac River, we are failing to fund the programs that make this possible. State wildlife agencies have clearly demonstrated their ability to bring back populations of threatened and endangered species, such as the pronghorn and the bald eagle. But they lack the resources to repeat the success on thousands of other species.

The purpose of CARA was to provide the ounce of prevention that keeps species from becoming threatened. CARA was to protect both game and nongame populations. By providing dependable state based funding we could ensure on-the-ground protection of wildlife, and continued maintenance of habitat for all wild species. It is important to note that there is an educational component in Title III of CARA. We are increasingly becoming an urban nation, and it is important to provide an introduction to wild places and wild things to our children. This introduction will help them become the next generation of good land stewards.

Virginians have come out for CARA. Rarely have I heard from so many different groups who support a piece of legislation. I would like to submit for the RECORD a list of the Virginia groups who support this legislation and to thank all of the groups for the remarkable job they have done in promoting CARA and the principles of outdoor recreation and education. I am highlighting Title III in my remarks simply because it is being ignored in the Interior Appropriations bill. But each and every title in CARA was thoughtfully deliberated and negotiated. Rarely have I seen such care taken in developing a bill, and even though efforts to allay the concerns of some western Senators were not successful, they were genuine, and I hope useful for future discussions.

The Interior bill does provide substantial funding for the Lands Legacy program, and this is important. The bill also provides a good deal of funding for Virginia projects that are particularly worthy. But we could have done better, we could have done more. And I regret that the Senate has not yet risen to the occasion, that we did not complete this important work. Senator LANDRIEU, like the gracious lady that she is, has not asked CARA sponsors and supporters to withhold our support for the Interior Appropriation, and for the sake of the Virginia projects in the bill I will vote for the Appropriation. But, I will pledge to keep working for the passage of CARA in the final days of the session.

I ask unanimous consent that this statement be included in the RECORD.

There being no objection, the material was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

VICTIMS OF GUN VIOLENCE

Mr. WELLSTONE. Mr. President, it has been more than a year since the Columbine tragedy, but still this Republican Congress refuses to act on sensible gun legislation.

Since Columbine, thousands of Americans have been killed by gunfire. Until we act, Democrats in the Senate will read the names of some of those who have lost their lives to gun violence in the past year, and we will continue to do so every day that the Senate is in session.

In the name of those who died, we will continue this fight. Following are the names of some of the people who were killed by gunfire one year ago today.

October 5, 1999:

Norman P. Blasco, 47, Chicago, IL; Guy Colbert, 25, Detroit, MI; Daniel Galloway, 39, San Antonio, TX; Justin Eric Googenrand, 23, St. Paul, MN; Denise Long, 41, Nashville, TN; Shawndell Mosely, 27, Memphis, TN; Donald Roper, 34, Oakland, CA; and Theodore Slater, 87, Toledo, OH.

One of the victims of gun violence I mentioned, 41-year-old Denise Long of Nashville, was shot and killed accidentally by a 22-year-old co-worker who pulled out a handgun and dropped it on the floor. Her co-worker did not have a permit to carry a handgun. She also did not have permission to have the gun at their place of work.

We cannot sit back and allow such senseless gun violence to continue. The deaths of these people are a reminder to all of us that we need to enact sensible gun legislation now.

PNTR

Mrs. LINCOLN. Mr. President, as a strong advocate for Permanent Normal Trade Relations with China, I feel a personal responsibility to ensure that American companies benefit from this continuing trade relationship. I believe most of my Senate colleagues feel the same way. I am confident there will be many success stories, but there are also valuable lessons to be learned from watching U.S. companies that have tried to do business thus far.

Panda Energy International is one such company. Panda is currently building a substantial gas-powered generator in Union County, Arkansas, and I have been personally briefed by Panda's officials about their difficulties in China. Panda spent six years developing a power project near Tangshan in Hebei Province. It signed a contract to sell all of the output from the project to the North China Power Group—an arm of the national utility—at a price to be determined by a formula. Armed with this contract, Panda borrowed $155 million needed to construct the project through a public bond offering in the U.S. capital markets. Construction for the project got underway in 1997. The project was completed late last year, and has been in limbo since that time.

The project cannot sell power without formal approval of a tariff, or price for its electricity, by the Tangshan municipal pricing bureau. The Tangshan pricing bureau has been reluctant to assign a tariff that would then set in motion the need to buy additional electricity for the region where demand has recently diminished. At the same time, Panda Energy is in a perilous bind, because it had to mortgage all of its existing power plants—two in the United States and one in Nepal—as security to guarantee the U.S. bond holders they would be repaid their loans. The company is on the verge of defaulting on the loans.

Mr. EDWARDS. Would the Senator yield?

Mrs. LINCOLN. I would be pleased to yield to my friend from North Carolina.

Mr. EDWARDS. I want to associate my self with the concern expressed by the Senator from Arkansas. Panda Energy has a major gas-fired co-generator in northwestern North Carolina. That plant, in Roanoke Rapids, was the first project completed by this corporation and has been a significant supplier of electricity to the citizens of my state for the past ten years.

I, too, have been briefed about the difficulties Panda has faced in their effort to improve China's electricity-generating infrastructure. The commitment to approve and issue a formal tariff to the Panda Project in Luannan County, that the municipal and provincial governments agreed to, is not being honored. By failing to honor their commitment to grant a reasonable tariff rate, these governments have precluded the commercial generation of power. If this continues, the U.S. bondholders will have no choice but to foreclose on what represents the first U.S. capital markets power project financing in China.

This is a difficult situation for both sides, but the bottom line is that the international trading system breaks down if agreements are not honored, especially for large infrastructure projects like this one with long lead times. People invest money based on these agreements. They put their companies at risk.

I would like to yield to my colleague, Senator KERRY, who has been working on this issue for some time.

Mr. KERRY. Mr. President, I have been aware of this story since July. Many of the bonds for this project are held through mutual funds in which Americans have invested their savings. This is not just a question of inequity for the U.S. developer of the project but also for millions of Americans who are the bondholders, and many of whom are my constituents.

In response to a letter written on August 7 to the Chinese ambassador, the charge d'affaires indicated that he had met with both the U.S. developer and representatives from the U.S. bondholders, had conveyed the concern back home, and would be—quote—making efforts to facilitate a satisfactory solution to this problem—end quote. It has now been almost two months, and we have seen no resolution of this problem, but rather delay and discrimination.

I note that the Democratic Leader has joined us, and I would like to suggest to him a report by the Administration, but first I would yield the Floor to my colleague from Montana, Senator BAUCUS.

Mr. BAUCUS. Mr. President, I do not have first hand knowledge of the situation, but it is troubling to hear of U.S. businesses running into such difficulties. I read the written statement that the U.S. sponsor of this project submitted to the Senate Finance Committee last spring.

Two things struck me. One is that the mediator split the difference. He split the difference between the price for electricity proposed by the Tangshan pricing bureau and the minimum price that the U.S. developer of the project said it needed in order to avoid defaulting on the project debt. The other thing that struck me is, although this was no great result for the U.S. developer, all the developer is seeking at this point is to have the mediator's recommendation implemented.

I would like to read a paragraph from the statement that the U.S. sponsor of the project submitted to the Senate Finance Committee. This is the president of the company speaking. "I am not here to ask you or your colleagues to grant or deny China PNTR status. I am here to relate a story of how one U.S. company fared when it tried to supply electricity to the Chinese. Unfortunately, we have come to find that our experience is not all that uncommon. However, in our case, the consequences are potentially disastrous because Panda had to guarantee the U.S. bondholders that they would be repaid. We feel like the jilted bride who entered into a marriage five years ago with the Chinese only to find them trying to walk away from the marriage now that the child has been born. This isn't fair."

I agree, and I yield the Floor to the Democratic Leader.

Mr. DASCHLE. Mr. President, I have discussed this unfortunate situation with several of my colleagues. I believe that it would be very helpful to have the Secretary of Commerce and the Secretary of Energy undertake a joint analysis of the facts of this situation and report back to the Senate on their discussions with the Chinese government within 45 days.

ADDITIONAL STATEMENTS

HONORING DIRECT SERVICE PROFESSIONALS

● Mr. DURBIN. Mr. President, I am pleased today to join the Illinois chapter of the American Association on Mental Retardation in recognizing the recipients of the 2000 Direct Service Professional Award. These individuals are being honored for their outstanding devotion to the effort to enrich the lives of people with developmental disabilities in Illinois.

These recipients have displayed a strong sense of humanity and professionalism in their work with persons with disabilities. Their efforts have inspired the lives of those whom they care for, and they are an inspiration to me as well. They have set a fine example of community service for all Americans to follow.

These honorees spend more than 50 percent of their time in direct, personal involvement with their clients. They are not primarily managers or supervisors. They are direct service workers at the forefront of America's effort to care for people with special needs. They get up and go to work every day, with little recognition, providing much needed and greatly valued care and assistance.

It is my pleasure to acknowledge the contributions of the following Illinois direct service professionals: Kimberly Brown, Janelle Cote, Margaretha Daigh, Dawn Golec, David Hamm, Pat Hartz, Sandy Hawkins, Rhonda Housman, Kathy Lambert, Kathy Lyons, Deb Minor, Valensie Parnell, Mary Beth Schultz, Marshall Sears, Kim Smith, Jayce Turner, Don Van Duyse, Junior Vieux, Clifton White, and Tijuana Wright.

I know my fellow Senators will join me in congratulating the winners of the 2000 Direct Service Professional Award. I applaud their dedication and thank them for their service.●

TAIWAN CELEBRATES NATIONAL DAY

● Ms. LANDRIEU. Mr. President, next Sunday marks the eighty-ninth birthday of the Republic of China, which now resides in Taiwan. This representative government arose from a revolution against an archaic imperial system. In 1911, Chinese patriots ousted the Qing dynasty, and ignited the promise of economic and political freedom for Chinese nationalists throughout the world.

National Day, or the shuang shi, is the most important national holiday in Taiwan, for it celebrates not only a critical military victory, but a wealth of principles which, to this day, guide the governance of Taiwan—particularly: resistance to dynastic tyranny, embrace of free market enterprise, development of western-style political institutions, and ultimately, the evolution of a fully thriving democratic republic. After repeated set-backs, on October 10, 1911, the revolutionary Wuch'ang Army successfully launched a revolt against China's imperial regime. The nationalists would no longer tolerate property seizure and suppressed individual rights. Without a supreme sovereign reigning over the country, China plunged into a civil war. Although never truly resolved, this conflict stalemated in 1949, when Communists expelled Chiang Kai-shek and the nationalists to present-day Taiwan.

After emergency martial law was lifted in 1987, the groundwork was finally laid to realize the cardinal objectives of Taiwan's founding father, Sun Yat-sen—to establish a representative Republic of China. In 1992, Taiwan held its first democratic legislative elections, followed by presidential elections in 1996. In March of this year, Taiwan held her second presidential elections, installing a wholly independent, man of the people as the leader of Taiwan—Chen Shui-bian. This man embodies the spirit of the new Republic of China on Taiwan. As mayor of Taipei, Chen Shui-bian cleaned up the capital city, attacking organized crime and other illicit industries. As a political dissident, he stood strong in the face of efforts to muzzle him. In this year's election, he inaugurated a new political order for his people.

In addition to Chen's fair elections, Taiwan has much to celebrate. As Taiwan enjoys her various National Day festivities—the huge parades, dazzling entertainment, and explosive fireworks displays—let us all celebrate the birth of true democracy in Taiwan. We salute our friends on that great island—the people of Taiwan. Please join me in saying to them Shuang shi kwai ler.●

HONORING OUR FALLEN FIREFIGHTERS

● Mrs. BOXER. Mr. President, firefighters from across the Nation who died in the line of duty will be remembered during the National Fallen Firefighters Memorial Weekend on October 7th and 8th at the National Fire Academy in Emmitsburg, Maryland. As in years past, the National Fallen Firefighters Foundation and the Federal Emergency Management Agency will sponsor the nation's tribute to these valiant public servants.

The 106 firefighters to be honored this year include seven Californians. On behalf of the people of my state, I want to remember each of them in turn:

Matthew Eric Black, 20, a volunteer with the Lakeport Fire Protection District, died on June 23, 1999 when he accidentally came in contact with a downed power line during operations at a grass fire. His older brother is also a firefighter.

Stephen Joseph Mastro, 28, a career firefighter with the Santa Barbara Fire Department, died on August 28, 1999 of heatstroke while working as an EMT at a wildland fire. He received the Outstanding Cadet Award at Rio Hondo Fire Academy and received a service award as a volunteer at Upland Fire Department.

Tom Moore, 38, a career firefighter with the Manteca Fire Department, died on June 16, 1999 after suffering severe trauma in a training tower fall. He had served with the department for over 14 years and was a well-known fire service instructor specializing in heavy/confined space rescue and hazardous materials.

Karen J. Savage, 44, a volunteer firefighter/EMT with Hawkins Bar Volunteer Fire Department in Burnt Ranch, died on October 16, 1999 from injuries sustained in a vehicle accident at the scene of a wildland fire.

Martin Michael Stiles, 40, a California Department of Corrections inmate assigned to the Los Angeles County Fire Department Strike Team, died on July 18, 1999 of injuries from a fall while working at a wildland fire in Ventura County, California. A San Diego native, he was dedicated to wildland firefighting and loved the outdoors.

Tracy Dolan Toomey, 52, a 27-year veteran firefighter with the Oakland Fire Department, died on January 10, 1999 in the collapse of a burning building. A Vietnam veteran, he was an avid welder and a member of the California Artistic Blacksmith's Association.

Edward E. Luttig, 54, a member of the Sacramento Fire Department, died on September 10, 1990 from injuries sustained 23 years earlier while searching for survivors in an apartment fire. Sacramento firefighters donated their time and money to support Mr. Luttig and his family during those 23 years. His name is being added to the Memorial at the request of his friends and former colleagues.

These fallen heroes paid the ultimate price for their devotion to public service and safety. They are an inspiration to us all, as are the men and women who continue to protect Americans from fire and other emergencies.●

MOTHER KATHARINE DREXEL: A TEACHER TO SOME, A SAINT TO MANY

● Mr. BREAUX. Mr. President, I rise today to honor the life of Mother Katharine Drexel. Born into one of the wealthiest families in America in 1858, Mother Katharine turned down a life of privilege to start the Sisters of the Blessed Sacrament in 1891. She dedicated her life to building a brighter future for underprivileged African-American and Native American children.

In honor of her hard work and dedication to the disadvantaged and disenfranchised, on October 1—just 45 years after her death—Pope John Paul II canonized Mother Katharine into sainthood, the highest recognition a Catholic can receive. She is the fifth American to reach this honor, and only the second who was born in America.

The prestigious Xavier University of Louisiana owes its entire existence to Mother Katharine Drexel. When founded in New Orleans in 1925, Xavier's mission was to prepare its students for positions of leadership. Today, Xavier is widely recognized for sending more African-Americans to medical school than any college in America. Its 70 percent medical and dental school acceptance rate is almost twice the national average, and 93 percent of those who enter these programs earn their degree.

Xavier also ranks first nationally in the number of African-American students who earn degrees in biology, physics, pharmacy and the physical sciences. In fact, since 1927 Xavier has graduated nearly 25 percent of the black pharmacists practicing in the United States.

Thousands of Xavier's graduates are prominent scientists, scholars, musicians, and community leaders in Louisiana and across the country. Notable graduates include Department of Labor Secretary Alexis Herman, and retired, four-star Air Force General Bernard Randolph, former head of the Space and Defense Systems Command.

Proof of Mother Katharine's superior works lies in the achievements of three of her former students. One of Mother Katharine's students at Xavier was a young man who shined shoes, but wanted an education. Today, Dr. Norman Francis is president of Xavier University and a nationally recognized leader in higher education.

Another of her former students, Lionel Hampton, found his gift for music under Mother Katharine's tutelage at Xavier. Hampton later earned platinum and gold records, and became the first African-American to play in the Benny Goodman Band. Hampton joined another jazz great and New Orleanian, Louis Armstrong, to play for Pope Pius XII.

Mother Katharine also spread her goodwill elsewhere across the country. When Marie Allen entered Mother Katharine's St. Michael's Indian School in Window Rock, Arizona, she was an impoverished young child who spoke no English. Today, Dr. Marie Allen heads the Navaho Nation Special Diabetes Program to educate Native Americans about diabetes, a deadly disease that plagues American Indian reservations. Even more, over the past 10 years, 90 percent of students graduating from St. Michael's Indian School have gone to college.

These are just three examples of the multitude of students who have been inspired to greatness by Mother Katharine Drexel. In the midst of a hostile culture, she used kindness and compassion to fight injustice and indignities, and in the process forged a brighter future for America's poor and underprivileged.

When Katharine Drexel died at the age of 97 in 1955, more than 500 of her disciples were teaching in 63 schools on American Indian reservations and in African-American communities. This is a true testament to her ability to inspire and lead.

History is full of truly remarkable people whose individual acts of kindness have left an indelible mark on our hearts, our souls and our conscience. Mother Katharine Drexel is no different. Her actions are a true testament to the power of strong religious faith and a moral obligation to those less fortunate.

On behalf of the thousands of people around the world who have been touched by her work, I pay tribute to the life and work of Mother Katharine Drexel. She may have been a teacher to some, but Mother Katharine is a saint to many.●

TRIBUTE TO DR. FAYE G. ABDELLAH

● Mr. INOUE. Mr. President, I would like to take a moment to honor Dr. Faye G. Abdellah, RN, Ed.D., Sc.D., FAAN who is currently serving as the Dean of the Graduate School of Nursing at the Uniformed Services University. Dr. Abdellah will be inducted in the National Women's Hall of Fame this weekend. Founded in 1969, the Hall is a national membership organization in Seneca Falls, New York that honors and celebrates the achievements of American women. She will join a list of 157 of the most distinguished women in American history, including Susan B. Anthony, Clara Barton, Helen Keller, Sandra Day O'Connor, Rosa Parks, and Eleanor Roosevelt. Dr. Abdellah is being recognized and honored for her pioneering work altering nursing theory and practice, for the development of the first tested coronary care unit that saved thousands of lives, and for being the first nurse to hold the rank of Rear Admiral (Upper Half) and the title of Deputy Surgeon General for the United States.

Dr. Abdellah is the recipient of 79 professional and academic honors. She holds eleven honorary degrees from universities that have recognized her innovative work in nursing research, in the development of the first nurse scientist, as an international expert in health policies, and for making invaluable contributions to the health of our nation. She has authored and co-authored more than 150 publications, some of which have been translated into six languages.

Dr. Abdellah worked with the Surgeon General in the formation of national health policies related to AIDS, drug addiction, violence, smoking and alcoholism. She developed the first federal training program for health services researchers, health services administrators and geriatric nurse practitioners. Dr. Abdellah has worked with state and district nursing associations, serving on many work groups and committees developing standards of nursing practice, credentialing activities, and providing workshops in nursing research.

As part of her international health outreach role as a nurse and health services consultant, she has been a member of official United States delegations on exchange missions to Russia, Yugoslavia, and France, and designated as coordinator for nursing for the United States-Argentina Cooperation in Health and Medical Research Project. Dr. Abdellah has also served as a consultant to the Japanese Nursing Association on nursing education and research on three separate occasions.

I have had the privilege of knowing Dr. Abdellah for many years. Her selfless devotion to duty and extraordinary accomplishments are legendary. It is with pride that I congratulate Dr. Abdellah on her well-deserved induction into the National Women's Hall of Fame. Our nation can be proud of her long and distinguished service to this country.●

STATEMENTS ON INTRODUCED BILLS AND JOINT RESOLUTIONS

Mr. BAYH (for himself, Mr. GRAMS, Mr. LEAHY, and Mr. CLELAND):

S. 3164. A bill to protect seniors from fraud; to the Committee on the Judiciary.

PROTECTING SENIORS FROM FRAUD ACT

Mr. BAYH. Mr. President, today I rise as the author of the Protecting Seniors From Fraud Act, a bipartisan bill to prevent fraud against seniors.

The Protecting Seniors From Fraud Act is extremely important because seniors are disproportionately victims of telemarketing and sweepstakes fraud. Even though Americans over the age of 50 account for approximately 27% of the United States population, they comprise 56% of the "mooch lists" used by fraudulent telemarketers. Unfortunately, fraudulent telemarketers prey upon the trusting nature of seniors and as a result seniors lose approximately $14.8 billion each year.

This can be prevented if seniors are educated about their consumer rights and are informed about methods that are available to them to confirm the legitimacy of an investment or product. According to a national survey, 70% of older fraud victims say it is difficult to identify when fraud is happening and 40% of older Americans cannot distinguish between a legitimate and a fraudulent telemarketing sales call. There is a need to educate seniors about the dangers of fraud and how to avoid becoming a victim of fraud. As a first step to educate seniors in my state of Indiana about fraud prevention, I held a Special Committee on Aging field hearing on protecting seniors from fraud.

I heard testimony from two victims of investment scams in which both lost a large sum of their retirement. Mrs. Georgeanne MaCurdy lost close to $150,000 and Mr. Owen Saltzgaver lost close to $50,000. Mr. Saltzgaver said "It was a scam from the beginning, I wish I knew," and Mrs. Georgeanne MaCurdy stated "It is the first thing I think of when I get up in the morning and the last thing I think of when I go to sleep. I thought I could trust him."

At this hearing I highlighted the Protecting Seniors From Fraud Act. This bill would provide necessary resources to local programs part of the National Association of TRIADS, a community-policing program that partners law enforcement agencies with senior volunteers to reduce crime and fraud against the elderly. There are 725 counties with TRIADS nationwide. They help more than 16 million seniors. During the field hearing, Captain Ed Friend, the leader of the TRIAD program in South Bend, Indiana, testified about the importance of combating fraud and how the South Bend TRIAD program has been providing seminars to Seniors on fraud prevention. He made clear that without federal funding TRIADS' nationwide efforts would have to cease. The authorization for Federal funding provided in this bill should ensure the continuation of TRIADS' efforts. In order to assist TRIAD with those efforts, this bill also requires the Health and Human Services Department to disseminate information to seniors on fraud prevention through the Area Agencies on Aging and other existing senior-focused programs.

In addition to educating seniors, this bill contains provisions which would include seniors in the crime victimization survey and would require the United States Attorney General to conduct a study of crimes committed against seniors. I thank Senator LEAHY for his leadership on this issue. These provisions would allow Congress to gather more information on crimes against seniors in order to react with appropriate legislative action.

Education is one of many steps that needs to be taken to prevent fraud. I also introduced the "Combating Fraud Against Seniors Act" this year to increase enforcement measures and toughen penalties against those promoting fraudulent schemes through mass-marketing. Education and tougher penalties will hopefully protect seniors from fraud.

Protecting seniors from fraud is of growing importance as our population ages and more seniors save more money for their retirement. Our seniors deserve to be informed and their investments deserve to be secure. I urge the Senate to consider this bipartisan legislation and pass it prior to adjournment.

Mr. LEAHY. Mr. President, I join today with Senators BAYH, GRAMS, and CLELAND in introducing the "Protecting Seniors from Fraud Act of 2000." I have been concerned for some time that even as the general crime rate has been declining steadily over the past eight years, the rate of crime against the elderly has remained unchanged. That is why I introduced the Seniors Safety Act, S. 751, with Senators DASCHLE, KENNEDY, and TORRICELLI over a year ago.

The Protecting Seniors from Fraud Act includes one of the titles from the Seniors Safety Act. This title does two things. First, it instructs the Attorney General to conduct a study relating to crimes against seniors, so that we can develop a coherent strategy to prevent and properly punish such crimes. Second, it mandates the inclusion of seniors in the National Crime Victimization Study. Both of these are important steps, and they should be made law.

The Protecting Seniors from Fraud Act also includes important proposals for addressing the problem of crimes against the elderly, especially fraud crimes. In addition to the provisions described above, the bill authorizes the Secretary of Health and Human Services to make grants to establish local programs to prevent fraud against seniors and educate them about the risk of fraud, as well as to provide information about telemarketing and sweepstakes fraud to seniors, both directly and through State Attorneys General. These are two common-sense provisions that will help seniors protect themselves against crime.

I hope that we can also take the time to consider the rest of the Seniors Safety Act, and enact even more comprehensive protections for our seniors. The Seniors Safety Act offers a comprehensive approach that would increase law enforcement's ability to battle telemarketing, pension, and health care fraud, as well as to police nursing homes with a record of mistreating their residents. The Justice Department has said that the Seniors Safety Act would "be of assistance in a number of ways." I asked Senator HATCH to hold Judiciary Committee hearings on the bill as long ago as October 1999, and again this past February, but my requests have thus far not been granted. I ask again today for hearings on this important and comprehensive proposal.

First, the Seniors Safety Act provides additional protections to nursing home residents. Nursing homes provide an important service for our seniors—indeed, more than 40 percent of Americans turning 65 this year will need nursing home care at some point in their lives. Many nursing homes do a wonderful job with a very difficult task—this legislation simply looks to protect seniors and their families by isolating the bad providers in operation. It does this by giving federal law enforcement the authority to investigate and prosecute operators of those nursing homes that engage in a pattern of health and safety violations. This authority is all the more important given the study prepared by the Department of Health and Human Services and reported this summer in the New York Times showing that 54 percent of American nursing homes fail to meet the Department's "proposed minimum standard" for patient care. The study also showed that 92 percent of nursing homes have less staff than necessary to provide optimal care.

Second, the Seniors Safety Act helps protect seniors from telemarketing fraud, which costs billions of dollars every year. My bill would give the Attorney General the authority to block or terminate telephone service where that service is being used to defraud seniors. If someone takes your money at gunpoint, the law says we can take away their gun. If someone uses their phone to take away your money, the law should allow us to protect other victims by taking their phone away. In addition, my proposal would establish a Better Business Bureau-style clearinghouse that would keep track of complaints made about telemarketing companies. With a simple phone call, seniors could fine out whether the company trying to sell to them over the phone or over the Internet has been the subject of complaints or been convicted of fraud. Senator BAYH has recently introduced another bill, S. 3025, the Combating Fraud Against Seniors Act, which includes the part of the Seniors Safety Act that establishes the clearinghouse for telemarketing fraud information.

Third, the Seniors Safety Act punishes pension fraud. Seniors who have worked hard for years should not have to worry that their hard-earned retirement savings will not be there when they need them. The bill would create new criminal and civil penalties for those who defraud pension plans, and increase the penalties for bribery and graft in connection with employee benefit plans.

Fourth and finally, the Seniors Safety Act strengthens law enforcement's ability to fight health care fraud. A recent study by the National Institute for Justice reports that many health care fraud schemes "deliberately target vulnerable populations, such as the elderly or Alzheimer's patients, who are less willing or able to complain or alert law enforcement." This legislation gives law enforcement the additional investigatory tools it needs to uncover, investigate, and prosecute health care offenses in both criminal and civil proceedings. It also protects whistle-blowers who alert law enforcement officers to examples of health care fraud.

In conclusion, I would like to commend Senators BAYH and CLELAND for working to take steps to improve the safety and security of America's seniors. I call upon my colleagues to pass this bipartisan legislation and begin the fight to lower the crime rate against seniors. I also urge them to consider and pass the Seniors Safety Act. Taken together, these two bills would provide a comprehensive approach toward giving law enforcement and older Americans the tools they need to prevent crime.

By Mr. ROTH (for himself, Mr. MOYNIHAN, Mr. JEFFORDS, Mr. MURKOWSKI, Mr. HATCH, and Mr. KERREY):

S. 3165. A bill to amend the Social Security Act to make corrections and refinements in the Medicare, Medicaid, and SCHIP health insurance programs, as revised by the Balanced Budget Act of 1997 and the Medicare, Medicaid, and SCHIP Balanced Budget Refinement Act of 1999, and for other purposes; read the first time.

MEDICARE, MEDICAID AND SCHIP IMPROVEMENTS ACT OF 2000

Mr. ROTH. Mr. President, I am very pleased today to join Senator MOYNIHAN and my other colleagues on the Senate Finance Committee in introducing the Medicare, Medicaid and SCHIP Improvements Act of 2000. This is important, bipartisan legislation intended to address needed health care funding and other improvements in these programs that are so important to millions of Americans. Every year on the Finance Committee we maintain watchful oversight of these critical programs to make sure that beneficiary access to services is maintained, and that payments and benefits are adjusted to meet beneficiaries' needs. This bill would add about $28 billion in funds to these programs over the next five years. Following are some of the highlights of this legislation.

(1) Medicare beneficiary assistance provisions would reduce coinsurance liability for hospital outpatient services; improve access to Medigap coverage; permit Medicare+Choice plans to give beneficiaries cash rebates of Part B premiums; protect access to immunosuppressive, cancer, hemophilia and other drugs, and extend Part B premium assistance for lower-income beneficiaries.

(2) Preventive health benefits would expand existing or add new coverage for pap smears, colorectal cancer screening, and nutrition therapy, and request further work on effective preventive benefits for later consideration in Medicare.

(3) Rural health care improvements address service capacity and access to services through increased payments for critical access, sole-community and Medicare-dependent hospitals. The package also includes provisions for rural health clinics, ambulance services, and telemedicine. Rural hospitals, skilled nursing facilities and home health agencies also benefit from general financing improvements detailed in other sections.

(4) Medicare+Choice provisions stabilize and improve funding for beneficiaries electing to enroll in privately-offered Medicare+Choice plans, with special attention to rural communities; restore funding for beneficiary education campaigns; and provide additional assistance for frail, disabled and rural beneficiaries.

(5) Hospital funding improvements increase annual payment updates; improve disproportionate share hospital (DSH) payments under Medicare and Medicaid for providing uncompensated care to uninsured patients; reform Medicare's DSH program to reduce disparities in the treatment of rural and urban hospitals; add funding for rehabilitation hospitals; and protect payments for teaching hospitals.

(6) Skilled nursing facility (SNF) provisions improve funding, maintain access to therapy services, and reduce regulatory burdens by delaying implementation of consolidated billing.

(7) Home health and hospice provisions protect funding for home health services by delaying a scheduled 15% cut in payments; increasing funding for high-cost outlier cases, and making special temporary payments to rural agencies. Hospice provisions improve funding, require research on issues related to eligibility for the benefit and establish a hospice demonstration program.

(8) Dialysis and durable medical equipment (DME) provisions improve payments for DME for all Medicare beneficiaries, and for services received by individuals with end-stage renal disease, as well as enhancing their opportunities to participate in the Medicare+Choice program.

(9) Additional provisions address physician, laboratory, ambulatory surgery center and other medical services. The package also creates a Joint Committee on Health Care Financing to provide professional support to the Congress in addressing the burgeoning cost and legislative complexity of the Medicare, Medicaid and State Children's Health Insurance programs and monitoring the viability of safety net providers.

(10) Medicaid and SCHIP provisions improve the financing of and access to services provided by federally qualified health centers and rural health clinics; establish policies for the retention and redistribution of unspent SCHIP funds; increase authorization for the Maternal and Child Health Block Grant; and add funding for special diabetes programs for children and Native Americans.

I would like to accomplish even more this year, especially in the Medicare program. For instance, I remain committed to securing comprehensive drug benefits for the aged and disabled beneficiaries in Medicare. I will continue to work towards that goal. However, I am pleased that we were able to achieve bipartisan support for these improvements and I will continue my efforts to build the bipartisan consensus needed to proceed on larger Medicare reforms in the near future.

Mr. MOYNIHAN. Mr. President, I am pleased to join with Senator ROTH, distinguished chairman of the Finance Committee, in sponsoring the Medicare, Medicaid, and SCHIP Improvement Act of 2000.

As part of the effort to balance the Federal Budget, the Balanced Budget Act of 1997 (BBA) provided for reduction in Medicare payments for medical services. At the time of enactment, the Congressional Budget Office (CBO) estimated that these provisions would reduce Medicare outlays by $112 billion over 5 years. We now know that these BBA cuts have been much larger than originally anticipated—some argue twice as large, although it's difficult to determine this with any precision.

Hospital industry representatives and other providers of health care services have asserted that the magnitude of the reductions are having unintended consequences which are seriously impacting the quantity and quality of health care services available to our citizens.

Last year, the Congress addressed some of those unintended consequences, by enacting the Balanced Budget Refinement Act (BBRA), which added back $16 billion over 5 years in payments to various Medicare providers, including: Teaching Hospitals; Hospital Outpatient Departments; Medicare HMOs (Health Maintenance Organizations); Skilled Nursing Facilities; Rural Health Providers; and Home Health Agencies.

However, Members of Congress are continuing to hear from providers who argue that the 1997 reductions are still having serious unanticipated consequences.

To respond to these continuing problems, the President last June proposed additional BBA relief in the amount of $21 billion over the next 5 years. On September 20, Senator Daschle and I, along with 32 of our Democratic colleagues, introduced a similar, but more substantial, BBA relief package that would provide about $40 billion over 5 years in relief to health care providers and beneficiaries. Today, along with Senator ROTH, I am pleased to be cosponsoring a bipartisan BBA relief bill to provider about $28 billion in relief over 5 years.

I want, in particular, to highlight that this legislation would—for fiscal years 2001 and 2002—prevent further reductions in the special Medicare payments to our Nation's teaching hospitals. A little background is in order.

Medicare provides support to our Nation's teaching hospitals by adjusting its payments upward to reflect Medicare's share of costs associated with care provided by medical residents. This is accomplished under two mechanisms: direct graduate medical education (direct GME) payments; and indirect medical education (IME) adjustments. Direct GME costs include items such as salaries of residents, interns, and faculty and overhead costs for classroom training. The separate IME adjustment was established in 1983 and pertains to residency training costs that are not directly attributable to medical education expenses, but are nevertheless associated with teaching activities and the teaching hospital's research mission—for example, extra demands placed on hospital staff, additional tests ordered by residents, and increased use of diagnostic testing and advanced technology. Prior to the BBA, the IME adjustment increased Medicare's hospital payments by approximately 7.7 percent for each 10 percent increase in a hospital's ratio of interns and residents to hospital beds.

The BBA included a reduction in the IME adjustment from the previous 7.7 percent to 7.0 percent in FY 1998; to 6.5 percent in FY 1999; to 6.0 percent in FY 2000; and to 5.5 percent in FY 2001 and subsequent years. In my judgment, these cuts would have seriously impaired the cutting edge research conducted by teaching hospitals, as well as impaired their ability to train doctors and to serve so many of our nation's indigent.

Last year, in the BBRA, we mitigated the scheduled reduction in FY 2000—freezing the IME adjustment at 6.5 percent; and the IME adjustment was set at 6.25 percent for FY 2001, and 5.5 percent thereafter. The package we are introducing today, would restore $600 million in funds for FY 2001 and FY 2002 by setting the IME adjustment at 6.5 percent in both years. The IME adjustment would then fall to 5.5 percent thereafter—a reduction which I had hoped to cancel this year, and sincerely hope the congress will cancel in future legislation.

I have stood before my colleagues on countless occasions to bring attention to the financial plight of medical schools and teaching hospitals. Yet, I regret that the fate of the 144 accredited medical schools and 1416 graduate medical education teaching institutions still remains uncertain. The proposals in this bill will provide critically needed financing—at least in the short-run.

In the long-run, however, we need to restructure the financing of graduate medical education along the lines I have proposed in the Graduate Medical Education Trust fund Act (S. 210). What is needed is explicit and dedicated funding for these institutions, which will ensure that the United States continues to lead the world in this era of medical discovery. The Graduate Medical Education Trust Fund Act would require that the public sector, through the Medicare and Medicaid programs, and the private sector through an assessment on health insurance premiums, provide broad-based financial support for graduate medical education. S. 210 would roughly double current funding levels for Graduate Medical Education and would establish a Medical Education Advisory Commission to make recommendations on the operation of the Medical Education Trust Fund, on alternative payment sources for funding graduate medical education and teaching hospitals, and on policies designed to maintain superior research and educational capacities.

In addition to restoring much needed funding to our Nation's teaching hospitals for the next two years, this bill would add back funding in many vital areas of health care. Key provisions of the bill we are introducing today would: provide full market basket (inflation) adjustments to hospitals for 2001 and 2002; target additional relief to rural hospitals; reduce cuts in payments to hospitals for handling large numbers of low-income patients (referred to as "disproportionate share (DSH) hospital payments"); delay the scheduled 15 percent cut in payments to home health agencies; improve funding for skilled nursing facilities; and assist beneficiaries through preventive benefits and smaller coinsurance payments.

Let me close by again complimenting Senator ROTH on developing this bill on a bipartisan basis and expressing my hope that the forthcoming information negotiations with committees of the House will be similarly conducted on a bipartisan basis.

By Mr. BINGAMAN:

S. 3166. A bill to amend the Clinger-Cohen Act of 1996 to provide individual federal agencies and the executive branch as a whole with increased incentives to use the share-in-savings program under that Act, to ease the use of such program, and for other purposes; to the Committee on Governmental Affairs.

INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY SHARE-IN-SAVINGS PROGRAM IMPROVEMENT ACT OF 2000

Mr. BINGAMAN. Mr. President, today I'm introducing a bill designed to lower the cost of the government's information technology systems and improve how those systems serve our citizens by encouraging greater use of a "share-in-savings" approach to contracting for information technology (IT).

Under a share-in-savings approach, the government contracts with a company to provide an improved, lower cost IT service and the company pays the up-front costs of the project, which is not the usual practice. In return, the contractor gets paid a portion of the money saved by the government under the new arrangement. Essentially, the contractor bears the capital costs needed for the government to save some money and has a strong incentive to decrease the government's costs because they get paid a portion of any savings.

Although this approach to IT contracting is authorized as a pilot program under the Clinger-Cohen Act, I understand the executive branch has not made much use of this approach to date. Hence, I believe there are opportunities for greater creativity in this area if we give the agencies greater incentives.

Basically, my bill does three things. First, and most importantly, it gives agencies an incentive to try a share-in-savings approach by letting them keep up to half the government's net savings to use for additional IT projects, rather than having all the net savings going back to the Treasury. It's just human nature that if you ask someone to do something risky—like a new IT system—but all the benefits go elsewhere, they're not going to be very inclined to do it. That is, unless they get to keep some of the benefits to improve their own operations—which is what this bill let's them do. The point here is that the more agency managers actually are willing to use this approach, the more money the taxpayer will save in the long run.

There's precedent for this with regard to certain Energy Savings Performance Contracts. Under a provision applicable to the Department of Defense, local base commanders can keep a portion of the savings from those contracts to purchase more energy saving equipment or even for morale and recreation purposes.

Second, my bill gives the executive branch as a whole an incentive to try share-in-savings contracting for IT by allowing the pilot program to graduate to a regular authority once a significant number of projects have been done, the approach has been found to be useful, and guidance on how to use the authority has been issued. This gives the top levels of the executive branch a goal to push toward.

Finally, my bill will ease implementation of share-in-savings contracting by allowing agency program managers to approve the projects, thereby giving them greater autonomy and streamlining the selection process. Currently, share-in-savings IT projects must be approved by the Administrator of Federal Procurement, a very high level in the executive branch.

In sum, my bill will encourage greater use of the share-in-savings approach to IT contracting under the Clinger-Cohen Act by giving the agencies a portion of the savings to reinvest; the executive branch a goal; and the program managers more autonomy.

I had originally planned to introduce this as an amendment to the Treasury, Postal Appropriations bill. But, because it doesn't look like we'll have a chance to really debate that bill this year, I've decided to introduce this bill today to get my proposal before the Senate.

Now, to give some credit where credit is due, I got interested in this topic because of a piece I saw in Roll Call on E-Government by Patricia McGinnis of the Council for Excellence in Government. In it she mentioned the idea of letting agencies retain some of the IT savings they achieve in order to reinvest it in more IT.

I also understand that the Governmental Affairs Committee recently put up a web site to discuss potential e-government policies and legislation. And, I was glad to learn that the share-in-savings approach to IT is one of its topics.

So, I hope the Governmental Affairs committee will take a thorough look at the ideas in my bill. I look forward to working with them to find new ways to save the taxpayer money while improving the services they are provided.

Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the text of my bill and a letter from Ms. McGinnis in support of the amendment I'd planned be included in the RECORD at the conclusion of my remarks.

There being no objection, the material was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

S. 3166

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled.

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

This Act may be cited as the "Information Technology Share-in-Savings Program Improvement Act of 2000".

SEC. 2. PURPOSES.

The purposes of this Act are to provide individual federal agencies and the executive branch as a whole with increased incentives to use the share-in-savings program under the Clinger-Cohen Act of 1996 and to ease the use of such program.

SEC. 3. EXPANSION OF AUTHORITY.

Section 5311 of the Clinger-Cohen Act of 1996 (divisions D and E of Public Law 104-106; 110 Stat. 692; 40 U.S.C. 1491) is amended—

(B) by striking "and" at the end of paragraph (1);

(C) by striking the period at the end of paragraph (2) and inserting "; and"; and

"(3) encouraging the use of the contracting and sharing approach described in paragraphs (1) and (2) by allowing the head of the executive agency conducting a project under the pilot program—

"(A) to retain, out of the appropriation accounts of the executive agency in which savings computed under paragraph (2) are realized as a result of the project, up to the amount equal to half of the excess of—

"(i) the total amount of the savings, over

"(ii) the total amount of the portion of the savings paid to the private sector source for such project under paragraph (2); and

"(B) to use the retained amount to acquire additional information technology.";

(2) in subsection (b)—

(A) by inserting "a project under" after "authorized to carry out"; and

(B) by striking "carry out one project and"; and

(3) by striking subsection (c) and inserting the following:

"(c) EVOLUTION BEYOND PILOT PROGRAM.—

(1) The Administrator may provide general authority to the heads of executive agencies to use a share-in-savings contracting approach to the acquisition of information technology solutions for improving mission-related or administrative processes of the Federal Government if—

"(A) after reviewing the experience under the five projects carried out under the pilot program under subsection (a), the Administrator finds that the approach offers the Federal Government an opportunity to improve its use of information technology and to reduce costs; and

"(B) issues guidance for the exercise of that authority.

"(2) For the purposes of paragraph (1), a share-in-savings contracting approach provides for contracting as described in paragraph (1) of subsection (a) together with the sharing and retention of amounts saved as described in paragraphs (2) and (3) of that subsection.

"(3) In exercising the authority provided to the Administrator in paragraph (1), the Administrator shall consult with the Administrator for the Office of Information and Regulatory Affairs.

"(d) AVAILABILITY OF RETAINED SAVINGS.— Amounts retained by the head of an executive agency under subsection (a)(3) or subsection (c) shall, without further appropriation, be available for the executive agency for the acquisition of information technology and shall remain available until expended. Amounts so retained from any appropriation of the executive agency not otherwise available for the acquisition of information technology shall be transferred to any appropriation of the executive agency that is available for such purpose."

THE COUNCIL FOR EXCELLENCE

IN GOVERNMENT,

Washington, DC, August 10, 2000.

Sen. JEFF BINGAMAN,
Hart Senate Office Building,
Washington, DC.

DEAR SENATOR BINGAMAN: The Council for Excellence in Government applauds your interest in legislation to encourage federal agencies to conduct pilot "share-in-savings" partnerships under the Clinger-Cohen Act. We agree that making greater use of "share-in-savings" projects will lead to successful public-private joint ventures that can produce savings for the agencies and better results for the American people.

In particular, we think the approach to encouraging greater use of "share-in-savings" partnerships embodied in your planned amendment to this year's Treasury and General Government appropriations bill—allowing agencies to retain some of the savings, and the pilots to easily graduate to a regular authority—deserves serious consideration by Congress.

As you move forward, you may also want to look at the work of the General Service Administration's (GSA) Federal Technology Center. Ken Buck, Director of Business Innovations, Office of the Commissioner at GSA, is very knowledgeable about the successful methods of contracting and procurement using this approach.

In fact, the Council is working with GSA to develop case studies of best practices using share-in-savings methods for use by federal agencies. We will share that work with you as soon as it is available.

Again, thanks for your leadership on this very important issue, which will not only promote e-government but also excellence in government.

Sincerely,

PATRICIA MCGINNIS,
President and CEO.

By Mr. DOMENICI (for himself and Mr. BINGAMAN):

S. 3167. A bill to establish a physician recruitment and retention demonstration project under the Medicare program under title XVIII of the Social Security Act; to the Committee on Finance.

PHYSICIAN RECRUITMENT AND RETENTION ACT OF 2000

Mr. DOMENICI. Mr. President, I rise today with my friend Senator BINGAMAN to introduce the "Physician Recruitment and Retention Act of 2000."

Almost like clockwork one can pick up an Albuquerque newspaper and read about the shortage of physicians in New Mexico and the resulting problems. When individuals have difficulty receiving adequate medical treatment, action must be taken.

For example, in Albuquerque an urban area of almost 700,000 there are only two neurosurgeons besides the five practicing at the University of New Mexico. Such a ratio can only cause one thing, severe difficulties for patients. Thus, a patient recently waited eighteen hours in an Albuquerque emergency room before seeing a neurosurgeon.

I would ask my colleagues the following: what good are hospitals filled with the latest technology if there are not enough doctors? And what good are modern medical offices if there are not enough doctors to treat the patients in a timely manner?

The problem I have just described is not just occurring in New Mexico, rather other states are experiencing similar problems because of a common set of problems. I would submit the combination of high levels of poverty and low Medicare reimbursement rates causes a twofold problem.

First, patients often have difficulty obtaining timely care and second, states cannot effectively recruit and retain their physicians. Our Bill builds upon the simple proposition that if Medicare Physician reimbursement rates are raised, patients will be the ultimate beneficiaries.

The Bill we are introducing creates a two state demonstration program to address these problems by increasing Medicare Physician reimbursements by 5 percent for a period of three years if certain criteria are met.

The Bill also authorizes a GAO study to determine whether: (1) patient access to care and the ability of states to recruit and retain physicians is adversely impacted when the enumerated factors in the previous section are present; and (2) increased Medicare Physician reimbursements improve patient access to care and the ability of states to recruit and retain physicians.

Thank you and I look forward to working with my colleague, Senator BINGAMAN, on this very important issue.

Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that a copy of the bill be printed in the RECORD.

There being no objection, the bill was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

(B) improved by increased payments to physicians under subsection (b)(2).

(2) REPORT.—Not later than 1 year after the Secretary completes the demonstration project under this section, the Comptroller General of the United States shall submit a report on the results of the study conducted under paragraph (1) to the appropriate committees of Congress.

By Mr. TORRICELLI:

S. 3168. A bill to eliminate any limitation on indictment for sexual offenses and make awards to State to reduce their DNA casework backlogs; to the Committee on the Judiciary.

SEXUAL ASSAULT PROSECUTION ACT OF 2000

Mr. TORRICELLI. Mr. President, I rise today to introduce the Sexual Assault Prosecution act of 2000. This legislation will ensure that no rapist will evade prosecution when there is reliable evidence of their guilt.

As the law is written today, a rapist can walk away scot-free if they are not charged within five years of committing their crime. This is true when if overwhelming evidence of the offender's guilt, such as a DNA match with evidence taken from the crime scene, is later discovered. Some states, including my home state of New Jersey, have recognized the injustice presented by this situation and have already abolished their statutes of limitations on sexual assault crimes, and many other states are considering similar measures. Given the power and precision of DNA evidence, it is now time that the federal government abolish the current statute of limitations on federal sexual assault crimes.

The precision with which DNA evidence can identify a criminal assailant has increased dramatically over the past couple decades. Because of its exactness, DNA evidence is now routinely collected by law enforcement personnel in the course of investigating many crimes, including sexual assault crimes. The DNA profile of evidence collected at a sexual assault crime scene can be compared to the DNA profiles of convicted criminals, or the profile of a particular suspect, in order to determine who committed the crime. Moreover, because of the longevity of DNA evidence, it can be used to positively identify a rapist many years after the actual sexual assault.

The enormous advancements in DNA science have greatly expanded law enforcement's ability to investigate and prosecute sexual assault crimes. Unfortunately, the law has not kept pace with science. Given the precise accuracy and reliability of DNA testing, however, the legal and moral justifications for continuing to impose a statute of limitations on sexual assault crimes are extremely weak. To that end, I am introducing the "Sexual Assault Prosecution Act of 2000" which will eliminate the statute of limitations for sexual assault crimes. This legislation will not affect the burdens of proof and the government will still have to prove guilt beyond a reasonable doubt before any person could be convicted of a crime.

Currently, the statute of limitations for arson and financial institution crimes is 10 years and is 20 years for crimes involving the theft of major artwork. If it made sense to extend the traditional five-year limitations period for these offenses, surely it makes sense to do so for sexual assault crimes, particularly when DNA technology makes it possible to identify an offender many years after the commission of the crime. By eliminating this ticking clock, we can see to it that no victim of sexual assault is denied justice simply because the clock ran out. I look forward to working with each and every one of you in order to get this legislation enacted into law.

I ask unanimous consent that the full text of the bill be printed in the RECORD.

There being no objection, the bill was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

(1) the applying State's number of unsolved crimes awaiting DNA analysis; and

(2) the applying State's development of a comprehensive plan to collect and analyze DNA evidence.

(c) GRANTING OF AWARDS.—The Federal Bureau of Investigation, in coordination with the Assistant Attorney General of the Office of Justice Programs of the Department of Justice, shall develop applications for awards to be granted to States under this section, shall consider all applications submitted by States, and shall disburse all awards under this section.

(2) ensure that each DNA sample collected and analyzed be made available only—

(A) to criminal justice agencies for law enforcement purposes;

(B) in judicial proceedings if otherwise admissible;

(C) for criminal defense purposes, to a criminal defendant, who shall have access to samples and analyses performed in connection with any case in which such defendant is charged; or

(D) if personally identifiable information is removed, for a population statistics database, for identification research and protocol development purposes, or for quality control purposes; and

(3) match the award by spending 15 percent of the amount of the award in State funds to facilitate DNA analysis of all casework evidence of unsolved crimes.

(e) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—There are authorized to be appropriated to the Department of Justice $15,000,000 for each of fiscal years 2001, 2002, 2003, and 2004, for awards to be granted under this section.

Mr. SESSIONS (for himself, Mr. BINGAMAN, Mr. ALLARD, Mr. JOHNSON, Mr. CRAPO, and Mrs. LINCOLN):

S. 3169. A bill to amend the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act and the International Revenue Code of 1986 with respect to drugs for minor animal species, and for other purposes; to the Committee on Finance.

MINOR ANIMAL SPECIES HEALTH AND WELFARE ACT OF 2000

Mr. SESSIONS. Mr. President, I rise today to bring attention to a problem that unfortunately goes largely unnoticed except by those who are directly affected. Livestock and food animal producers, pet owners, zoo and wildlife biologists, and animals themselves are facing a severe shortage of approved animal drugs for minor species.

Minor species include thousands of animal species, including all fish, birds, and sheep. By definition, they are any animals other than cattle, horses, chickens, swine, turkeys, dogs and cats, the most common animals. There are millions of those animals. A similar shortage of drugs and medicines for major animal species exists for diseases which occur infrequently or which occur in limited geographic areas. Due to the lack of availability for these minor-use drugs, millions of animals go untreated or treatment is delayed. Unnecessary animal physical and human emotional suffering results, and human health may be threatened as well.

Without access to these necessary minor-use drugs, farmers and ranchers will also suffer. An unhealthy animal left untreated can spread disease throughout an entire stock. This causes severe economic hardship to struggling ranchers and farmers.

For example, sheep ranchers lost nearly $45 million worth of livestock alone in 1999. The sheep industry estimates that if it had access to effective and necessary drugs, growers' reproduction costs for their animals could be cut by up to 15 percent. In addition, feedlot deaths from disease would be reduced by 1 to 2 percent, adding approximately $8 million to the revenue of the industry.

The catfish industry is the No. 2 agriculture industry in Alabama. Though it is not the State's only aquacultural commodity, catfish is by far its largest. The catfish industry generates enormous economic opportunity in the State, particularly in west Alabama, one of the poorest regions of the State and where I grew up.

The catfish industry estimates its losses at $60 million a year, attributable to diseases for which drugs are not available. Indeed, it is not uncommon for a catfish producer to lose half his stock in a pond due to disease. The U.S. aquaculture industry overall, including food fish and ornamental fish, produces and raises over 800 different species. Unfortunately, this industry has only five drugs that are approved for treating these diseases. This results in tremendous economic hardship and suffering.

Because of limited market opportunity, low profit margins, and the enormous capital investment required, it is seldom economically feasible for drug manufacturers to pursue research and development and then seek approval of it by FDA for drugs used in treating these minor species and for infrequent conditions and diseases in all animals. As a result, a group of people have come together, an effective professional coalition, to deal with this problem.

I, along with Senator BINGAMAN from New Mexico, Senator ALLARD, Senator CRAPO, Senator LINCOLN, and Senator JOHNSON resolve to improve this situation by introducing the Minor Animal Species Health and Welfare Act of 2000. This legislation will allow animal drug manufacturers the opportunity to develop and obtain approval for minor-use drugs which are vitally needed by a wide variety of animal industries.

Our legislation incorporates the major proposals of the Food and Drug Administration's Center for Veterinary Medicine to increase the availability of drugs for minor animal species and rare diseases in all animals. It actually creates incentives for animal drug manufacturers to invest in product development and obtain FDA marketing approvals.

This legislation creates a program very similar to the very successful human orphan drug program that has dramatically increased the availability of drugs to treat rare human diseases over the past 20 years. Besides providing benefits to livestock producers and animal owners, this measure will develop incentives and sanctioning programs for the pharmaceutical industry, while maintaining and ensuring public health.

The Minor Animal Species Health and Welfare Act will not alter FDA drug approval responsibilities that ensure the safety of animal drugs to the public. The FDA Center for Veterinary Medicine currently evaluates new animal drug products prior to approval and use. This rigorous testing and review process provides consumers with the confidence that animal drugs are safe for animals and consumers of products derived from treated animals.

Current FDA requirements include guidelines to prevent harmful residues and evaluations to examine the potential for the selection of resistant pathogens. Any food animal medicine or drug considered for approval under this bill would be subject to these same assessments.

The Minor Animal Species Health and Welfare Act is supported by 25 organizations, including the American Farm Bureau Federation, the American Health Institute, the American Veterinary Medical Association, and the National Aquaculture Association. It is vital legislation.

This act will reduce the economic risks and hardship which fall upon ranchers and farmers as a result of diseases. It will benefit pets and their owners and benefit various endangered species of aquatic animals. The act will also promote the health of all animal species while protecting human health and will alleviate unnecessary animal suffering.

This is commonsense legislation which will benefit millions of American pet owners, farmers, and ranchers. It is the result of a tremendous cooperative effort by virtually every entity concerned with this problem. They have worked with the Food and Drug Administration and continue to work with the FDA on this bill.

I believe we are on the verge of taking a big step to facilitate the introduction of more drugs that help treat animals in our country. I thank the people who have all worked to make this a reality. I particularly thank Mary Alice Tyson on my staff who has worked so hard on this project.

I ask unanimous consent that the text of the bill be printed in the RECORD.

There being no objection, the bill was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

S. 3169

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

This Act may be cited as the "Minor Animal Species Health and Welfare Act of 2000".

SEC. 2. FINDINGS.

The Congress finds as follows:

(1) There is a severe shortage of approved animal drugs for use in minor species.

(2) There is a severe shortage of approved drugs for treating animal diseases and conditions that occur infrequently or in limited geographic areas.

(3) Because of the small market shares, low-profit margins involved, and capital investment required, it is generally not economically feasible for animal drug manufacturers to pursue approvals for these species, diseases, and conditions.

(4) Because the populations for which such drugs are intended are small and conditions of animal management may vary widely, it is often difficult or impossible to design and conduct studies to establish drug safety and effectiveness under traditional animal drug approval processes.

(5) It is in the public interest and in the interest of animal welfare to provide for special procedures to sanction the lawful use and marketing of animal drugs for minor species and minor uses that take into account these special circumstances and that ensure that such drugs do not endanger the public health.

(6) Exclusive marketing rights and tax credits for clinical testing expenses have helped encourage the development of orphan drugs for human use, and comparable incentives will help encourage the development and sanctioning for lawful marketing of animal drugs for minor species and minor uses.

SEC. 3. AMENDMENTS AFFECTING THE FOOD AND DRUG ADMINISTRATION.

(a) DEFINITIONS.—Section 201 of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (21 U.S.C. 321) is amended by adding at the end the following:

"(kk) The term 'minor species' means animals other than cattle, horses, swine, chickens, turkeys, dogs, and cats, except that the Secretary may amend this definition by regulation.

"(ll) The term 'minor use' means the use of a drug—

"(1) in a minor species, or

"(2) in an animal species other than a minor species for a disease or condition that occurs infrequently or in limited geographic areas, except that the Secretary may amend this definition by regulation.

"(mm) The term 'species with no human food safety concern' means an animal species, or life stage of an animal species, that is not customarily used for food for humans and does not endanger the public health."

(b) MINOR USE ANIMAL DRUGS.—Chapter V of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (21 U.S.C. 351 et seq.) is amended by adding at the end the following new subchapter:

"SUBCHAPTER F—ANIMAL DRUGS FOR MINOR USES

"DESIGNATION OF DRUGS FOR MINOR USES

"SEC. 571. (a) Prior to the submission of an application for approval of a new animal drug under section 512(b), a manufacturer or sponsor of such drug may request that the Secretary designate such drug as a drug for a minor use. The Secretary shall designate such drug as a drug for minor use if the Secretary finds that such drug is or will be investigated for a minor use and the application for such drug is approved under section 512. A request for a designation of a drug under this subsection shall contain the consent of the applicant to notice being given by the Secretary under subsection (c) respecting the designation of the drug.

"(b) The designation of a drug as a drug for a minor use under subsection (a) shall be subject to the condition that—

"(1) if an application was approved for the drug under section 512(c), the manufacturer of the drug will notify the Secretary of any discontinuance of the production of the drug at least 1 year before discontinuance; and

"(2) if an application has not been approved for the drug under section 512(c) and if preclinical investigations or investigations under section 512(j) are being conducted with the drug, the manufacturer or sponsor of the drug will notify the Secretary of any decision to discontinue active pursuit of approval of an application under section 512(b).

"(c) Notice respecting the designation of a drug under subsection (a) shall be made available to the public.

"PROTECTION FOR DRUGS FOR MINOR USES

"SEC. 572. (a) Except as provided in subsection (b):

"(1) If the Secretary approves an application filed pursuant to section 512 for a drug designated under section 571 for a minor use, no active ingredient (including any salt or ester of the active ingredient) of which has been approved in any other application under section 512, the Secretary may not approve or conditionally approve another application submitted under section 512 or section 573 for such drug for such minor use for a person who is not the holder of such approved application until the expiration of 10 years from the date of the approval of the application.

"(2) If the Secretary approves an application filed pursuant to section 512 for a drug designated under section 571 for a minor use, which includes an active ingredient (including an ester or salt of the active ingredient) that has been approved in any other application under section 512, the Secretary may not approve or conditionally approve another application submitted under section 512 or section 573 for such drug for such minor use for a person who is not the holder of such approved application until the expiration of 7 years from the date of approval of the application.

"(b) If an application filed pursuant to section 512 is approved for a drug designated under section 571, the Secretary may, during the 10-year or 7-year period beginning on the date of the application approval, approve or conditionally approve another application under section 512 or section 573 for such drug for such minor use for a person who is not the holder of such approved application if—

“(1) the Secretary finds, after providing the holder notice and opportunity for the submission of views, that in such period the holder of the approved application cannot assure the availability of sufficient quantities of the drug to meet the needs for which the drug was designated; or

“(2) such holder provides the Secretary in writing the consent of such holder for the approval or conditional approval of other applications before the expiration of such 10-year or 7-year period.

“CONDITIONAL APPROVAL FOR MINOR USE NEW ANIMAL DRUGS

“SEC. 573. (a)(1) Except as provided in paragraph (2), any person may file with the Secretary an application for conditional approval of a new animal drug for a minor use. Such person shall submit to the Secretary as part of an application—

“(A) reports of investigations which have been made to show whether or not such drug is safe for use;

“(B) information to show that there is a reasonable expectation that the drug is effective for its intended use, such as data from a pilot investigation, data from an investigation in a related species, data from a single investigation, data from an investigation using surrogate endpoints, data based on pharmacokinetic extrapolations, data from a short-term investigation, or data from the investigation of closely-related diseases;

“(C) the quantity of drug expected to be manufactured and distributed on an annual basis;

“(D) a commitment that the applicant will conduct additional investigations to support approval of an application under section 512 within the time frame set forth in subsection (d)(1)(A);

“(E) reasonable data for establishing a conditional dose; and “(F) the information required by section 512(b)(1)(B)–(H).

“(2) A person may not file an application under paragraph (1) if the person has filed a previous application under paragraph (1) for the same drug and conditions for use that was conditionally approved by the Secretary under subsection (b).

“(b)(1) Within 180 days after the filing of an application pursuant to subsection (a), or such additional period as may be agreed upon by the Secretary and the applicant, the Secretary shall either (A) issue an order conditionally approving the application if the Secretary then finds that none of the grounds for denying conditional approval specified in subsection (c) applies, or (B) give the applicant notice of an opportunity for an expedited informal hearing on the question whether such application is conditionally approvable.

“(2) A drug manufactured in a pilot or other small facility may be used to demonstrate the safety and effectiveness of the drug and to obtain conditional approval for the drug prior to manufacture of the drug in a larger facility, unless the Secretary makes a determination that a full scale production facility is necessary to ensure the safety or effectiveness of the drug.

“(c)(1) If the Secretary finds, after due notice to the applicant and giving the applicant an opportunity for an expedited informal hearing, that—

“(A) the investigations, reports of which are required to be submitted to the Secretary pursuant to subsection (a), do not include adequate tests by all methods reasonably applicable to show whether or not such drug is safe for use under the conditions prescribed, recommended, or suggested in the proposed labeling;

“(B) the results of such tests show that such drug is unsafe for use under such conditions or do not show that such drug is safe for use under such conditions;

“(C) the methods used in, and the facilities and controls used for, the manufacture, processing, and packing of such drug are inadequate to preserve its identity, strength, quality, and purity;

“(D) upon the basis of the information submitted to the Secretary as part of the application, or upon the basis of any other information before the Secretary with respect to such drug, the Secretary has insufficient information to determine whether such drug is safe for use under such conditions;

“(E) evaluated on the basis of the information submitted to the Secretary as part of the application and any other information before the Secretary with respect to such drug, there is insufficient information to show that there is a reasonable expectation that the drug will have the effect it purports or is represented to have under the conditions of use prescribed, recommended, or suggested in the proposed labeling;

“(F) upon the basis of information submitted to the Secretary as part of the application or any other information before the Secretary with respect to such drug, any use prescribed, recommended, or suggested in labeling proposed for such drug will result in a residue of such drug in excess of a tolerance found by the Secretary to be safe for such drug;

“(G) based on a fair evaluation of all material facts, such labeling is false or misleading in any particular;

“(H) such drug induces cancer when ingested by humans or animal or, after tests which are appropriate for the evaluation of the safety of such drug, induces cancer in humans or animal, unless the Secretary finds that, under the conditions for use specified in proposed labeling and reasonably certain to be followed in practice—

“(i) such drug will not adversely affect the animals for which it is intended; and

“(ii) no residue of such drug will be found (by methods of examination prescribed or approved by the Secretary by regulations, which regulations shall not be subject to subsections (c)) in any edible portion of such animals after slaughter or in any food yielded by or derived from the living animals; or

“(I) another person has received approval under section 512 for a drug with the same active ingredient or ingredients and the same conditions of use, and that person is able to assure the availability of sufficient quantities of the drug to meet the needs for which the drug is intended;

the Secretary shall issue an order refusing to conditionally approve the application. If, after such notice and opportunity for hearing, the Secretary finds that subparagraphs (A) through (I) do not apply, the Secretary shall issue an order conditionally approving the application.

“(2) In determining whether such drug is safe for use under the conditions prescribed, recommended, or suggested in the proposed labeling thereof, the Secretary shall consider, among other relevant factors, (A) the probable consumption of such drug and of any substance formed in or on food because of the use of such drug, (B) the cumulative effect on man or animal of such drug, taking into account any chemically or pharmacologically related substance, (C) safety factors which in the opinion of experts, qualified by scientific training and experience to evaluate the safety of such drugs, are appropriate for the use of animal experimentation data, and (D) whether the conditions of use prescribed, recommended, or suggested in the proposed labeling are reasonably certain to be followed in practice. Any order issued under this subsection refusing to approve an application shall state the findings upon which it is based.

“(d)(1) A conditional approval granted by the Secretary under this section shall be effective for a 1-year period. The Secretary shall, upon request, renew a conditional approval for up to 4 additional 1-year terms, unless the Secretary by order makes a finding that—

“(A) the applicant is not making appropriate progress toward meeting approval requirements under section 512, and is unlikely to be able to fulfill such requirements and obtain such approval under such section before the 5 year maximum term of the conditional approval expires;

“(B) excessive quantities of the drug have been produced, without adequate explanation; or

“(C) another drug with the same active ingredient or ingredients for the same conditions of use has received approval under section 512, and the holder of the approved application is able to assure the availability of sufficient quantities of the drug to meet the needs for which the drug is intended.

“(2) If the Secretary does not renew a conditional approval, the Secretary shall provide due notice and an opportunity for an expedited informal hearing to the applicant.

“(e)(1) The Secretary shall, after due notice and opportunity for an expedited informal hearing to the applicant, issue an order withdrawing conditional approval of an application filed pursuant to subsection (a) if the Secretary finds—

“(A) that experience or scientific data show that such drug is unsafe for use under the conditions of use upon the basis of which the application was conditionally approved;

“(B) that new evidence not contained in such application or not available to the Secretary until after such application was conditionally approved, or tests by new methods, or tests by methods not deemed reasonably applicable when such application was conditionally approved, evaluated together with the evidence available to the Secretary when the application was conditionally approved, shows that such drug is not shown to be safe for use under the conditions of use upon the basis of which the application was conditionally approved;

“(C) on the basis of new information before the Secretary with respect to such drug, evaluated together with the evidence available to the Secretary when the application was conditionally approved, that there is not a reasonable expectation that such drug will have the effect it purports or is represented to have under the conditions of use prescribed, recommended, or suggested in the labeling;

“(D) that the application contains any untrue statement of a material fact; or “(E) that the applicant has made any changes from the standpoint of safety or effectiveness beyond the variations provided for in the application unless the applicant has supplemented the application by filing with the Secretary adequate information respecting all such changes and unless there is in effect a conditional approval of the supplemental application, which supplemental application shall be treated in the same manner as the original application.

If the Secretary finds that there is an imminent hazard to the health of man or of the animals for which such drug is intended, the Secretary may suspend the conditional approval of such application immediately, and give the applicant prompt notice of the Secretary's action and afford the applicant the opportunity for an expedited informal hearing. Authority to suspend the conditional approval of an application shall not be delegated below the Commissioner of Food and Drugs.

“(2) The Secretary may also, after due notice and opportunity for an expedited informal hearing to the applicant, issue an order withdrawing the conditional approval of an application with respect to any new animal drug under this section if the Secretary finds—

“(A) that the applicant has failed to establish a system for maintaining required records, or has repeatedly or deliberately failed to maintain such records or to make required reports in accordance with a regulation or order under subsection (h), or the applicant has refused to permit access to, or copying or verification of, such records as required by paragraph (2) of such subsection;

“(B) that on the basis of new information before the Secretary, evaluated together with the evidence before the Secretary when the application was conditionally approved, the methods used in, or the facilities and controls used for, the manufacture, processing, and packing of such drug are inadequate to assure and preserve its identity, strength, quality, and purity and were not made adequate within a reasonable time after receipt of written notice from the Secretary specifying the matter complained of; or

“(C) that on the basis of new information before the Secretary, evaluated together with the evidence before the Secretary when the application was conditionally approved, the labeling of such drug, based on a fair evaluation of all material facts, is false or misleading in any particular and was not corrected within a reasonable time after receipt of written notice from the Secretary specifying the matter complained of.

“(3) Any order under this subsection shall state the findings upon which it is based.

“(f) The decision of the Secretary under subsections (c), (d), or (e) shall constitute a final agency decision for purposes of judicial review.

“(g)(1) When an application filed pursuant to subsection (a) is conditionally approved, the Secretary shall by notice publish in the Federal Register the name and address of the applicant and the conditions and indications of use of the new animal drug covered by such application, including any tolerance and withdrawal period or other use restriction and, if such new animal drug is intended for use in animal feed, appropriate purposes and conditions of use (including special labeling requirements and any requirement that an animal feed bearing or containing the new animal drug be limited to use under the professional supervision of a licensed veterinarian) applicable to any animal feed for use in which such drug is conditionally approved, the expiration date of the conditional approval, and such other information, upon the basis of which such application was conditionally approved, as the Secretary deems necessary to assure the safe and effective use of such drug.

“(2) Upon withdrawal of conditional approval of such new animal drug application or upon its suspension, the Secretary shall publish a notice in the Federal Register.

“(h)(1) In the case of any new animal drug for which a conditional approval of an application filed pursuant to subsection (a) is in effect, the applicant shall establish and maintain such records, and make such reports to the Secretary, of data relating to experience, and other data or information, received or otherwise obtained by such applicant with respect to such drug, or with respect to animal feeds bearing or containing such drug, as the Secretary may by general regulation, or by order with respect to such application, prescribe on the basis of a finding that such records and reports are necessary in order to enable the Secretary to determine, or facilitate a determination, whether there is or may be ground for refusing to renew the conditional approval under subsection (d) or for invoking subsection (e). Such regulation or order shall provide, where the Secretary deems it to be appropriate, for the examination, upon request, by the persons to whom such regulation or order is applicable, of similar information received or otherwise obtained by the Secretary.

“(2) Every person required under this subsection to maintain records, and every person in charge or custody thereof, shall, upon request of an officer or employee designated by the Secretary, permit such officer or employee at all reasonable times to have access to and copy and verify such records.

“(i)(1) The label and labeling of a drug with a conditional approval under this section shall state that fact prominently and conspicuously.

“(2) Conditions of use that are the subject of a conditional approval under this section shall not be combined in product labeling with any conditions of use approved under section 512.

“(j)(1) Safety and effectiveness data and information which has been submitted in an application filed under subsection (a) for a drug and which has not previously been disclosed to the public shall be made available to the public, upon request, unless extraordinary circumstances are shown—

“(A) if no work is being or will be undertaken to have the application conditionally approved,

“(B) if the Secretary has determined that the application is not conditionally approvable and all legal appeals have been exhausted,

“(C) if conditional approval of the application under subsection (c) is withdrawn and all legal appeals have been exhausted, or “(D) if the Secretary has determined that such drug is not a new animal drug.

“(2) Any request for data and information pursuant to paragraph (1) shall include a verified statement by the person making the request that any data or information received under such paragraph shall not be disclosed by such person to any other person—

“(A) for the purpose of, or as part of a plan, scheme, or device for, obtaining the right to make, use, or market, or making, using, or marketing, outside the United States, the drug identified in the application filed under subsection (a), and

“(B) without obtaining from any person to whom the data and information are disclosed an identical verified statement, a copy of which is to be provided by such person to the Secretary, which meets the requirements of this paragraph.

“(k) To the extent consistent with the public health, the Secretary shall promulgate regulations for exempting from the operation of this section new animal drugs, and animal feeds bearing or containing new animal drugs, intended solely for investigational use by experts qualified by scientific training and experience to investigate the safety and effectiveness of animal drugs. Such regulations may, in the discretion of the Secretary, among other conditions relating to the protection of the public health, provide for conditioning such exemption upon the establishment and maintenance of such records, and the making of such reports to the Secretary, by the manufacturer or the sponsor of the investigation of such article, of data (including but not limited to analytical reports by investigators) obtained as a result of such investigational use of such article, as the Secretary finds will enable the Secretary to evaluate the safety and effectiveness of such article in the event of the filing of an application pursuant to this section. Such regulations, among other things, shall set forth the conditions (if any) upon which animals treated with such articles, and any products of such animals (before or after slaughter), may be marketed for food use.

“INDEX OF LEGALLY MARKETED UNAPPROVED MINOR USE ANIMAL DRUGS FOR MINOR SPECIES WITH NO HUMAN FOOD SAFETY CONCERN

“SEC. 574. (a)(1) The Secretary shall establish an index of unapproved minor use new animal drugs that may be lawfully marketed for use in minor species with no human food safety concern.

“(2) Such index is intended to benefit primarily zoo and wildlife species, aquarium and bait fish, reptiles and amphibians, caged birds, and small pet mammals as well as some commercially produced species such as cricket, earthworms and possibly nonfood life stages of some minor species used for human food such as oysters and shellfish.

“(3) Such index shall conform to the requirements in subsection (d).

“(b)(1) Any person may submit a request to the Secretary for a preliminary determination that a drug may be eligible for inclusion in the index. Such a request shall include—

“(A) information regarding the proposed species, conditions of use, and anticipated annual production;

“(B) information regarding product formulation and manufacturing; and

“(C) information sufficient for the Secretary to determine that there does not appear to be human food safety, environmental safety, occupational safety, or bioavailability concerns with the proposed use of the drug.

“(2) Within 90 days after the submission of a request for a preliminary determination under paragraph (1), the Secretary shall grant or deny the request, and notify the submitter of the Secretary's conclusion. The Secretary shall grant the request if it appears that—

“(A) the request addresses the need for a minor use animal drug for which there is no approved or conditionally approved drug, and

“(B) the proposed drug use does not appear to raise human food safety, environmental safety, occupational safety, or bioavailability concerns.

“(3) If the Secretary denies the request, the Secretary shall provide due notice and an opportunity for an expedited informal hearing.

“(4) If the Secretary does not grant or deny the request within 90 days, the Secretary shall provide the Committee on Commerce of the House of Representatives and the Committee on Health, Education, Labor, and Pensions of the Senate with the reasons action on the request did not occur within such 90 days.

“(5) The decision of the Secretary under this subsection shall constitute a final agency decision for purposes of judicial review.

“(c)(1) With respect to a drug for which the Secretary has made a preliminary determination of eligibility under subsection (b), the submitter of that request may request that the Secretary add the drug to the index established by subsection (a). Such a request shall include—

“(A) a copy of the Secretary's preliminary determination of eligibility issued under subsection (b);

“(B) a qualified expert panel report that meets the requirements in paragraph (2);

“(C) a proposed index entry;

“(D) proposed labeling;

“(E) anticipated annual production of the drug; and

“(F) a commitment to manufacture, label, and distribute the drug in accordance with the index entry and any additional requirements that the Secretary may prescribe by general regulation or specific order.

“(2) For purposes of paragraph (1), a ‘qualified expert panel report’ is a written report that—

“(A) is authored by a panel of individuals qualified by scientific training and experience to evaluate the safety and effectiveness of animal drugs for the intended uses and species in question and operating external to the Food and Drug Administration;

“(B) addresses all available target animal safety and effectiveness information, including anecdotal information where necessary;

“(C) addresses proposed labeling;

“(D) addresses whether the drug should be limited to use under the professional supervision of a licensed veterinarian; and

“(E) addresses whether, in the expert panel’s opinion, the benefits of using the drug outweigh its risks, taking into account the harm being caused by the absence of an approved or conditionally approved new animal drug for the minor use in question.

“(3) Within 180 days after the receipt of a request for listing a drug in the index, the Secretary shall grant or deny the request. The Secretary shall grant the request if the Secretary finds, on the basis of the expert panel report and other information available to the Secretary, that the benefits of using the drug outweigh its risks, taking into account the harm caused by the absence of an approved or conditionally approved new animal drug for the minor use in question. If the Secretary denies the request, the Secretary shall provide due notice and the opportunity for an expedited informal hearing. If the Secretary does not grant or deny the request within 180 days, the Secretary shall provide the Committee on Commerce of the House of Representatives and the Committee on Health, Education, Labor, and Pensions of the Senate with the reasons action on the request did not occur within such 180 days. The decision of the Secretary under this paragraph shall constitute a final agency decision for purposes of judicial review.

“(d)(1) The index established by subsection (a) shall include the following information for each listed drug:

“(A) The name and address of the sponsor of the index listing.

“(B) The name of the drug, its dosage form, and its strength.

“(C) Labeling.

“(D) Production limits or other conditions the Secretary deems necessary to prevent misuse of the drug.

“(E) Requirements that the Secretary deems necessary for the safe and effective use of the drug.

“(2) The Secretary shall publish the index, and revise it monthly.

“(e)(1) If the Secretary finds, after due notice to the sponsor and an opportunity for an expedited informal hearing, that—

“(A) on the basis of new information before the Secretary, evaluated together with the evidence available to the Secretary when the drug was listed in the index, the benefits of using the drug do not outweigh its risks, or

“(B) the conditions and limitations of use in the index listing have not been followed, the Secretary shall remove the drug from the index. The decision of the Secretary shall constitute final agency decision for purposes of judicial review.

“(2) If the Secretary finds that there is an imminent hazard to the health of man or of the animals for which such drug is intended, the Secretary may suspend the listing of such drug immediately, and give the sponsor prompt notice of the Secretary’s action and afford the sponsor the opportunity for an expedited informal hearing. Authority to suspend the listing of a drug shall not be delegated below the Commissioner of Food and Drugs.

“(f)(1) In the case of any new animal drug for which an index listing pursuant to subsection (a) is in effect, the sponsor shall establish and maintain such records, and make such reports to the Secretary, of data relating to experience, and other data or information, received or otherwise obtained by such sponsor with respect to such drug, or with respect to animal feeds bearing or containing such drug, as the Secretary may by general regulation, or by order with respect to such listing, prescribe on the basis of a finding that such records and reports are necessary in order to enable the Secretary to determine, or facilitate a determination, whether there is or may be ground for invoking subsection (e). Such regulation or order shall provide, where the Secretary deems it to be appropriate, for the examination, upon request, by the persons to whom such regulation or order is applicable, of similar information received or otherwise obtained by the Secretary.

“(2) Every person required under this subsection to maintain records, and every person in charge or custody thereof, shall, upon request of an officer or employee designated by the Secretary, permit such officer or employee at all reasonable times to have access to and copy and verify such records.

“(g) The labeling of a drug that is the subject of an index listing shall state, prominently and conspicuously, that the drug is legally marketed but not approved.

“(h) The Secretary shall promulgate regulations to implement this section. Such regulations shall address, among other subjects, the composition of the expert panel, sponsorship of the expert panel under the auspices of a recognized professional organization, conflict of interest criteria for panel members, and the use of advisory committees convened by the Food and Drug Administration.

“(i) To the extent consistent with the public health, the Secretary shall promulgate regulations for exempting from the operation of this section new animal drugs intended solely for investigational use by experts qualified by scientific training and experience to investigate the safety and effectiveness of animal drugs. Such regulations may, in the discretion of the Secretary, among other conditions relating to the protection of the public health, provide for conditioning such exemption upon the establishment and maintenance of such records, and the making of such reports to the Secretary, by the manufacturer or the sponsor of the investigation of such article, of data (including but not limited to analytical reports by investigators) obtained as a result of such investigational use of such article, as the Secretary finds will enable the Secretary to evaluate the safety and effectiveness of such article in the event of the filing of a request for an index listing pursuant to this section. Such regulations, among other things, shall set forth the conditions (if any) upon which animals treated with such articles, and any products of such animals (before or after slaughter), may be marketed for food use.

Mr. DODD (for himself, Ms. COLLINS, and Mr. KENNEDY):

S. 3170. A bill to amend the Higher Education Act of 1965 to assist institutions of higher education to help at-risk students to stay in school and complete their 4-year postsecondary academic programs by helping those institutions to provide summer programs and grant aid for such students, and for other purposes; to the Committee on Health, Education, Labor, and Pensions.

COLLEGE COMPLETION CHALLENGE GRANTS ACT OF 2000

Mr. DODD. Mr. President, I rise today to join Senator COLLINS in offering legislation that will support our youth and promote their abilities by helping them stay in college and complete their degrees.

There is no question that post-secondary education is a critical component in individual success in today's economy. Parents understand this reality from the day their children are born and they start worrying about how to make college affordable. Students know it as they work to achieve good grades and high test scores. And policymakers know it as we work to increase Pell grants and support increased saving options for families.

But colleges achievement is not just about being accepted at a higher education institution. To fully see the benefits of post-secondary education, one must complete a degree. And yet, while college enrollment rates have been rising, 37 percent of students who enter post-secondary education drop out before they receive a degree or certificate. This problem is especially acute for minorities. Thirty percent of African-Americans and Hispanic-Americans drop out of college before the end of their first year. This is almost double the rate of white Americans.

For these students and for us as a nation, these statistics represent a lost opportunity. Clearly, these students aspire to greater things—to more education and better careers. But instead of fulfilling this promise, they leave school with their potential unrealized. Unfortunately, many of them also leave school not just with an academic set-back, but also with substantial student loan debt, which today is as much a reality of college attendance as is a course syllabus.

The legislation I am introducing today, the "College Completion Challenge Grants Act of 2000", would provide vital support and assistance to at-risk students to help them stay in school and complete their degrees. The College Completion Challenge grant program is based on the successful work of the Student Support Services (SSS) program, which is one of the Turning R Into Opportunity programs. While TRIO is better known for its early intervention programs with talented, at-risk high school students, SSS follows through on these early efforts by supporting at-risk, first-generation college students once they are enrolled. The College Completion Challenge grants would supplement these student support services by offering additional scholarship aid, intensive summer programs, and further support services to students at risk of dropping out. Higher education institutions participating in SSS as well as those that provide similar support through other sources would be eligible to apply for these additional dollars.

Mr. President, the House of Representatives has already acted on similar legislation, which was included in the Higher Education Technical Amendments that passed the House earlier this year. So, I am hopeful that we too can find an appropriate vehicle to support these students as they pursue their dreams. I urge my colleagues to support this legislation.

By Mr. MURKOWSKI (for himself, Mr. BREAUX, and Mr. STEVENS):

S. 3171. A bill to amend the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 to extend the section 29 credit for producing fuel from a non-conventional source; to the Committee on Finance.

ENERGY SECURITY FOR AMERICAN CONSUMERS
ACT OF 2000

Mr. MURKOWSKI. Mr. President, if this country is ever going to achieve the goal of reducing our dependency on foreign sources of oil to at least 50 percent, we are going to have to provide incentives that will encourage our energy industry to recover oil and gas from nonconventional sources.

In the aftermath of the twin oil shocks of the 1970s, Congress enacted Section 29 of the tax code which provides a tax credit to encourage production of oil and gas from unconventional sources such as Devonian shale, tight rock formations, coalbeds and geopressurized brine. This credit has helped the industry invest in new technologies which allow us to recover large oil and gas deposits that are locked in various formations which are very expensive to develop.

Since the Clinton-Gore Administration came into office, it has sent up various proposals all designed to eliminate the Section 29 credit. As a result of their efforts, the Section 29 credit has not applied to any facilities placed in service since July 1, 1998. That makes absolutely no sense when we realize that today we are 56 percent dependent on foreign sources of oil. Doing away with this credit sends a direct signal to the market—this country will not lift a finger to encourage energy development at home.

I think it is time to reverse the failed energy policies of the Clinton-Gore administration. As part of that effort, I am today introducing legislation that would extend the Section 29 credit until 2013 and allow it to apply to facilities that are placed in service before 2011. I am pleased that Senators BREAUX and STEVENS are joining me in this effort.

Mr. President, if we are to retain the prosperity we have enjoyed over the last 20 years, we must have a stable and secure supply of oil and natural gas. Section 29 is an important provision that will allow our energy development companies to bring technologies on line to develop new energy deposits.

Moreover, the bill expands the definition of qualifying investments to include heavy oil. In Alaska, there are several billion barrels of heavy oil in West Sak Prudhoe Bay that are just too costly to exploit because of the density of the oil and the fact that it is heavily laden with sand. Extension of the Section 29 credit could very well mean that these billions of barrels of heavy oil could be exploited and brought onto the U.S. energy market.

I ask unanimous consent that the text of the bill be printed in the RECORD.

There being no objection, the bill was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

S. 3171

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

By Mr. KENNEDY:

S. 3172. A bill to provide access to affordable health care for all Americans; to the Committee on Finance.

BASIC HEALTH PLAN ACT

Mr. KENNEDY. Mr. President, last week, the Census Bureau released new figures on the number of the uninsured. Thanks to a prosperous economy and the Children's Health Insurance Program, the number of the uninsured declined for the first time in more than a decade. But that decline was small, and it is no cause for complacency. The number of uninsured is still far too high—43 million Americans have no insurance coverage—and any weakening in the economy is likely to send the number higher again.

It's a national disgrace that so many Americans find the quality of their health determined by the quantity of their wealth. In this age of the life sciences, the importance of good medical care in curing disease and improving and extending life is more significant than ever, and denying any family the health care they need is unacceptable.

Earlier this year, along with a number of my colleagues in the House and Senate, I introduced bipartisan legislation to extend the Child Health Insurance Program to include the parents of participating children and to increase the enrollment of eligible children in Medicaid and CHIP. It received a majority vote in the Senate, but it was defeated on a procedural motion. I hope that we will be able to pass it promptly next year, as an initial effective step to reduce the number of the uninsured.

Today, I am introducing an additional measure. The Basic Access to Secure Insurance Coverage Health plan—or BASIC Health plan. Congressman John Dingell is introducing a companion measure in the House. Our proposal uses the model of the Child Health Insurance Program to make subsidized coverage available—through private insurance or Medicaid—to all Americans with incomes below 300 percent of poverty—$25,000 a year for an individual and $42,000 a year for a family of three.

Almost three-quarters of the uninsured are in this income range. Our plan also includes innovative steps to encourage current and newly eligible individuals and families to enroll. It is a major step toward the day when access to affordable health care will be a reality for all Americans, and I hope it will be enacted as well next year.

The need for BASIC is clear. One of our highest national priorities for the new century must be to make good health care a reality for all our people. Every other industrialized society in the world except South Africa achieved that goal in the 20th century—and under Nelson Mandela and Thabo Mbeki, South Africa has taken giant steps toward universal health care today. But in our country, the law of the jungle still too often prevails. Forty-three million of our fellow citizens are left out and left behind when it comes to health insurance.

The dishonor roll of suffering created by this national problem is a long one. Children fail to get a healthy start in life because their parents cannot afford the eyeglasses or hearing aids or doctors visits they need.

A young family loses its chance to participate in the American dream, when a breadwinner is crippled or killed because of lack of timely access to medical care.

A teenager is condemned to go without a college education because the family's income and energy are sucked away by the high financial and emotional cost of uninsured illness.

An older couple sees its hope for a dignified retirement dashed when the savings of a lifetime are washed away by a tidal wave of medical debt.

Even in this time of unprecedented prosperity, more than 200,000 Americans annually file for bankruptcy because of uninsured medical costs. And the human costs of being uninsured are often just as devastating.

In any given year, one-third of the uninsured go without needed medical care.

Eight million uninsured Americans fail to take the medication that their doctor prescribes, because they cannot afford to fill the prescription.

Four hundred thousand children suffer from asthma but never see a doctor. Five hundred thousand children with recurrent earaches never see a doctor. Another five hundred thousand children with severe sore throats never see a doctor.

Thirty-two thousand Americans with heart disease go without life-saving and life-enhancing bypass surgery or angioplasty—because they are uninsured.

Twenty-seven thousand uninsured women are diagnosed with breast cancer each year. They are twice as likely as insured women not to receive medical treatment before their cancer has already spread to other parts of their bodies. As a result, they are 50 percent more likely to die of the disease.

Overall, eighty-three thousand Americans die each year because they have no insurance. The lack of insurance is the seventh leading cause of death in America today. Our failure to provide health insurance for every citizen kills more people than kidney disease, liver disease, and AIDS combined.

Today our opportunity to finally end these millions of American tragedies is greater than ever before. Our prosperous economy gives us large new resources to invest in meeting this critical need. Recently, some Republicans in Congress have finally joined Democrats in urging our country to meet the challenge of providing health coverage to the 43 million Americans who are uninsured.

The BASIC plan can be a bridge for both Republicans and Democrats to come together. It is based on the model of the Child Health Insurance Program, which enjoys broad bi-partisan support in every state in the country. It emphasizes a Federal-State partnership to make care accessible and affordable. Insurance is provided primarily through the private sector, but without employer mandates.

The BASIC plan is designed to supplement, not replace, the current employment-based system of health care. It will also build on Medicaid, which effectively serves so many of the very poor, the working poor, the disabled, and people with AIDS.

Federal subsidies under BASIC will be targeted to those without insurance today. We should not disrupt the health coverage that 161 million Americans now receive through their employers. It makes no sense to encourage those who already have reliable employer-based health insurance to turn instead to a new government-subsidized program. The cost to taxpayers would balloon needlessly, and force us to reduce benefits in order to cut costs.

The proposal builds on and expands proven programs that are already in place. States will provide coverage under Medicaid for all very low income people, consistent with the mandate that already exists in federal law to provide Medicaid coverage for all children with family incomes below 100 percent of poverty. Medicaid's broad benefits and minimal cost-sharing are ideal for very low income people, because they cannot afford to contribute significantly to the cost of their own care.

For low and moderate income individuals and families, the plan follows the CHIP model. States will have the choice of providing coverage through Medicaid or contracting with private insurance companies to offer subsidized coverage to those eligible to participate. The state would pay the insurance company a premium for each individual enrolled. For higher income enrollees, the individual would make a premium contribution as well.

One-third of all the uninsured today are poor, and almost three-quarters of the uninsured have incomes below 300 percent of poverty. A program of subsidies targeted on these low and moderate income Americans will put affordable health insurance within reach of the vast majority of the uninsured.

One of the biggest problems we face in expanding health insurance coverage through such a program is assuring that those who are eligible actually participate. We have learned a great deal from the experience under CHIP on how to achieve this objective. We know that simple, mail-in forms are important. We know that public information campaigns and the involvement of community-based organizations can be valuable. We know that programs with presumptive eligibility are effective—so that people can be signed up right away, without waiting until the eligibility verification process has been completed. We know that enrolling people for a year at a time without subjecting them to reapplications or reverification of income more often than once a year is critical. Through steps like these, we can see that the uninsured are not only eligible for the program but actually participate in it, so that they actually have the financial protection and access to timely medical care they need.

The BASIC Health plan will not require employers to contribute to the cost of coverage. But it will require them to make the BASIC plan coverage available through the workplace, and forward the premiums of workers to the insurance company that the workers choose. This step is a minimum obligation that responsible employers should be willing to accept—and it can significantly increase the number of the uninsured who actually have coverage. Eighty-two percent of uninsured Americans today are workers or dependents of workers. Our message to all of them is that help is finally on the way.

The cost of the BASIC plan is an estimated $200 billion to $300 billion over the next ten years—approximately the cost of the prescription drug plans that many of us have proposed under Medicare. It's a substantial amount of the surplus, but as we know from the success of Medicare, few if any federal dollars are better spent.

In sum, every child deserves a healthy start and life. Every family deserves protection against the high cost of illness. All Americans deserve timely access to quality, affordable health care. The American people want action. It is time for all of us to make the cause of health care for all a national priority.

I ask unanimous consent that a summary of the BASIC plan and a fact sheet on the problem of the uninsured be included in the RECORD.

There being no objection, the material was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

NEED FOR LEGISLATION AND SUMMARY OF THE "BASIC" HEALTH PROGRAM: UNIVERSAL ACCESS TO AFFORDABLE QUALITY HEALTH INSURANCE

America is the only industrial country in the world, except South Africa, that does not guarantee health care for all its citizens. The number of uninsured declined last year for the first time in more than a decade—but 43 million Americans remain uninsured, and any slowdown in the economy is likely to send the number up again. The vast majority of the uninsured are workers or dependents of workers. The consequences of being uninsured go far beyond vulnerability to catastrophic medical costs. The uninsured often lack timely access to quality health care, especially preventive care. They suffer unnecessary illness and even death because they have no coverage.

Growth in the Uninsured

The number of the uninsured has grown from 32 million in 1987 to 43 million this year. Except for a brief pause in 1993 and 1994, the number of uninsured has consistently increased by a million or more each year until this year. Even these figures understate the number of the uninsured. During the course of a year, 70 million Americans will be uninsured for an extended period of time.

Characteristics of the Uninsured

The vast majority of privately insured Americans—161 million citizens under 65—receive coverage on the job as workers or members of their families. But the uninsured are also overwhelmingly workers or their dependents. Eighty-two percent of those without insurance are employees or family members of employees. Of these uninsured workers, most are members of families with at least one person working full-time.

Most uninsured workers are uninsured because their employer either does not offer coverage, or because they are not eligible for the coverage offered. Seventy percent of uninsured workers are in firms where no coverage is offered. Eighteen percent are in firms that offer coverage, but they are not eligible for it, usually because they are part-time workers or have not been employed by the firm long enough to qualify for coverage. Only 12 percent of uninsured workers are offered coverage and decline.

The uninsured are predominantly low and moderate income persons. Almost 25 percent are poor (income of $8,501 or less for a single individual; $13,290 or less for a family of three). Twenty-eight percent have incomes between 100 and 200 percent of poverty. Eighteen percent have incomes between 200 and 300 percent of poverty. Almost three-fourths have incomes below 300 percent of poverty.

Consequences of Being Uninsured

An uninsured family is exposed to financial disaster in the event of serious illness. Unpaid medical bills account for 200,000 bankruptcies annually. Over 9 million families spend more than one fifth of their total income on medical costs. The health consequences of being uninsured are often as devastating as the economic costs:

In any given year, one-third of the uninsured go without needed medical care.

Eight million uninsured Americans fail to take medication their doctors prescribe, because they cannot afford to fill the prescription.

Thirty-two thousand Americans with heart disease go without life-saving and life-enhancing bypass surgery or angioplasty, because they are uninsured.

Twenty-seven thousand uninsured women are diagnosed with breast cancer each year. They are twice as likely as insured women not to receive medical treatment until their cancer has already spread in their bodies. As a result, they are 50 percent more likely to die of the disease.

The tragic bottom line is that eighty-three thousand Americans die every year because they have no insurance. Being uninsured is the seventh leading cause of death in America. Our failure to provide health insurance for every citizen kills more people than kidney disease, liver disease, and AIDS combined.

THE PROPOSAL: SUMMARY OF BASIC ACCESS TO SECURE INSURANCE COVERAGE HEALTH PLAN ("BASIC" HEALTH PLAN)

Overview

The BASIC program builds on the bipartisan Child Health Insurance Program and on Vice-President Gore's proposal to extend insurance coverage under CHIP and Medicaid to the parents of eligible children. The Child Health Insurance Program provides subsidized coverage through Medicaid or private insurers contracting with state governments for low and moderate income children. The BASIC plan extends the availability of subsidized coverage to all uninsured low and moderate income Americans, regardless of age or family status. It guarantees the availability of coverage in every state for every uninsured person, and includes provisions to encourage enrollment by those who are eligible. The plan also allows those who have incomes too high to qualify for subsidies to participate in the program by paying the full premium.

Key Provisions

Phase I: Coverage for Children and Parents—Expansion of CHIP and Medicaid

Eligibility levels are raised to 300 percent of poverty for all uninsured children.

Coverage is made available to all uninsured parents of eligible children.

Coverage is made available to legal immigrant children and their parents.

The required benefit package for children is improved by adding eye-glasses, hearing aids, and medically necessary rehabilitative services for disabled or developmentally delayed children.

Additional steps are established to encourage enrollment of eligible children and their parents, including presumptive eligibility, qualification for at least twelve months, and simplified application forms.

The system of capped state allotments under CHIP is eliminated and federal matching funds are made available for all eligible persons enrolled in the program.

Phase II: Coverage for the Remaining Uninsured

Subsidized coverage is made available for all uninsured single adults with incomes below 300 percent of poverty. Coverage is phased in by income levels, beginning with those below 50 percent of poverty in the third year of the program, rising to 300 percent of poverty in the ninth year.

Unsubsidized coverage is available to all individuals in families with incomes too high to qualify for subsidized coverage, by paying the cost through premiums.

Responsibility of Employers

Eighty-two percent of the uninsured are workers or dependents of workers. Employers will not be required to provide coverage or contribute to the cost of coverage—but they will be required to offer their uninsured employees an opportunity to enroll in the program and agree to facilitate the coverage by withholding any required premium contributions from the employee's periodic pay.

Cost

Preliminary estimates of similar proposals indicate that the federal cost will be $200-$300 billion over the next ten years, beyond the amount already budgeted for expansions of coverage under the current CHIP program.

S. 3173. A bill to improve the implementation of the environmental streamlining provisions of the Transportation Equity Act for the 21st Century; read the first time.

ENVIRONMENTAL STREAMLINING IMPROVEMENT ACT

Today I am introducing legislation that requires the US Department of Transportation to make substantial revisions to the recently proposed regulations on transportation planning and environmental streamlining. This action is necessary because the proposed regulations fail to fully comply with the direction that Congress gave to the U.S. Department of Transportation (US DOT) in the Transportation Equity Act for the 21st Century—the so-called TEA-21—that we passed in 1998.

The proposed regulations cover the inter-related disciplines of transportation planning and environmental protection. It is my view that transportation system development and the environment can exist in harmony if there is proper planning and foresight. All too often, though, there is a lack of coordination that results in unnecessary delays to transportation projects, or leads to wasted time and funds on projects that never get built.

This is the problem that I, along with my colleagues, Senators GRAHAM and WYDEN, attempted to address when we authored TEA-21's environmental streamlining provision. Our provision, which is section 1309 of TEA-21, required a more systematic approach to avoid conflicts, expedite approvals, and eliminate duplicated efforts in developing transportation projects.

Section 1309 does not weaken environmental standards or avoid existing requirements for environmental analysis. Instead, section 1309 requires better coordination between the transportation and environmental agencies.

Specifically, section 1309 requires that US DOT to establish a coordinated review process among the various state and federal agencies, to ensure concurrent rather than sequential reviews by these agencies, and to establish a dispute resolution process so that delays are not created by lingering, unresolved problems. We also included other changes in TEA-21 that were intended to put greater order and efficiency into the planning and approval of transportation projects.

Unfortunately, the proposed regulations fail to meet the requirements of TEA-21 in two important respects: First, the regulations do not incorporate the specific requirements of environmental streamlining with regard to time periods for review or a dispute resolution process.

Second, the regulations create new data collection, consultation and analysis requirements that will further complicate and delay transportation projects.

The full Committee on Environment and Public Works held a hearing two weeks ago to take testimony from the administration and the states on the intent and effect of these regulations. The states unanimously objected to the increased burden that would result from these proposed regulations. Where we intended to reduce delay, state transportation departments testified that these regulations would add years to project development, putting us even further behind in meeting our transportation needs.

A few weeks ago, eleven bipartisan members of my committee joined in a letter to the Secretary of Transportation recommending that the proposed regulations be revised and re-issued. That is precisely the subject of the legislation I am introducing today.

This bill requires the Secretary of Transportation to revise the rules, taking into consideration the hundreds of comments received on the current proposal, and to comply with the clear directives that US DOT received from Congress in section 1309 of TEA-21. I hope that with a second chance, the US DOT will craft rules that clearly meet Congressional intent.

Mr. BAUCUS. Mr. President, today Senator SMITH, on behalf of Senator VOINOVICH, myself and others is introducing the Environmental Streamlining Improvement Act.

This bill ensures that the United States Department of Transportation will issue a revised rule on TEA-21 environmental streamlining regulations. This bill will give the USDOT another chance to follow the statute when issuing proposed rules on planning and the environment.

The Environment and Public Works Committee has held three hearings on the subject of environmental streamlining since the passage of TEA-21 in 1998. I am sorry to say that in the 2 years it has taken the USDOT to issue this NPRM, they fall far short of what Congress has intended. TEA-21 is very specific about what the regulations should do. The proposed regulations follow neither the word nor the intent of TEA-21.

I remember working with Senators WARNER, GRAHAM, WYDEN and CHAFEE and with the House members to develop an agreement on environmental streamlining. Those provisions are now Sections 1308 and 1309 of TEA-21.

I had heard from the Montana Department of Transportation and from others about how cumbersome a process it is to complete a highway project. Everyone who worked on TEA-21, in both the House and Senate, wanted to include a direction to the USDOT to streamline the planning and project development processes for the states.

We were very clear—the environment and the environmental reviews should not get short shrift! But, we need to find a way to make it easier to get a final decision, eliminate unnecessary delays, move faster and with as little paperwork as possible.

I cannot over-emphasize that the planning and environmental provisions of TEA-21 need to be implemented in a way that will streamline the expedite, not complicate, the process of delivering transportation projects.

That is why Congress directed the USDOT to include certain elements in their regulations on environmental streamlining.

We included concepts to be incorporated in future regulations—like concurrent environmental reviews by agencies and reasonable deadlines for the agencies to follow when completing their reviews.

Certainly we did not legislate an easy task to the USDOT. Trying to coordinate so many separate agencies is like trying to herd cats. The whole concept of environmental streamlining—that is, to make the permit and approval process work more smoothly and effectively, while still ensuring protection of the environment—is one of the more difficult challenges of TEA-21.

So I waited for the rules to come out. And waited. And two years after the passage of TEA-21 I look at the proposed rules and I am very disappointed.

I have identified several problems with these regulations and I would like to mention just a few things that I see as real problems.

First, elevating the planning process participants to the roles of decision makers. These regulations were supposed to help the States get their jobs done better and more efficiently. Its one thing to add more participants to the process. More involvement is a good thing.

But its another thing to give them the authority to make decisions about how the planning process will work. This decision maker role is currently held by State DOTs and Metropolitan Planning Organizations for a reason.

Second, what happened to "streamlining?" The basic elements of real streamlining are the only things not in the regs.

Third, these regulations are supposed to answer questions—but what is contained in the proposed regulations raises even more questions because they are vague there they need to be precise.

Fourth, this proposal makes it even harder, if not impossible to come to a decision. These regulations include initiatives not outlined in sections 1308 and 1309 and in many areas would strip states of their authority.

I would also like to mention that the Montana Department of Transportation filed comments or wrote letters at every possible opportunity for the public record. As I read these proposed regulations, I see that MDT's comments were either never read by the USDOT or ignored.

Let me close by saying that I believe the proposed rules would add significant requirements and uncertainty to planning and environmental review for transportation projects. In practical terms, they would increase overhead and delay—and delay usually means increased project costs. These proposed rules could make it difficult for States to deliver their programs. Contracts won't get let and jobs will be lost.

I know this is a tough task. To streamline a process while ensuring that we maintain a thorough planning and environmental review process. But, adding requirements to the process is contrary to the course charted by Congress.

At our last hearing, the administration testified that their intent was to streamline the process. The bill we are introducing today would allow them to make good on their intent.

Our bill requires the USDOT go back to the drawing board and incorporate comments received from States and others and issue another NPRM. I am confident the USDOT will do the right thing this time.

Mr. VOINOVICH. Mr. President, I rise today to thank Senator BOB SMITH of introducing the Environmental Streamlining Improvement Act today. Last month several of my colleagues on the Environmental and Public Works Committee, following a full committee hearing on the issue, requested that the Administration revise its proposed rules on environmental streamlining and transportation planning, taking into consideration comments already submitted on the proposed rules, and publish them in the Federal Register for an additional 120-day comment period. This legislation is being introduced today because the Administration has not responded to our request.

In addition to requiring the Administration to consider public comments and to revise and re-propose rules on environmental streamlining and transportation planning, this legislation would prevent the Secretary of Transportation from finalizing the rules until May 1, 2001, and require a report on changes that were made to the revised rules.

When I was Governor of Ohio, I witnessed first-hand the frustration of many of the various state agencies because they were required to complete a myriad of federally-required tasks on whatever project they initiated.

With my background as a local and state official, I bring a unique perspective to this issue. While environmental review is good public policy, I believe that there are more efficient ways to ensure adequate and timely delivery of construction projects, while still carefully assessing environmental concerns.

Congress recognized the frustration of the states and enacted planning and environmental provisions to initiate environmental streamlining and expedite project delivery. These programs are embodied in Sections 1308 and 1309 of TEA-21. Section 1308 calls for the integration of the Major Investment Study, which had been a separate requirement for major metropolitan projects, with the National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA) process. Section 1309 of TEA-21 calls for the establishment of a coordinated review process for the Department of Transportation to work with other federal agencies to ensure that transportation projects are advanced according to cooperatively determined time-frames. This is accomplished by using concurrent rather than sequential reviews, and allows states to include state-specific environmental reviews in the coordinated process.

Last year, I conducted two hearings as Chairman of the Subcommittee on Transportation and Infrastructure on streamlining and project delivery. During those hearings I stressed how important it is that the planning and environmental streamlining provisions of TEA-21 be implemented in a way that will streamline and expedite, not complicate, the process of delivering transportation projects. A year after these hearings and nearly two years after the passage of TEA-21, the Department of Transportation finally published its proposed planning and NEPA regulations on May 25, 2000. Frankly, I am very disappointed with how long it took to propose these rules, and I believe many of my colleagues feel the same way. More importantly, there is a lot of disappointment with the proposed rules in general.

I strongly believe these proposed regulations are inconsistent with TEA-21 and Congressional intent and do little, if anything, to streamline and expedite the ability of states to commence transportation projects. The proposed rules create new mandates and requirements, add new decision-makers to the process, and provide endless fodder for all kinds of lawsuits, especially with regard to environmental justice.

In Ohio, the process of highway construction has been dubbed: "So you Want a Highway? Here's the Eight Year Hitch." My hope has been that in the future we could say "So you Want a Highway? Here's the Five Year Hitch." I don't see that happening with the proposal we have before us. For that reason, I am very pleased Senator SMITH has introduced this legislation today.

S. 3175. A bill to amend the Consolidated Farm and Rural Development Act to authorize the National Rural Development Partnership, and for other purposes; to the Committee on Agriculture, Nutrition, and Forestry.

NATIONAL RURAL DEVELOPMENT PARTNERSHIP
ACT OF 2000

Mr. CRAIG. Mr. President, I rise today with Senator CONRAD to introduce the "National Rural Development Partnership Act of 2000"—a bill to codify the National Rural Development Partnership (NRDP or the Partnership) and provide a funding source for the program. I am pleased that Senators BAUCUS, BINGAMAN, BREAUX, BURNS, CRAPO, DASCHLE, ENZI, GORTON, GRAMM, GRAMS, GREGG, HARKIN, HUTCHISON, JEFFORDS, JOHNSON, KENNEDY, KERREY, LEAHY, LUGAR, MIKULSKI, MURRAY, REED, SARBANES, BOB SMITH, THOMAS, and WELLSTONE are joining us as original cosponsors.

The Partnership was established under the Bush Administration in 1990, by Executive Order 12720. Although the Partnership has existed for ten years, it has never been formally authorized by Congress. The current basis for the existence of the Partnership is found in the Consolidated Farm and Rural Development Act of 1972 and the Rural Development Policy Act of 1980. In addition, the Conference Committee Report on the 1996 federal Farm Bill created specific responsibilities and expectations for the Partnership and state rural development councils (SRDCs).

The Partnership is a nonpartisan interagency working group whose mission is to "contribute to the vitality of the Nation by strengthening the ability of all rural Americans to participate in determining their futures." The NRDP and SRDCs do something no other entities do: facilitate collaboration among federal agencies and between federal agencies and state, local, and tribal governments and the private and non-profit sectors to increase coordination of programs and services to rural areas. When successful, these efforts result in more efficient use of limited rural development resources and actually add value to the efforts and dollars of others.

On March 8, 2000, the Subcommittee on Forestry, Conservation, and Rural Revitalization, which I chair, held an oversight hearing on the operation and accomplishments of the NRDP and SRDCs. The Subcommittee heard from a number of witnesses, including officials of the US Departments of Agriculture, Transportation and Health & Human Services, state agencies, and private sector representatives. The hearing established the need for some legislative foundation and consistent funding. The legislation we are introducing accomplishes this.

This legislation formally recognizes the existence and operations of the Partnership, the National Rural Development Council (NRDC), and SRDCs. In addition, the legislation gives specific responsibilities to each component of the Partnership and authorizes it to receive Congressional appropriations.

Specifically, the bill formally establishes the NRDP and indicates it is composed of the NRDC and SRDCs. NRDP is established for empowering and building the capacity of rural communities, encouraging participation in flexible and innovative methods of addressing the challenges of rural areas, and encouraging all those involved in the Partnership to be fully engaged and to share equally in decision making. This legislation also identifies the role of the federal government in the Partnership as being that of partner, coach, and facilitator. Federal agencies are called upon to designate senior-level officials to participate in the NRDC and to encourage field staff to participate in SRDCs. Federal agencies are also authorized to enter into cooperative agreements with, and to provide grants and other assistance to, state rural development councils, regardless of the form of legal organization of a state rural development council.

The composition of the NRDC is specified as being one representative from each federal agency with rural responsibilities, and governmental and non-governmental for-profit and non-profit organizations that elect to participate in the NRDC. The legislation outlines the duties of the Council as being to provide support to SRDCs; facilitate coordination among federal agencies and between the federal, state, local and tribal governments and private organizations; enhance the effectiveness, responsiveness, and delivery of federal government programs; gather and provide to federal agencies information about the impact of government programs on rural areas; review and comment on policies, regulations, and proposed legislation; provide technical assistance to SRDCs; and develop strategies for eliminating administrative and regulatory impediments. Federal agencies do have the ability to opt out of participation in the Council, but only if they can show how they can more effectively serve rural areas without participating in the Partnership and Council.

This legislation provides that states may participate in the Partnership by entering into a memorandum of understanding with USDA to establish an SRDC. SRDCs are required to operate in a nonpartisan and nondiscriminatory manner and to reflect the diversity of the states within which they are organized. The duties of the SRDCs are to facilitate collaboration among government agencies at all levels and the private and non-profit sectors; to enhance the effectiveness, responsiveness, and delivery of federal and state government programs; to gather information about rural areas in its state and share it with the NRDC and other entities; to monitor and report on policies and programs that address, or fail to address, the needs of rural areas; to facilitate the formulation of needs assessments for rural areas and participate in the development of the criteria for the distribution of federal funds to rural areas; to provide comments to the NRDC and others on policies, regulations, and proposed legislation; assist the NRDC in developing strategies for reducing or eliminating impediments; to hire an executive director and support staff; and to fundraise.

As I have stated before, this legislation authorizes the Partnership to receive appropriations as well as authorizing and encouraging federal agencies to make grants and provide other forms of assistance to the Partnership and authorizing the Partnership to accept private contributions. The SRDCs are required to provide at least a 25 percent match for funds it receives as a result of its cooperative agreement with the federal government.

As you know, too many parts of rural America have not shared in the boom that has brought great prosperity to urban America. We need to do more to ensure that rural citizens will have opportunities similar to those enjoyed by urban areas. To do so, we do not necessarily need new government programs. Instead, we must do a better job of coordinating the many programs available for USDA and other federal agencies that can benefit rural communities. With the passage of this legislation, the NRDC and SRDCs will be better situated to provide that much needed coordination.

Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the text of the bill be printed in the RECORD.

There being no objection, the bill was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

S. 3175

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

This Act may be cited as the "National Rural Development Partnership Act of 2000".

SEC. 2. FINDINGS.

Congress finds that—

(1) rural development has been given high priority throughout most of this century as a means of achieving a sound balance between rural and urban areas in the United States, a balance that Congress considers essential to the peace, prosperity, and welfare of all citizens of the United States;

(2)(A) during the last half century, Congress has enacted many laws and established many programs to provide resources to rural communities;

(B) in addition, numerous efforts have been made to coordinate Federal rural development programs; and

(C) during the last decade, the National Rural Development Partnership and its principal components, the National Rural Development Council and State rural development councils, have successfully provided opportunities for collaboration and coordination among Federal agencies and between Federal agencies and States, nonprofit organizations, the private sector, tribal governments, and other entities committed to rural advancement;

(3) Congress enacted the Rural Development Act of 1972 (86 Stat. 657) and the Rural Development Policy Act of 1980 (94 Stat. 1171) as a manifestation of this commitment to rural development;

(4) section 2(b)(3) of the Rural Development Policy Act of 1972 (7 U.S.C. 2204b(b)(3)) directs the Secretary of Agriculture to develop a process through which multi-state, State, substate, and local rural development needs, goals objectives, plans and recommendations can be received and assessed on a continuing basis;

(5) the National Rural Development Partnership and State Rural Development Councils were established as vehicles to help coordinate development of rural programs in 1990;

(8) partnerships by agencies and entities in the Partnership would extend scarce but val-

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 142—RELATING TO THE RE-ESTABLISHMENT OF REPRESENTATIVE GOVERNMENT IN AFGHANISTAN

Mr. BROWNBACK (for himself and Mr. TORRICELLI) submitted the following concurrent resolution; which was referred to the Committee on Foreign Relations:

S. CON. RES. 142

Whereas Afghanistan has existed as a sovereign nation since 1747, maintaining its independence, neutrality, and dignity;

Whereas Afghanistan had maintained its own decisionmaking through a traditional process called a "Loya Jirgah", or Grand Assembly, by selecting, respecting, and following the decisions of their leaders;

Whereas recently warlords, factional leaders, and foreign regimes have laid siege to Afghanistan, leaving the landscape littered with landmines, making the most fundamental activities dangerous;

Whereas in recent years, and especially since the Taliban came to power in 1996, Afghanistan has become a haven for terrorist activity, has produced most of the world's opium supply, and has become infamous for its human rights abuses, particularly abuses against women and children;

Whereas the former King of Afghanistan, Mohammed Zahir Shah, ruled the country peacefully for 40 years, and after years in exile retains his popularity and support; and

Whereas former King Mohammed Zahir Shah plans to convene an emergency "Loya Jirgah" to reestablish a stable government, with no desire to regain power or reestablish a monarchy, and the Department of State supports such ongoing efforts: Now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate (the House of Representatives concurring), That the United States—

(1) supports democratic efforts undertaken in Afghanistan that respect the human and political rights of the people of all ethnic and religious groups in that country, including the efforts to reestablish a "Loya Jirgah" process that would lead to the people of Afghanistan determining their own destiny through a democratic process involving free and fair elections; and

(2) supports the continuing efforts of former King Mohammed Zahir Shah and other responsible parties searching for peace to convene an emergency "Loya Jirgah"—

(A) to reestablish a representative government in Afghanistan that respects the rights of the people of all ethnic and religious groups, including the right of the people to govern their own affairs through inclusive institution building and a democratic process;

(B) to bring freedom, peace, and stability to Afghanistan; and

(C) to end terrorist activities, drug production, and human rights abuses in Afghanistan.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 143—TO MAKE TECHNICAL CORRECTIONS IN THE ENROLLMENT OF THE BILL H.R. 3676

Mr. MURKOWSKI (for himself and Mr. BINGAMAN) submitted the following concurrent resolution; which was considered and agreed to:

S. CON. RES. 143

Resolved by the Senate (the House of Representatives concurring), That in the enrollment of the bill (H.R. 3676 to establish the

Santa Rosa and San Jacinto Mountains National Monument in the State of California, the Clerk of the House of Representatives shall make the following corrections:

(1) In the second sentence of section 2(d)(1), strike "and the Committee on Agriculture, Nutrition, and Forestry".

(2) In the second sentence of section 4(a)(3), strike "Nothing in this section" and insert "Nothing in this Act".

(3) In section 4(c)(1), strike "any person, including".

(4) In section 5, add at the end the following:

"(j) WILDERNESS PROTECTION.—Nothing in this Act alters the management of any areas designated as Wilderness which are within the boundaries of the National Monument. All such areas shall remain subject to the Wilderness Act (16 U.S.C. 1131 et seq.), the laws designating such areas as Wilderness, and other applicable laws. If any part of this Act conflicts with any provision of those laws with respect to the management of the Wilderness areas, such provisions shall control."

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 144—COMMEMORATING THE 200TH ANNIVERSARY OF THE FIRST MEETING OF CONGRESS IN WASHINGTON, DC

Mr. LOTT (for himself and Mr. DASCHLE) submitted the following concurrent resolution; which was considered and agreed to:

S. CON. RES. 144

Whereas November 17, 2000, is the 200th anniversary of the first meeting of Congress in Washington, DC;

Whereas Congress, having previously convened at the Federal Hall in New York City and at the Congress Hall in Philadelphia, has met in the United States Capitol Building since November 17, 1800;

Whereas President John Adams, on November 22, 1800, addressed a joint session of Congress in Washington, DC, for the first time, stating, "I congratulate the people of the United States on the assembling of Congress at the permanent seat of their Government; and I congratulate you, gentlemen, on the prospect of a residence not to be changed.";

Whereas, on December 12, 1900, Congress convened a joint meeting to observe the centennial of its residence in Washington, DC;

Whereas since its first meeting in Washington, DC, on November 17, 1800, Congress has continued to cultivate and build upon a heritage of respect for individual liberty, representative government, and the attainment of equal and inalienable rights, all of which are symbolized in the physical structure of the United States Capitol Building; and

Whereas it is appropriate for Congress, as the first branch of the government under the Constitution, to commemorate the 200th anniversary of the first meeting of Congress in Washington, DC, in order to focus public attention on its present duties and responsibilities: Now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate (the House of Representatives concurring), That it is the sense of Congress that—

(1) November 17, 2000, be designated as a day of national observance for the 200th anniversary of the first meeting of Congress in Washington, DC; and

(2) the people of the United States be urged and invited to observe such date by celebrating and examining the legislative process by which members of Congress convene and air differences, learn from one another, subordinate parochial interests, compromise, and work towards achieving a constructive consensus for the good of the people of the United States.

SENATE RESOLUTION 367—URGING THE GOVERNMENT OF EGYPT TO PROVIDE A TIMELY AND OPEN APPEAL FOR SHAIBOUB WILLIAM ARSEL AND TO COMPLETE AN INDEPENDENT INVESTIGATION OF POLICE BRUTALITY IN AL-KOSHEH

Mr. MACK submitted the following resolution; which was referred to the Committee on Foreign Relations:

S. RES. 367

Whereas on Friday August 14, 1998, two Coptic Christians, Samir Oweida Hakim and Karam Tamer Arsal, were murdered in Al-Kosheh, Egypt;

Whereas, according to a report from the Egyptian Organization for Human Rights that was translated by the United States Embassy in Cairo, up to 1,200 Coptic Christians, including women and children, were subsequently detained and interrogated without sufficient evidence;

Whereas it is reported that the police tortured the detained Coptic Christians over a period of days and even weeks and that the detainees suffered abuses that included beatings, administration of electric shock to all parts of the body, including sensitive areas, and being bound in painful positions for hours at a time;

Whereas Egypt is a party to the Convention against Torture and Other Cruel, Inhumane or Degrading Treatment or Punishment;

Whereas the Convention against Torture and Other Cruel, Inhumane or Degrading Treatment or Punishment prohibits torture to obtain information and confessions such as the torture that reportedly took place in Al-Kosheh;

Whereas Egypt is party to the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights;

Whereas Article 18 of the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights states that "(1) Everyone shall have the right to freedom of thought, conscience, and religion. This right shall include freedom to have or to adopt a religion or belief of his choice, and freedom, either individually or in community with others and in public or in private, to manifest his religion or belief in worship, observance, practice and teaching. (2) No one shall be subject to coercion which would impair his freedom to have or adopt a religion or belief of his choice.";

Whereas some of the 1,200 detained Coptic Christians reported that the police chief made derogatory remarks about their religion and stated that the detainees were being targeted because of their religious beliefs;

Whereas the summary report of the Egyptian Organization for Human Rights states that, as a result of the massive roundup and torture of the Coptic Christian community, a prosecution proceeded using confessions obtained under duress;

Whereas, according to the report, as translated by the United States Embassy in Cairo, one of the confessors "was detained for 18 days, beaten constantly, was not allowed food or water, and prevented from relieving himself" and "confessed only when they threatened to rape his two sisters" who "were brought to the police station, tortured and threatened with rape in front of him", and the detainee identified Shaiboub William Arsel as the murderer;

Whereas Shaiboub William Arsel, a Coptic Christian, was charged with the murders of Samir Oweida Hakim and Karam Tamer Arsal, was found guilty, and was sentenced on June 5, 2000, to 15 years of hard labor;

Whereas, according to the Associated Press story describing Shaiboub William Arsel's trial, "[t]he court based its guilty verdict on evidence and testimony provided by police, said the officials on condition of anonymity" and "gave no further details";

Whereas no known international observers were present at Shaiboub William Arsel's trial;

Whereas, on January 2, 2000, a mob of nearly 3,000 Muslims killed 21 Christians and destroyed and looted dozens of Christian homes and businesses in the village of Al-Kosheh; and

Whereas local Egyptian security forces failed to stop the massacre of Coptic Christians, and according to Coptic leader Pope Shenouda III, "responsibility falls first on security forces... the problem lies among the authorities in the area where the incident occurred": Now, therefore, be it

Resolved,

SECTION 1. SENSE OF THE SENATE ON THE APPEAL OF SHAIBOUB WILLIAM ARSEL AND THE EGYPTIAN GOVERNMENT'S INVESTIGATION OF POLICE BRUTALITY IN AL-KOSHEH.

The Senate hereby urges the President and the Secretary of State to encourage officials of the Government of Egypt to—

(1) allow for a timely and open appeal for Shaiboub William Arsel that includes international observers; and

(2) complete an independent investigation of the police brutality in Al-Kosheh.

SEC. 2. TRANSMITTAL OF RESOLUTION.

The Secretary of the Senate shall transmit a copy of this resolution to the President and the Secretary of State, with the request that the President or the Secretary further transmit such copy to the Government of Egypt.

RESOLUTION ON SHAIBOUB WILLIAM ARSEL

Mr. MACK. Mr. President, I rise today to speak on behalf of Coptic Christians in Egypt who have been persecuted because of their religious beliefs. According to reports by both the Egyptian Organization for Human Rights and Freedom House in the United States, up to 1,200 Coptic Christians in Al-Kosheh, Egypt, were detained, interrogated, and subjected to police brutality in relation to the murders of two other Coptic Christians in 1998. After weeks of reported torture, these accounts suggest that confessions were obtained under duress that identified Shaiboub William Arsel as the murderer. Mr. Arsel was subsequently sentenced to 15 years of hard labor.

Over the last two years I have met with officials from the Egyptian government, including President Hosni Mubarak on several occasions in an attempt to address this issue quietly. Unfortunately, these discussions have failed to produce sufficient action on the part of the government of Egypt. As a result, I rise today to submit a resolution urging the President to encourage the Egyptian government to provide Shaiboub William Arsel with a timely and open appeal that would include international observers, and furthermore to complete an independent investigation of the police brutality in Al-Kosheh.

BLACK ROCK DESERT-HIGH ROCK CANYON EMIGRANT TRAILS NATIONAL CONSERVATION AREA ACT OF 2000

BRYAN AMENDMENT NO. 4297

Mr. MACK (for Mr. BRYAN) proposed an amendment to the bill (S. 2273) to establish the Black Rock Desert-High Rock Canyon Emigrant Trails National Conservation Area, and for other purposes; as follows:

Strike all after the enacting clause and insert the following:

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

This Act may be cited as the “Black Rock Desert-High Rock Canyon Emigrant Trails National Conservation Area Act of 2000”.

SEC. 2. FINDINGS.

The Congress finds the following:

(1) The areas of northwestern Nevada known as the Black Rock Desert and High Rock Canyon contain and surround the last nationally significant, untouched segments of the historic California Emigrant Trails, including wagon ruts, historic inscriptions, and a wilderness landscape largely unchanged since the days of the pioneers.

(2) The relative absence of development in the Black Rock Desert and High Rock Canyon areas from emigrant times to the present day offers a unique opportunity to capture the terrain, sights, and conditions of the overland trails as they were experienced by the emigrants and to make available to both present and future generations of Americans the opportunity of experiencing emigrant conditions in an unaltered setting.

(3) The Black Rock Desert and High Rock Canyon areas are unique segments of the Northern Great Basin and contain broad representation of the Great Basin’s land forms and plant and animal species, including golden eagles and other birds of prey, sage grouse, mule deer, pronghorn antelope, bighorn sheep, free roaming horses and burros, threatened fish and sensitive plants.

(4) The Black Rock-High Rock region contains a number of cultural and natural resources that have been declared eligible for National Historic Landmark and Natural Landmark status, including a portion of the 1843-44 John Charles Fremont exploration route, the site of the death of Peter Lassen, early military facilities, and examples of early homesteading and mining.

(5) The archaeological, paleontological, and geographical resources of the Black Rock-High Rock region include numerous prehistoric and historic Native American sites, woolly mammoth sites, some of the largest natural potholes of North America, and a remnant dry Pliocene lakebed (playa) where the curvature of the Earth may be observed.

(6) The two large wilderness mosaics that frame the conservation area offer exceptional opportunities for solitude and serve to protect the integrity of the viewshed of the historic emigrant trails.

(7) Public lands in the conservation area have been used for domestic livestock grazing for over a century, with resultant benefits to community stability and contributions to the local and State economies. It has not been demonstrated that continuation of this use would be incompatible with appropriate protection and sound management of the resource values of these lands; therefore, it is expected that such grazing will continue in accordance with the management plan for the conservation area and other applicable laws and regulations.

(8) The Black Rock Desert playa is a unique natural resource that serves as the primary destination for the majority of visitors to the conservation area, including visitors associated with large-scale permitted events. It is expected that such permitted events will continue to be administered in accordance with the management plan for the conservation area and other applicable laws and regulations.

SEC. 3. DEFINITIONS.

As used in this Act:

(1) The term “Secretary” means the Secretary of the Interior.

(2) The term “public lands” has the meaning stated in section 103(e) of the Federal Land Policy and Management Act of 1976 (43 U.S.C. 1702(e)).

(3) The term “conservation area” means the Black Rock Desert-High Rock Canyon Emigrant Trails National Conservation Area established pursuant to section 4 of this Act.

SEC. 4. ESTABLISHMENT OF THE CONSERVATION AREA.

(a) ESTABLISHMENT AND PURPOSES.—In order to conserve, protect, and enhance for the benefit and enjoyment of present and future generations the unique and nationally important historical, cultural, paleontological, scenic, scientific, biological, educational, wildlife, riparian, wilderness, endangered species, and recreational values and resources associated with the Applegate-Lassen and Nobles Trails corridors and surrounding areas, there is hereby established the Black Rock Desert-High Rock Canyon Emigrant Trails National Conservation Area in the State of Nevada.

(b) AREAS INCLUDED.—The conservation area shall consist of approximately 797,100 acres of public lands as generally depicted on the map entitled “Black Rock Desert Emigrant Trail National Conservation Area” and dated July 19, 2000.

(c) MAPS AND LEGAL DESCRIPTION.—As soon as practicable after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Secretary shall submit to Congress a map and legal description of the conservation area. The map and legal description shall have the same force and effect as if included in this Act, except the Secretary may correct clerical and typographical errors in such map and legal description. Copies of the map and legal description shall be on file and available for public inspection in the appropriate offices of the Bureau of Land Management.

SEC. 5. MANAGEMENT.

(a) MANAGEMENT.—The Secretary, acting through the Bureau of Land Management, shall manage the conservation area in a manner that conserves, protects and enhances its resources and values, including those resources and values specified in subsection 4(a), in accordance with this Act, the Federal Land Policy and Management Act of 1976 (43 U.S.C. 1701 et seq.), and other applicable provisions of law.

(b) ACCESS.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary shall maintain adequate access for the reasonable use and enjoyment of the conservation area.

(2) PRIVATE LAND.—The Secretary shall provide reasonable access to privately owned land or interests in land within the boundaries of the conservation area.

(3) EXISTING PUBLIC ROADS.—The Secretary is authorized to maintain existing public access within the boundaries of the conservation areas in a manner consistent with the purposes for which the conservation area was established.

(c) USES.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary shall only allow such uses of the conservation area as the Secretary finds will further the purposes for which the conservation area is established.

(2) OFF-HIGHWAY VEHICLE USE.—Except where needed for administrative purposes or to respond to an emergency, use of motorized vehicles in the conservation area shall be permitted only on roads and trails and in other areas designated for use of motorized vehicles as part of the management plan prepared pursuant to subsection (e).

(3) PERMITTED EVENTS.—The Secretary may continue to permit large-scale events in defined, low impact areas of the Black Rock Desert plays in the conservation area in accordance with the management plan prepared pursuant to subsection (e).

(d) HUNTING, TRAPPING, AND FISHING.—Nothing in this Act shall be deemed to diminish the jurisdiction of the State of Nevada with respect to fish and wildlife management, including regulation of hunting and fishing, on public lands within the conservation area.

(e) MANAGEMENT PLAN.—Within three years following the date of enactment of this Act, the Secretary shall develop a comprehensive resource management plan for the long-term protection and management of the conservation area. The plan shall be developed with full public participation and shall describe the appropriate uses and management of the conservation area consistent with the provisions of this Act. The plan may incorporate appropriate decisions contained in any current management or activity plan for the area and may use information developed in previous studies of the lands within or adjacent to the conservation area.

(f) GRAZING.—Where the Secretary of the Interior currently permits livestock grazing in the conservation area, such grazing shall be allowed to continue subject to all applicable laws, regulations, and executive orders.

(g) VISITOR SERVICE FACILITIES.—The Secretary is authorized to establish, in cooperation with other public or private entities as the Secretary may deem appropriate, visitor service facilities for the purpose of providing information about the historical, cultural, ecological, recreational, and other resources of the conservation area.

SEC. 6. WITHDRAWAL.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Subject to valid existing rights, all Federal lands within the conservation area and all lands and interests therein which are hereafter acquired by the United States are hereby withdrawn from all forms of entry, appropriation, or disposal under the public land laws, from location, entry, and patent under the mining laws, from operation of the mineral leasing and geothermal leasing laws and from the minerals materials laws and all amendments thereto.

SEC. 7. NO BUFFER ZONES.

The Congress does not intend for the establishment of the conservation area to lead to the creation of protective perimeters or buffer zones around the conservation area. The fact that there may be activities or uses on lands outside the conservation area that would not be permitted in the conservation area shall not preclude such activities or uses on such lands up to the boundary of the conservation area consistent with other applicable laws.

SEC. 8. WILDERNESS.

(a) DESIGNATION.—In furtherance of the purposes of the Wilderness Act of 1964 (16

U.S.C. 1131 et seq.), the following lands in the State of Nevada are designated as wilderness, and, therefore, as components of the National Wilderness Preservation System:

(1) Certain lands in the Black Rock Desert Wilderness Study Area comprised of approximately 315,700 acres, as generally depicted on a map entitled "Black Rock Desert Wilderness—Proposed" and dated July 19, 2000, and which shall be known as the Black Rock Desert Wilderness.

(Omit the parts in black brackets and insert the parts printed in italic.)

S. 2478

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

This Act may be cited as the "Peopling of America Theme Study Act".

SEC. 2. FINDINGS AND PURPOSES.

(a) FINDINGS.—Congress finds that—

(1) an important facet of the history of the United States is the story of how the United States was populated;

(2) the migration, immigration, and settlement of the population of the United States—

(A) is broadly termed the "peopling of America"; and

(B) is characterized by—

(i) the movement of groups of people across external and internal boundaries of the United States and territories of the United States; and

(ii) the interactions of those groups with each other and with other populations;

(3) each of those groups has made unique, important contributions to American history, culture, art, and life;

(4) the spiritual, intellectual, cultural, political, and economic vitality of the United States is a result of the pluralism and diversity of the American population;

(5) the success of the United States in embracing and accommodating diversity has strengthened the national fabric and unified the United States in its values, institutions, experiences, goals, and accomplishments;

(6)(A) the National Park Service's official thematic framework, revised in 1996, responds to the requirement of section 1209 of the Civil War Sites Study Act of 1990 (16 U.S.C. 1a-5 note; Public Law 101-628), that "the Secretary shall ensure that the full diversity of American history and prehistory are represented" in the identification and interpretation of historic properties by the National Park Service; and

(B) the thematic framework recognizes that "people are the primary agents of change" and establishes the theme of human population movement and change—or "peopling places"—as a primary thematic category for interpretation and preservation; and

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. CONVEYANCE OF JOE ROWELL PARK.

(a) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary of Agriculture shall convey to the town of Dolores, Colorado, for no consideration, all right, title, and interest of the United States in and to the parcel of real property described in subsection (b), for open space, park, and recreational purposes.

(b) DESCRIPTION OF PROPERTY.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—The property referred to in subsection (a) is a parcel of approximately 25 acres of land comprising the site of the Joe Rowell Park (including all improvements on the land and equipment and other items of personal property as agreed to by the Secretary) [in section 16 (Map 1), township 37 north, range 15 west, NMPM, Dolores, Colorado.] depicted on the map entitled “Joe Rowell Park,” dated July 12, 2000.

(2) SURVEY.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—The exact acreage and legal description of the property to be conveyed under subsection (a) shall be determined by a survey satisfactory to the Secretary.

(B) COST.—As a condition of any conveyance under this section, the town of Dolores shall pay the cost of the survey.

(c) POSSIBILITY OF REVERTER.—Title to any real property acquired by the town of Dolores, Colorado, under this section shall revert to the United States if the town—

(1) attempts to convey or otherwise transfer ownership of any portion of the property to any other person;

(2) attempts to encumber the title of the property; or

(3) permits the use of any portion of the property for any purpose incompatible with the purpose described in subsection (a) for which the property is conveyed.

(d) The map referenced in subsection (b)(1) shall be on file for public inspection in the Office of the Chief of the Forest Service at the Department of Agriculture in Washington, DC.

The committee amendments were agreed to.

The bill (S. 1972), as amended, was read the third time and passed, as follows:

COAL MARKET COMPETITION ACT OF 2000

The Senate proceeded to consider the bill (S. 2300) to amend the Mineral Leasing Act to increase the maximum acreage of Federal leases for coal that may be held by an entity in any 1 State.

The bill (S. 2300) was read the third time and passed, as follows:

S. 2300

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, SECTION 1. TITLE.

This Act may be cited as the “Coal Market Competition Act of 2000”.

SEC. 2. FINDINGS.

Congress finds that—

(1) Federal land contains commercial deposits of coal, the Nation’s largest deposits of coal being located on Federal land in Utah, Colorado, Montana, and the Powder River Basin of Wyoming;

(2) coal is mined on Federal land through Federal coal leases under the Act of February 25, 1920 (commonly known as the “Mineral Leasing Act”) (30 U.S.C. 181 et seq.);

(3) the sub-bituminous coal from these mines is low in sulfur, making it the cleanest burning coal for energy production;

(4) the Mineral Leasing Act sets for each leasable mineral a limitation on the amount of acreage of Federal leases any 1 producer may hold in any 1 State or nationally;

(5)(A) the present acreage limitation for Federal coal leases has been in place since 1976;

(B) currently the coal lease acreage limit of 46,080 acres per State is less than the per-State Federal lease acreage limit for potash (96,000 acres) and oil and gas (246,080 acres);

(6) coal producers in Wyoming and Utah are operating mines on Federal leaseholds that contain total acreage close to the coal lease acreage ceiling;

(7) the same reasons that Congress cited in enacting increases for State lease acreage caps applicable in the case of other minerals—the advent of modern mine technology, changes in industry economics, greater global competition, and the need to conserve Federal resources—apply to coal;

(8) existing coal mines require additional lease acreage to avoid premature closure, but those mines cannot relinquish mined-out areas to lease new acreage because those areas are subject to 10-year reclamation plans, and the reclaimed acreage is counted against the State and national acreage limits;

(9) to enable them to make long-term business decisions affecting the type and amount of additional infrastructure investments, coal producers need certainty that sufficient acreage of leasable coal will be available for mining in the future; and

(10) to maintain the vitality of the domestic coal industry and ensure the continued flow of valuable revenues to the Federal and State governments and of energy to the American public from coal production on Federal land, the Mineral Leasing Act should be amended to increase the acreage limitation for Federal coal leases.

SEC. 3. COAL MINING ON FEDERAL LAND.

Section 27(a) of the Act of February 25, 1920 (30 U.S.C. 184(a)), is amended—

(1) by striking “(a)” and all that follows through “No person” and inserting “(a) COAL LEASES.—No person”;

(2) by striking “forty-six thousand and eighty acres” and inserting “75,000 acres”; and

(3) by striking “one hundred thousand acres” each place it appears and inserting “150,000 acres”.

LAKE TAHOE RESTORATION ACT

The Senate proceeded to consider the bill (S. 1925) to promote environmental restoration around Lake Tahoe basin, which had been reported from the Committee on Energy and Natural Resources, with an amendment as follows: (Strike out all after the enacting clause and insert the part printed in italic)

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

This Act may be cited as the “Lake Tahoe Restoration Act”.

SEC. 2. FINDINGS AND PURPOSES.

(a) FINDINGS.—Congress finds that—

(1) Lake Tahoe, one of the largest, deepest, and clearest lakes in the world, has a cobalt blue color, a unique alpine setting, and remarkable water clarity, and is recognized nationally and worldwide as a natural resource of special significance;

(2) in addition to being a scenic and ecological treasure, Lake Tahoe is one of the outstanding recreational resources of the United States, offering skiing, water sports, biking, camping, and hiking to millions of visitors each year, and contributing significantly to the economies of California, Nevada, and the United States;

(3) the economy in the Lake Tahoe basin is dependent on the protection and restoration of the natural beauty and recreation opportunities in the area;

(4) Lake Tahoe is in the midst of an environmental crisis; the Lake’s water clarity has declined from a visibility level of 105 feet in 1967 to only 70 feet in 1999, and scientific estimates indicate that if the water quality at the Lake continues to degrade, Lake Tahoe will lose its famous clarity in only 30 years;

(5) sediment and algae-nourishing phosphorous and nitrogen continue to flow into the Lake from a variety of sources, including land erosion, fertilizers, air pollution, urban runoff, highway drainage, streamside erosion, land disturbance, and ground water flow;

(6) methyl tertiary butyl ether—

(A) has contaminated and closed more than 1/3 of the wells in South Tahoe; and

(B) is advancing on the Lake at a rate of approximately 9 feet per day;

(7) destruction of wetlands, wet meadows, and stream zone habitat has compromised the Lake’s ability to cleanse itself of pollutants;

(8) approximately 40 percent of the trees in the Lake Tahoe basin are either dead or dying, and the increased quantity of combustible forest fuels has significantly increased the risk of catastrophic forest fire in the Lake Tahoe basin;

(9) as the largest land manager in the Lake Tahoe basin, with 77 percent of the land, the Federal Government has a unique responsibility for restoring environmental health to Lake Tahoe;

(10) the Federal Government has a long history of environmental preservation at Lake Tahoe, including—

(A) congressional consent to the establishment of the Tahoe Regional Planning Agency in 1969 (Public Law 91-148; 83 Stat. 360) and in 1980 (Public Law 96-551; 94 Stat. 3233);

(B) the establishment of the Lake Tahoe Basin Management Unit in 1973; and

(C) the enactment of Public Law 96-586 (94 Stat. 3381) in 1980 to provide for the acquisition of environmentally sensitive land and erosion control grants;

(11) the President renewed the Federal Government’s commitment to Lake Tahoe in 1997 at the Lake Tahoe Presidential Forum, when he committed to increased Federal resources for environmental restoration at Lake Tahoe and established the Federal Interagency Partnership and Federal Advisory Committee to consult on natural resources issues concerning the Lake Tahoe basin;

(12) the States of California and Nevada have contributed proportionally to the effort to protect and restore Lake Tahoe, including—

(A) expenditures—

(i) exceeding $200,000,000 by the State of California since 1980 for land acquisition, erosion control, and other environmental projects in the Lake Tahoe basin; and

(ii) exceeding $30,000,000 by the State of Nevada since 1980 for the purposes described in clause (i); and

(B) the approval of a bond issue by voters in the State of Nevada authorizing the expenditure by the State of an additional $20,000,000; and

(13) significant additional investment from Federal, State, local, and private sources is needed to stop the damage to Lake Tahoe and its forests, and restore the Lake Tahoe basin to ecological health.

(b) PURPOSES.—The purposes of this Act are—

(1) to enable the Forest Service to plan and implement significant new environmental restoration activities and forest management activities to address the phenomena described in paragraphs (4) through (8) of subsection (a) in the Lake Tahoe basin;

(2) to ensure that Federal, State, local, regional, tribal, and private entities continue to work together to improve water quality and manage Federal land in the Lake Tahoe Basin Management Unit; and

(3) to provide funding to local governments for erosion and sediment control projects on non-Federal land if the projects benefit the Federal land.

GREAT SAND DUNES NATIONAL PARK ACT OF 2000

The Senate proceeded to consider the bill (S. 2547) to provide for the establishment of the Great Sand Dunes National Park and the Great Sand Dunes National Preserve in the State of Colorado, and for other purposes, which had been reported by the Committee on Energy and Natural Resources with an amendment to strike out all after the enacting clause and insert the part printed in italic.

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

This Act may be cited as the "Great Sand Dunes National Park Act of 2000".

SEC. 2. FINDINGS.

Congress finds that—

(1) the Great Sand Dunes National Monument in the State of Colorado was established by Presidential proclamation in 1932 to preserve Federal land containing spectacular and unique sand dunes and additional features of scenic, scientific, and educational interest for the benefit and enjoyment of future generations;

(2) the Great Sand Dunes, together with the associated sand sheet and adjacent wetland and upland, contain a variety of rare ecological, geological, paleontological, archaeological, scenic, historical, and wildlife components, which—

(A) include the unique pulse flow characteristics of Sand Creek and Medano Creek that are integral to the existence of the dunes system;

(B) interact to sustain the unique Great Sand Dunes system beyond the boundaries of the existing National Monument;

(C) are enhanced by the serenity and rural western setting of the area; and

(D) comprise a setting of irreplaceable national significance;

(3) the Great Sand Dunes and adjacent land within the Great Sand Dunes National Monument—

(A) provide extensive opportunities for educational activities, ecological research, and recreational activities; and

(B) are publicly used for hiking, camping, and fishing, and for wilderness value (including solitude);

(4) other public and private land adjacent to the Great Sand Dunes National Monument—

(A) offers additional unique geological, hydrological, paleontological, scenic, scientific, educational, wildlife, and recreational resources; and

(B) contributes to the protection of—

(i) the sand sheet associated with the dune mass;

(ii) the surface and ground water systems that are necessary to the preservation of the dunes and the adjacent wetland; and

(iii) the wildlife, viewshed, and scenic qualities of the Great Sand Dunes National Monument;

(5) some of the private land described in paragraph (4) contains important portions of the sand dune mass, the associated sand sheet, and unique alpine environments, which would be threatened by future development pressures;

(6) the designation of a Great Sand Dunes National Park, which would encompass the existing Great Sand Dunes National Monument and additional land, would provide—

(A) greater long-term protection of the geological, hydrological, paleontological, scenic, scientific, educational, wildlife, and recreational resources of the area (including the sand sheet associated with the dune mass and the ground water system on which the sand dune and wetland systems depend); and

(B) expanded visitor use opportunities;

(7) land in and adjacent to the Great Sand Dunes National Monument is—

(A) recognized for the culturally diverse nature of the historical settlement of the area;

(B) recognized for offering natural, ecological, wildlife, cultural, scenic, paleontological, wilderness, and recreational resources; and

(C) recognized as being a fragile and irreplaceable ecological system that could be destroyed if not carefully protected; and

(8) preservation of this diversity of resources would ensure the perpetuation of the entire ecosystem for the enjoyment of future generations.

The amendment (No. 4297) was agreed to, as follows:

AMENDMENT NO. 4297

(Purpose: to provide a complete substitute)

Strike all after the enacting clause and insert the following:

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

This Act may be cited as the "Black Rock Desert-High Rock Canyon Emigrant Trails National Conservation Area Act of 2000".

SEC. 2. FINDINGS.

The Congress finds the following:

(1) The areas of northwestern Nevada known as the Black Rock Desert and High Rock Canyon contain and surround the last nationally significant, untouched segments of the historic California Emigrant Trails, including wagon ruts, historic inscriptions, and a wilderness landscape largely unchanged since the days of the pioneers.

(2) The relative absence of development in the Black Rock Desert and High Rock Canyon areas from emigrant times to the present day offers a unique opportunity to capture the terrain, sights, and conditions of the overland trails as they were experienced by the emigrants and to make available to both present and future generations of Americans the opportunity of experiencing emigrant conditions in an unaltered setting.

(3) The Black Rock Desert and High Rock Canyon areas are unique segments of the Northern Great Basin and contain broad representation of the Great Basin's land forms and plant and animal species, including golden eagles and other birds of prey, sage grouse, mule deer, pronghorn antelope, bighorn sheep, free roaming horses and burros, threatened fish and sensitive plants.

(4) The Black Rock-High Rock region contains a number of cultural and natural resources that have been declared eligible for National Historic Landmark and Natural Landmark status, including a portion of the 1843-44 John Charles Fremont exploration route, the site of the death of Peter Lassen, early military facilities, and examples of early homesteading and mining.

(5) The archaeological, paleontological, and geographical resources of the Black Rock-High Rock region include numerous prehistoric and historic Native American sites, woolly mammoth sites, some of the largest natural potholes of North America, and a remnant dry Pliocene lakebed (playa) where the curvature of the Earth may be observed.

(6) The two large wilderness mosaics that frame the conservation area offer exceptional opportunities for solitude and serve to protect the integrity of the viewshed of the historic emigrant trails.

(7) Public lands in the conservation area have been used for domestic livestock grazing for over a century, with resultant benefits to community stability and contributions to the local and State economies. It has not been demonstrated that continuation of this use would be incompatible with appropriate protection and sound management of the resource values of these lands; therefore, it is expected that such grazing will continue in accordance with the management plan for the conservation area and other applicable laws and regulations.

(8) The Black Rock Desert playa is a unique natural resource that serves as the primary destination for the majority of visitors to the conservation area, including visitors associated with large-scale permitted events. It is expected that such permitted events will continue to be administered in accordance with the management plan for the conservation area and other applicable laws and regulations.

SEC. 3. DEFINITIONS.

As used in this Act:

(1) The term "Secretary" means the Secretary of the Interior.

(2) The term "public lands" has the meaning stated in section 103(e) of the Federal Land Policy and Management Act of 1976 (43 U.S.C. 1702(e)).

(c) MAPS AND LEGAL DESCRIPTION.—As soon as practicable after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Secretary shall submit to Congress a map and legal description of the conservation area. (2) OFF-HIGHWAY VEHICLE USE.—Except where needed for administrative purposes or to respond to an emergency, use of motorized vehicles in the conservation area shall be permitted only on roads and trails and in other areas designated for use of motorized vehicles as part of the management plan prepared pursuant to subsection (e).

(3) PERMITTED EVENTS.—The Secretary may continue to permit large-scale events in defined, low impact areas of the Black Rock Desert plays in the conservation area in accordance with the management plan prepared pursuant to subsection (e).

(d) HUNTING, TRAPPING, AND FISHING.—Nothing in this Act shall be deemed to diminish the jurisdiction of the State of Nevada with respect to fish and wildlife management, including regulation of hunting and fishing, on public lands within the conservation area.

(e) MANAGEMENT PLAN.—Within three years following the date of enactment of this Act, the Secretary shall develop a comprehensive resource management plan for the long-term protection and management of the conservation area. The plan shall be developed with full public participation and shall describe the appropriate uses and management of the conservation area consistent with the provisions of this Act. The plan may incorporate appropriate decisions contained in any current management or activity plan for the area and may use information developed in previous studies of the lands within or adjacent to the conservation area.

(f) GRAZING.—Where the Secretary of the Interior currently permits livestock grazing in the conservation area, such grazing shall be allowed to continue subject to all applicable laws, regulations, and executive orders.

(g) VISITOR SERVICE FACILITIES.—The Secretary is authorized to establish, in cooperation with other public or private entities as the Secretary may deem appropriate, visitor service facilities for the purpose of providing information about the historical, cultural, ecological, recreational, and other resources of the conservation area.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Subject to valid existing rights, all Federal lands within the conservation area and all lands and interests therein which are hereafter acquired by the United States are hereby withdrawn from all forms of entry, appropriation, or disposal under the public land laws, from location, entry, and patent under the mining laws, from operation of the mineral leasing and geothermal leasing laws and from the minerals materials laws and all amendments thereto.

SEC. 7. NO BUFFER ZONES.

The Congress does not intend for the establishment of the conservation area to lead to the creation of protective perimeters or buffer zones around the conservation area. The fact that there may be activities or uses on lands outside the conservation area that would not be permitted in the conservation area shall not preclude such activities or uses on such lands up to the boundary of the conservation area consistent with other applicable laws.

SEC. 8. WILDERNESS.

(a) DESIGNATION.—In furtherance of the purposes of the Wilderness Act of 1964 (16 U.S.C. 1131 et seq.), the following lands in the State of Nevada are designated as wilderness, and, therefore, as components of the National Wilderness Preservation System:

Whereas the practice of composing verses about life and work on the range dates back to at least the trail drive era of the late 19th century;

Whereas the Cowboy Poetry Gathering has revived and continues to preserve the art of cowboy poetry by increasing awareness and appreciation of this tradition-based art form;

Whereas the reemergence of cowboy poetry both highlights recitation traditions that are a central form of artistry in communities throughout the West and promotes popular poetry and literature to the general public;

Whereas the Cowboy Poetry Gathering serves as a bridge between urban and rural people by creating a forum for the presentation of art and for the discussion of cultural issues in a humane and non-political manner;

Whereas the Western Folklife Center in Reno, Nevada, established and hosted the inaugural Cowboy Poetry Gathering in January of 1985;

Whereas since its inception 16 years ago, some 200 similar local spin-off events are now held in communities throughout the West; and

Whereas it is proper and desirable to recognize Elko, Nevada, as the original home of the Cowboy Poetry Gathering: Now, therefore, be it Resolved, That the Senate designates the Cowboy Poetry Gathering in Elko, Nevada, as the "National Cowboy Poetry Gathering".

SEC. 101. FINDINGS AND PURPOSE.

(a) FINDINGS.—Congress finds that—

(1) natural disasters, including earthquakes, tsunamis, tornadoes, hurricanes, flooding, and wildfires, pose great danger to human life and to property throughout the United States;

(2) greater emphasis needs to be placed on—

(A) identifying and assessing the risks to States and local governments (including Indian tribes) from natural disasters;

(B) implementing adequate measures to reduce losses from natural disasters; and

(C) ensuring that the critical services and facilities of communities will continue to function after a natural disaster;

(3) expenditures for postdisaster assistance are increasing without commensurate reductions in the likelihood of future losses from natural disasters;

(4) in the expenditure of Federal funds under the Robert T. Stafford Disaster Relief and Emergency Assistance Act (42 U.S.C. 5121 et seq.), high priority should be given to mitigation of hazards at the local level; and

(5) with a unified effort of economic incentives, awareness and education, technical assistance, and demonstrated Federal support, States and local governments (including Indian tribes) will be able to—

(A) form effective community-based partnerships for hazard mitigation purposes;

(B) implement effective hazard mitigation measures that reduce the potential damage from natural disasters;

(C) ensure continued functionality of critical services;

(D) leverage additional non-Federal resources in meeting natural disaster resistance goals; and

(E) make commitments to long-term hazard mitigation efforts to be applied to new and existing structures.

(b) PURPOSE.—The purpose of this title is to establish a national disaster hazard mitigation program—

(1) to reduce the loss of life and property, human suffering, economic disruption, and disaster assistance costs resulting from natural disasters; and

(2) to provide a source of predisaster hazard mitigation funding that will assist States and local governments (including Indian tribes) in implementing effective hazard mitigation measures that are designed to ensure the continued functionality of critical services and facilities after a natural disaster.

SEC. 102. PREDISASTER HAZARD MITIGATION.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Title II of the Robert T. Stafford Disaster Relief and Emergency Assistance Act (42 U.S.C. 5131 et seq.) is amended by adding at the end the following:

“(c) APPROVAL BY PRESIDENT.—If the President determines that a State or local government has identified natural disaster hazards in areas under its jurisdiction and has demonstrated the ability to form effective public-private natural disaster hazard mitigation partnerships, the President, using amounts in the National Predisaster Mitigation Fund established under subsection (i) (referred to in this section as the ‘Fund’), may provide technical and financial assistance to the State or local government to be used in accordance with subsection (e).

(4) the Committee on Appropriations of the House of Representatives.

Mr. MACK. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the Senate concur in the amendment of the House with a further amendment which is at the desk.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

(The amendment (No. 4299) is printed in today’s RECORD under “Amendments Submitted.”)

Mr. SMITH of New Hampshire. Mr. President, I rise in support of H.R. 707, the Disaster Mitigation Act of 2000, and urge its passage by the full Senate. This legislation represents compromise language negotiated with the House of Representatives, but, is, substantively, very similar to the bill passed by the Senate in July of this year. This bill will ensure that FEMA not only remains responsive to local communities after a disaster, but also makes disaster preparedness and mitigation a priority. Further, I am proud that this bill will also result in both short and long term savings to the American taxpayer while, at the same time, providing the states and local communities with added resources for future mitigation efforts. Through added efficiencies this bill saves billions in the long run.

I would like to take this opportunity to thank a number of staff members who have worked so hard on this bill. In particular, I would like to recognize Marty Hall from my committee staff; Jo-Ellen Darcy, committee staff for Senator BAUCUS; Andy Wheeler and Mike Murray from Senator INHOFE’S staff; and Jason McNamara from Senator GRAHAM’S staff.

EMERGENCY HOME REPAIR ASSISTANCE

Mr. GRAHAM. The bill includes a provision that caps emergency home repair assistance for individuals and households at $5,000. Could the Chairman elaborate on this provision to describe what additional assistance might be available to individuals and households should their emergency home repair costs exceed $5,000?

Mr. SMITH. I would be happy to elaborate on the provision. The bill caps “non-means-tested” emergency home repair assistance at $5,000. In other words, as long as insurance proceeds were not available, an individual or household would be eligible for up to $5,000 of emergency home repair assistance before he/she was required to seek additional assistance from other sources, such as the SBA Disaster Loan Program. If that individual or household was not able to obtain an SBA loan, then he/she could be eligible for additional emergency home repair assistance, as long as the total amount of FEMA assistance to this individual or household does not exceed $25,000.

Mr. GRAHAM. Is it correct, then, that if an individual or household was unable to obtain a loan from SBA, or assistance from another source, then they could be eligible to receive additional emergency home repair assistance, based upon the regulations that FEMA promulgates for this section, and as long as the total FEMA assistance received by that individual or household does not exceed $25,000?

Mr. SMITH. The Senator is correct.

Mr. GRAHAM. I thank the Chairman for the clarification.

RESTORATION OF ESTUARY HABITAT

Mr. MACK. Mr. President, I ask that the Chair lay before the Senate a message from the House to accompany S. 835, “An Act to encourage the restoration of estuary habitat through more efficient project financing and enhanced coordination of Federal and non-Federal restoration programs, and for other purposes.”

The PRESIDING OFFICER laid before the Senate the following message from the House of Representatives:

Resolved, That the bill from the Senate (S. 835) entitled “An Act to encourage the restoration of estuary habitat through more efficient project financing and enhanced coordination of Federal and non-Federal restoration programs, and for other purposes”, do pass with the following amendment:

The Senator from Florida (Mr. MACK) for Mr. EDWARDS, Mr. SHELBY, and Mr. SESSIONS, proposes an amendment numbered 4300.

The amendment is as follows:

At the appropriate place, insert the following:

SEC. . TECHNOLOGY PARTNERSHIPS OMBUDSMAN.

(a) APPOINTMENT OF OMBUDSMAN.—The Secretary of Energy shall direct the director of each national laboratory of the Department of Energy, and may direct the director of each facility under the jurisdiction of the Department of Energy, to appoint a technology partnership ombudsman to hear and help resolve complaints from outside organizations regarding the policies and actions of each such laboratory or facility with respect to technology partnerships (including cooperative research and development agreements), patents, and technology licensing.

(b) QUALIFICATIONS.—An ombudsman appointed under subsection (a) shall be a senior official of the national laboratory or facility who is not involved in day-to-day technology partnerships, patents, or technology licensing, or, if appointed from outside the laboratory of facility, function as such a senior official.

(c) DUTIES.—Each ombudsman appointed under subsection (a) shall—

(1) serve as the focal point for assisting the public and industry in resolving complaints and disputes with the national laboratory or facility regarding technology partnerships, patents, and technology licensing;

(2) promote the use of collaborative alternative dispute resolution technique such as mediation to facilitate the speedy and low-cost resolution of complaints and disputes, when appropriate; and

(3) report quarterly on the number and nature of complaints and disputes raised, along with the ombudsman's assessment of their resolution, consistent with the protection of confidential and sensitive information, to—

(A) the Secretary;

(B) the Administrator for Nuclear Security;

Mr. ROCKEFELLER. Senator EDWARDS' amendment establishes a Technology Partnership Ombudsman at Department of Energy's National Laboratories. It is my understanding that the Ombudsman should promote the use of collaborative alternative dispute resolution techniques such as mediation to facilitate the speedy and low-cost resolution of complaints and disputes with industry partners. To ensure fairness and objectivity, however, it would be the Senator's intent that nothing in this Section be interpreted to empower the Ombudsman to act as a mediator or an arbitrator in the process.

Mr. EDWARDS. The Senator's understanding is correct. That is our intention.

Mr. MACK. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the amendment be agreed to, the bill be read a third time and passed, as amended, the motion to reconsider be laid upon the table, and any statements relating to the bill be printed in the RECORD.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

TRAFFICKING VICTIMS PROTECTION AND VIOLENCE AGAINST WOMEN

Mr. BROWNBACK. Mr. President, I want to speak for a few minutes on a conference report, a bill we have been working on all year, including a couple of other provisions that have now been added. We are ready to move forward with it. That is what the vote will address tomorrow.

I have put forward this bill on sex trafficking with Senator WELLSTONE. He and I don't get together on too many bills, so when we do, it is a bit noteworthy. We come from different perspectives, different viewpoints. I think we both have good hearts but our heads take us in different directions. But on this subject of stopping sex trafficking, we don't disagree. We have worked together all year to get this bill through which challenges this practice known as sex trafficking.

Throughout the world, globalization has a dark side. We are seeing increasing numbers of young women, even girls, being trafficked from poorer countries to richer countries into the prostitution business. They have been tricked, forced, coerced and defrauded into working as prostitutes against their will. There are about 700,000 women and girls, according to our Government's estimates, being moved each year from poorer countries to richer countries into the prostitution business. Our Government estimates that approximately 50,000 women and children are trafficked annually into the United States, primarily from Asia and Central America.

This is clearly a terrible practice. Many of these are young girls who are tricked and deceived into forced prostitution believe they are going to a different country for another purpose. For example, those trafficked to the United States are promised a job as a dish washer, or a factory worker. Something that pays better than the job opportunities available in their own, typically poorer, countries. However, once the victims get here, there is no decent job waiting for them. Instead, the trafficker will take their papers and passport so that they have no legal identification. Then they are given false papers, if any. This begins to prepare them for their new life of forced prostitution, making it very difficult to track down and rescue the young woman or girl who has been trapped. There is a point very early in this process where the trafficker says something like the following to his victim, "You are mine and you will do what I say. You will work in this brothel as a prostitute and you have no choice." At this point, she had become a slave in one of the most degrading fashions imaginable.

Senator WELLSTONE and I heard testimony to this effect. We have had two hearings in the Foreign Relations Committee on this subject of trafficking. At both hearings, we had victims testify to such experiences. At one hearing, we had three women who had been trafficked—all had been tricked into traveling to another country believing a good job was waiting on the other side, and once they got there, they were forced into prostitution. This is what they were subjected to. One young woman said that once she was moved into the United States, she was subjected to 30 clients a day, six days a week. If she refused, she was beaten without mercy. It is a dark, dark business.

In January of this year I was in Nepal. I met with a number of girls who had returned from India, where they were forced to work in the brothels in Bombay. These were young girls, frequently from villages, not particularly knowledgeable in the ways of the world. They were young and very innocent when the trafficker had taken them away. The trafficker had told one girl's parents, "I can get her a job in a rug factory in Bombay." The family was poor, they needed income, and they believed him. So they agreed, and gave their daughter away to the trader who forced her into prostitution against her will. And she had no choice.

I met girls who had been trafficked at age 11, 12, and 13. The girls I saw in Nepal, in Katmandu, had returned from this devastating life. Some had escaped by running away, though many cannot since they are in chains or are locked away. Others were thrown out by the brothel because they had contracted AIDS or TB. When they returned at the age of 16, 17, or 18, two-thirds of them had AIDS and were waiting to die, having no proper medicine.

As I stood there with the woman who runs this place of restoration for these young women, she pointed around the room whispering: She is dying, she is dying, she is dying. These were girls of 17 years old, 16 years old, or younger. They were people who had had their youth stolen from them, were deceived or forced into this practice, and then, finally, received a death sentence of AIDS. I saw that. I talked with these survivors of trafficking. Once you see that, you know you have to try to help to stop this. This is wrong, and this terrible practice is increasing. It is happening to 700,000 women and children, girls, each year worldwide.

PAUL WELLSTONE and I worked very hard together. We have a bill that has gone through the Senate by unanimous consent which is the most comprehensive bill to combat this practice of sex trafficking. Among other provisions, this bill substantially increases the penalty for trafficking, while protecting those victims who have been forced into this awful practice. Presently, the victims of trafficking are treated almost as badly as their enslaver, but this bill changes that. Instead, this bill promotes the cooperation of the victims to testify against those who have forced them into trafficking. This will help to bust open the trafficking rings, which we are going very little of these day. It also promotes awareness programs so that people can protect their children and themselves from being tricked into forced prostitution.

I support the increasing globalization of the trade community, but we also have to recognize the problems associated with globalization. Trafficking may be among the worst of those problems. The United States can be a leader in starting to combat this practice, thus giving back to young girls all over the world their childhood instead of a death sentence.

Associated with this trafficking bill is a bill that Senator BIDEN has worked very aggressively on, the Violence Against Women Act. This is a reauthorization of that bill. These two bills are being paired, along with other measures. Senator BIDEN has spoken passionately and frequently on the need to deal with domestic violence in the United States, a very dark and pervasive tragedy in America.

It recently passed in the House of Representatives as a stand alone bill, with only 3 dissenting votes. It is up for reauthorization. VAWA will help those women who are suffering from some form of domestic violence. It is a good piece of legislation and these two bills belong together.

Also associated with this bill is an Internet Alcohol provision, as well as a provision dealing with terrorism, put forward by Senator MACK. It is non-controversial. Also, it includes a bill entitled, Amy's Law, sponsored by Congressman SALMON in the House, and by Senator SANTORUM here in the Senate. It ultimately promotes tougher prison sentences for people who have been convicted of sex crimes such as rape.

In summary, the two lead bills in this package separately address sex trafficking and violence against women and children. I plead with my colleagues to vote for this package. It will be up tomorrow morning. This package challenges brutal practices suffered by some of the most defenseless and battered in our society and worldwide. It will assist people in some of the most violent and crushing situations, both here and abroad. It will help so many.

I plead with my colleagues in these last hours when people can put up roadblocks to bills. I plead with my colleagues to say that they will not block this bill which will help so many people who are brutalized, including by sex trafficking. I plead with my colleagues, let's move this package on through. This will clear through the House by a large vote. It is something we can do for the women and children in this country as well as worldwide. It is a sensible package. It has been worked out by both sides of the political spectrum, through both parties. So, please, let's do this.

This is something we can all be very proud of passing as we go home. We can proudly say that we tried to do something, as we read increasing stories of forced sex trafficking worldwide. We can say we didn't look away by passing this bill.

Everybody is not going to like everything in these bills. But these two lead issues are so critical and important, and time is so short for us to get these through. Let's not wait until next session as increasingly more and more girls are being tricked into this practice of forced sex trafficking.

The United States can step up awareness and advocacy, and as we do, governments around the world will do the same. The U.S. has to speak first, however, and this is the bill to do the speaking. Let's do it now.

As we vote on this tomorrow morning, I ask my colleagues to vote yes on these very important pieces of legislation to help children, to help women. These are vital pieces of legislation of which we can all be proud.

Mr. President, I understand there may be some more items, so I suggest the absence of a quorum.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will call the roll.

The legislative clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. BROWNBACK. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

MAKING TECHNICAL CORRECTIONS TO TITLE X OF THE ENERGY POLICY ACT OF 1992

Mr. BROWNBACK. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent the Senate now proceed to the consideration of H.R. 2641, which is at the desk.

RYAN WHITE CARE ACT AMENDMENTS OF 2000

Mr. BROWNBACK. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent the Chair lay before the Senate a message from the House of Representatives to accompany S. 2311.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will report.

The assistant legislative clerk read as follows:

Resolved, That the bill from the Senate (S. 2311) entitled "An Act to revise and extend the Ryan White CARE Act programs under title XXVI of the Public Health Service Act, to improve access to health care and the quality of care under such programs, and to provide for the development of increased capacity to provide health care and related support services to individuals and families with HIV disease, and for other purposes", do pass with amendments.

Mr. BROWNBACK. I ask unanimous consent the Senate agree to the amendments of the House of Representatives.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. JEFFORDS. Mr. President, it gives me great pleasure that the Senate is moving to pass the Ryan White Comprehensive AIDS Resources and Emergency Act Amendments of 2000, a measure that will reauthorize a national program providing primary health care services to people living with HIV and AIDS. I especially want to commend Senators HATCH and KENNEDY for the leadership they have provided since the inauguration of the legislation establishing the Ryan White programs over a decade ago. I also want to commend Senator FRIST whose medical expertise played a critical role in key provisions of the bill and continues to be an invaluable resource to our efforts on the range of health issues that come before the Senate. I want to recognize Senator DODD for his unwavering support for this legislation and people living with HIV and AIDS. Finally, I want to acknowledge Senator ENZI's recognition of the growing burden that AIDS and HIV have placed on rural communities throughout the country and the need to address those gaps in services.

It is also important that we recognize the dedicated efforts of our colleagues in the House of Representatives. Chairman BLILEY supported this bill through its passage and provided critical guidance through the negotiations. Representatives BILIRAKIS, COBURN, and WAXMAN have demonstrated time and time again their commitment to people living with AIDS and each has worked diligently to find a compromise to ensure the continued services for people with HIV/AIDS. Representatives BROWN and DINGELL have also played important roles in shepherding this bill through the legislative process.

Since its inception in 1990, the Ryan White program has enjoyed broad bipartisan support. During the last reauthorization of the Ryan White CARE Act in 1996, the measure garnered a vote of 97 to 3 on its final passage. As evidence that strong bipartisan support continues, I am happy to report that this reauthorization bill was passed unanimously by this Chamber in June of this year. The bipartisan support for this important legislation underlines the critical need for the assistance this Act provides across the Nation.

With this reauthorization, we mark the ten years through which the Ryan White CARE Act has provided needed health care and support services to HIV positive people around the country. Titles I and II have provided much needed relief to cities and states hardest hit by this disease, while Titles III and IV have had a direct role in providing healthcare services to underserved communities. Ryan White program dollars provide the foundation of care so necessary in fighting this epidemic and have allowed States and communities around the country to successfully address the needs of people affected by HIV disease.

In recent months a number General Accounting Office studies have shown that the CARE Act is providing services and support to people with HIV who are most in need and most deserving of our help. The GAO found that CARE Act funds are reaching the infected groups that have typically been underserved, including the poor, the uninsured, women, and ethnic minorities. These groups form a majority of CARE Act clients and are being served by the CARE Act in higher proportions than their representation in the AIDS population. The GAO also found that CARE Act funds support a wide array of primary care and support services, including the provision of powerful therapeutic regimens for people with HIV/AIDS that have dramatically reduced AIDS diagnoses and deaths.

Previous efforts to improve this legislation have led to incredible reductions in the number of HIV infected babies being born each year and, equally important, to increased outreach, counseling, voluntary testing, and treatment services being provided to women with HIV infection. Between 1993 and 1998, perinatal-acquired AIDS cases declined 74 percent in the U.S. In this bill, I have continued to support efforts to reach women in need of care for their HIV disease and have included provisions to ensure that women, infants and children receive resources in accordance with the prevalence of the infection among them.

The AIDS Drug Assistance Program has been another critical success. This program has provided people with HIV and AIDS access to newly developed, highly effective therapeutics. Because of these drugs, people are maintaining their health and living longer. The AIDS death rate and the number of new AIDS cases have been dramatically reduced. From 1996 to 1998, deaths from AIDS dropped 54 percent while new AIDS cases have been reduced by 27 percent. In this reauthorization bill we have improved access for underserved and poor communities and increased support for services that help maximize the impact of these therapies.

Despite our great success, the Ryan White program remains as vital to the public health of this Nation as it was in 1990 and in 1996. While the rate of decline in new AIDS cases and deaths is leveling off, HIV infection rates continue to rise in many areas; becoming increasingly prevalent in rural and underserved urban areas; and also among women, youth, and minority communities. Local and state healthcare systems face an increasing burden of disease, despite our success in treating and caring for people living with HIV and AIDS. Rural and underserved urban areas are often unable to address the complex medical and support services needs of people with HIV infection. As the AIDS epidemic continues to expand into these areas across the country, this legislation will allow us to adapt our care systems to meet the most urgent needs in the communities hardest hit by the epidemic.

The bill being considered today was developed on a bipartisan basis, working with other Committee Members, community stakeholders and elected officials at the state and local levels from whom we sought input to ensure that we addressed the most important problems facing communities of people with HIV infection. Finally we have worked closely with our colleagues in the House of Representatives to produce this agreement. This morning, our colleagues in the House of Representatives unanimously passed this legislation that we have before us. The agreements we have reached with our House colleagues have been fully explained in an Statement of Explanation and I would like unanimous consent that this document be printed as part of the RECORD.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered. (See exhibit 1.)

This bill will double the minimum base funding available to states through the CARE Act to assist them in developing systems of care for people struggling with HIV and AIDS. The bill also includes a new supplemental state grant to target assistance to small and mid-sized metropolitan areas to help them address the increasing number of people with HIV/AIDS living outside of urban areas that receive assistance under Title I of the Act. Rural and underserved areas receive a preference for planning, early intervention, and capacity development grants under title III. In order to assist states in expanding access to appropriate HIV/AIDS therapeutics to low-income people with HIV/AIDS, a supplemental grant has been added to the AIDS Drug Assistance Program.

The bill remains primarily a system of grants to State and local jurisdictions, thereby ensuring that grantees can respond to local needs. States, EMAs, and the affected communities will still decide how to best prioritize and address the healthcare needs of their HIV-positive citizens. This bill reinforces the ability of States and EMAs to identify and meet local needs.

Finally, in recognition of the changing nature of the epidemic, I have asked the Institute of Medicine to complete a study of the financing and delivery of primary care and support services for low income, uninsured, and under-insured individuals with HIV disease, within 21 months after the enactment of this Act. Changes in HIV surveillance and case reporting, and the effects of these changes on program funding, will be included in this study. The recommendations from this study will help Congress and the Secretary of Health and Human Services to ensure the most effective and efficient use of Federal funds for HIV and AIDS care and support.

I am proud that this bill has progressed through the Congress and that we will see this bill become law this year. The people struggling to overcome the challenges of HIV and AIDS must continue to benefit from high quality medical care and access to life-saving drugs. We have made incredible progress in the fight against HIV/AIDS and I want to ensure that every person in America in need of assistance benefits from our tremendous advances.

Many groups and individuals have contributed significantly to crafting this bill, but I want to acknowledge those at the Health Resources and Services Administration. All of the groups united under the umbrella of the National Organizations Responding to AIDS (NORA) deserve recognition. Representing a diverse community of people with AIDS, CARE Act service providers, and administrative agencies, NORA clearly and effectively communicated to Congress the needs and priorities of their constituents.

I also want to thank several staff members who have worked long and hard to craft this bill and to address the concerns and needs of the affected communities. Stephanie Robinson and Idalia Sanchez, for Senator KENNEDY, were key to reaching agreement on this bill and have provided invaluable assistance and support throughout the development of this legislation. Dave Larson and Mary Sumpter Johnson, of Senator FRIST's office, for their support for the needs of rural and underserved communities throughout the nation. Similarly, Jeannie Ireland with Senator DODD's office, Helen Rhee, working for Senator DEWINE, Libby Rolfe, for Mr. SESSIONS, and Raissa Geary and Mary Jordan in Senator ENZI's office, provided valuable input. Without the efforts of these staff members, we would not have such a strong, well-balanced, and targeted reauthorization bill before us today. I want to also express my gratitude and thanks to Bill Baird, Legislative Counsel, who worked tirelessly to craft legislative language. Finally, I want to acknowledge the contributions of Sean Donohue and William Oscar Fleming of my staff who guidance of this effort from the beginning has resulted in a bill that enjoys broad bipartisan support and which most importantly meets the pressing needs of people with HIV and AIDS.

RYAN WHITE CARE ACT AMENDMENTS OF 2000—MANAGERS' STATEMENT OF EXPLANATION

The Ryan White CARE Act Amendments of 2000 reauthorize Title XXVI of the Public Health Service Act to ensure that individuals living with HIV and AIDS receive health care and related support services. The legislation contains authorization for appropriations and programmatic changes to ensure the CARE Act programs respond to evolving demographic trends in the HIV/AIDS epidemic and advances in treatment and care.

In March, 1990, Congress enacted the Ryan White CARE Act, honoring Ryan White, a young man who taught the Nation to respond to the HIV/AIDS epidemic with hope and action rather than fear. By the spring of 1990, over 128,000 people had been diagnosed with AIDS in the United States and 78,000 had died of the disease. The CARE Act was reauthorized in 1996, as the epidemic spread to more than 600,000 Americans diagnosed with AIDS and amidst the nationwide recognition that CARE Act programs were indispensable to the care and treatment of Americans with HIV/AIDS.

The CARE Act Amendments of 2000 marks the second reauthorization of the CARE Act. In the last twenty years, the HIV/AIDS epidemic has claimed over 420,000 American men, women, and children. Today, the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention estimates that there are currently between 800,000 and 900,000 persons living with HIV in the United States, with 40,000 new infections annually.

While there is still no cure, the CARE Act has been instrumental in responding to the public health, social and economic burdens of the HIV/AIDS epidemic. However, the steady expansion and changed demographics of the epidemic, as well as the improved survival time for people living with AIDS, are placing increasing stress on State and local health care systems, community based organizations and families providing care. Most importantly, the epidemic is expanding beyond major cities to smaller cities and rural regions, and disproportionately affecting women, communities of color, children and youth.

The Ryan White CARE Act Amendments of 2000 preserves the best and proven features of existing CARE Act programs. But the CARE Act Amendments of 2000 also makes important and substantial reforms to respond to the significant changes in the HIV/AIDS epidemic of the last 5 years.

The Organization of Services Under the CARE Act Amendments of 2000 is as follows:

Title I. Emergency Relief for Areas with Substantial Need for Services: Provides emergency relief grants to 51 eligible metropolitan areas (EMAs) disproportionately affected by the HIV epidemic to provide primary care and HIV-related support services to people with HIV and AIDS. Half of the Title I funding is distributed by formula; the remaining half is distributed competitively, based on the demonstration of severity of need and other criteria.

Planning Council membership has been revised to include HIV prevention providers, homeless and housing service providers, and representatives of prisoners. A third of Planning Council members must be individuals with HIV/AIDS receiving care who are not officers, employees or consultants to Title I grantees.

Title II. CARE Grant Program: Provides formula grants to States, District of Columbia, Puerto Rico and U.S. Territories to improve the quality of health care and support services for individuals with HIV disease and their families. The funds are used: to provide medical support services, to continue health insurance payments, to provide home care services, and, through the AIDS Drug Assistance Programs (ADAP), to provide medications necessary for the care of these individuals. Supplemental formula grants are awarded to States with "emerging communities" which are ineligible for grants under Title I.

Subtitle B provides discretionary grants to States for the reduction of perinatal transmission of HIV, and for HIV counseling, testing, and outreach to pregnant women. Subtitle C provides discretionary grants to States for partner notification, counseling and referral services.

Title III. Early Intervention Services: Funds nonprofit entities providing primary care and outpatient early intervention services, including case management, counseling, testing, referrals, and clinical and diagnostic services to individuals diagnosed with HIV. The unfunded program of State formula grants in current law is repealed.

Title IV. Other Programs and Activities: Provides grants for comprehensive services to children, youth, and women living with HIV and their families. Such services include primary, specialty and psychosocial care, as well as HIV outreach and prevention activities. Grantees must demonstrate linkages to, and provide clients with access and education on, HIV/AIDS clinical research.

Title IV newly authorizes the AIDS Education and Training Centers (AETC), a network of 14 regional centers conducting clinical HIV education and training of health providers, to provide prenatal and gynecological care. The HIV/AIDS Dental Reimbursement program, covering uncompensated oral health care for patients with HIV/AIDS, is expanded to provide community-based care in underserved areas.

Under Subtitle B, general provisions authorize CDC data collection of CARE Act planning and evaluation, enhanced inter-agency coordination of HIV services and prevention, development of a plan for the case management of prisoners with HIV, and administrative provisions related to audits, and a plan for simplification of CARE Act grant disbursements.

Title V. General Provisions: Authorizes Institute of Medicine (IOM) studies and expansion of Federal support for the development of rapid HIV tests. Makes necessary and technical corrections in Title XXVI of the Public Health Service Act.

A summary of selected provisions is as follows:

Use of HIV Case Data in Formula Grants: In order to target funding more accurately to reflect the HIV/AIDS epidemic, the Managers have revised and updated the Title I and Title II formulas to make use of data on cases of HIV infection as well as of AIDS. In Fiscal Year (FY) 2005, HIV and AIDS case data is intended to be used in the Title I and Title II formulas.

However, no later than July 1, 2004, the Secretary shall determine whether HIV case data, as reported to and confirmed by the Director of CDC, is sufficiently accurate and reliable from all eligible areas and States for such use in the formula. The Secretary shall also consider the findings of the Institute of Medicine (IOM) study undertaken under section 501(b).

If the Secretary makes an adverse determination regarding HIV case data, the Managers intend that only AIDS case data will be used in FY2005 formula allocations. The Secretary shall also provide grants and technical assistance to States and eligible areas to ensure that accurate and reliable HIV case data is available no later than FY2007.

Planning and priority setting: The Managers have strengthened the capacity of EMAs and States to plan, prioritize, and allocate funds, based on the size and demographic characteristics of the populations with HIV disease in the eligible area. Planning, priority setting, and funding allocation processes must take into account the demographics of the local HIV/AIDS epidemic, existing disparities in access HIV-related health care, and resulting adverse health outcomes. It is the intent of the Managers that CARE Act dollars more closely follow the shifting trends in the local epidemic and address disparities in health care access and health outcomes as well as the need for capacity development within the local and State HIV health care infrastructures.

The Managers intend both EMAs and States to develop strategies to bring into and retain in care those individuals who are aware of their HIV status but are not receiving services. As part of this process, the Managers place the highest priority on EMAs and States focusing on eliminating disparities in access and services among affected subpopulations and historically underserved communities. The Managers recognize, however, that the relative availability or lack of HIV prevalence data will be reflected in the scope, goals, timetable and allocation of funds for implementation of the strategy.

The Managers also expect the Secretary to collaborate with Titles I and II grant recipients and providers to develop epidemiologic measures and tools for use in identifying persons with HIV infection who know their HIV status but are not in care. The Managers recognize the difficulty the EMAs and States may experience in identifying persons with HIV infection who are not in care and who may be unknown to any health or social support system. The efforts on the part of EMAs and States to accomplish these important tasks, however, should not be delayed until this process is complete. Instead, the Managers expect Titles I and II grant recipients to establish and implement strategies responsive to these urgent needs before the development of nationally uniform measures, to the extent that is practicable and to which necessary prevalence data is reasonably available.

The Managers have also authorized outreach activities in Titles I and II intended to identify individuals with HIV disease know their HIV status but are not receiving services. The intent is to ensure that EMAs and States understand that outreach activities which are consistent with early intervention services and necessary to implement the aforementioned strategies, are appropriate uses of Titles I and II funds. It is not the Managers' intent that such activities supplant or otherwise duplicate activities such as case finding, surveillance and social marketing campaigns currently funded and administered by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC). Instead, this authorization reflects the urgency of increasing the coordination between HIV prevention and HIV care and treatment services in all CARE Act programs.

Hold harmless provisions: The hold-harmless provisions are intended to minimize loss and stabilize systems of care in EMAs and States, while assuring that funds are allocated in Titles I and II to reflect the current distribution and epidemiology of the epidemic.

The Managers have revised the Title I hold harmless to limit a potential loss in an EMA's formula allocation to a small percentage of the amount allocated to the eligible area in the previous (or base) year. An EMA may lose no more than 15 percent of its base formula allocation over five years, beginning with 2 percent in the first year and increasing in subsequent years. If the Secretary determines that data on HIV prevalence are accurate and reliable for use in determining Title I formula grants for Fiscal Year 2005, all EMAs may lose no more than 2 percent of their Fiscal Year 2004 formula allocation in that year.

Should an EMA experience a decline in its Title I formula allocation followed by an intervening year in which there is no decline, its losses in any subsequent, nonconsecutive year of decline would once again be limited to 2 percent (i.e., the intervening year "resets the clock").

The Managers intend to ensure that essential primary care and support services are not compromised by short-term fluctuations in AIDS case counts. Because no new EMA is expected by HRSA's Bureau of HIV/AIDS to require the hold harmless in the first three or four years of this reauthorization period, the Managers expect this policy will shield all eligible areas, save those currently requiring the hold harmless, from any meaningful loss in Title I formula funding.

Under the Title II holds harmless, a State or territory may lose no more than 1 percent from the previous fiscal year amounts, or 5 percent over the 5-year reauthorization period. This protection extends to base Title II funding (which excludes funds for AIDS Drug Assistance Programs (ADAP)), as well as to overall Title II funding.

Women, child, infants, and youth set-aside: The Managers are aware of the rising incidence of HIV among youth and women, particularly women of color, and recognize the challenges in assuring them access to primary care and support services for HIV and AIDS. The Managers intend to increase the availability of primary care and health-related supportive services under Title I and Title II for each of the four groups described in the set-aside. Youth are added as a new category within this set-aside. The Managers intend the term "youth" to include persons between the ages of 13 and 24, and "children" to include those under the age of 13, including infants.

The Managers clarify that the set-asides for women, infants, children, and youth with HIV disease be allocated proportionally, based on the percentage of the local HIV-infected population that each group represents. The Managers intend that the States and EMAs continue to make every effort to reach and serve women, infants, children, and youth living with HIV/AIDS by allocating sufficient resources under Titles I and II to serve each of these populations. The Managers also recognize that these priority populations often comprise a greater proportion of HIV cases rather than AIDS cases in a local area. This distinction should be taken into account where necessary prevalence data is reasonably available.

The Managers are aware that these populations may also have access to HIV care through other parts of Title XXVI, Medicaid, State Children's Health Insurance Program (CHIP), and other Federal and State programs. Therefore, the requirement to proportionally allocate funds provided under Title II to each of these populations may be waived for States which reasonably demonstrate that these populations are receiving adequate care.

Capacity development: Titles I, II and III of this legislation provide a new focus on strengthening the capacity of minority communities and underserved areas where HIV/AIDS is having a disproportionate impact. Currently, many underserved urban and rural areas are not able to compete successfully for planning grants and early intervention service grants due to the lack of infrastructure and experience with the Ryan White CARE Act programs. This gap in services available is increasingly important, as the HIV and AIDS epidemic extends into rural communities. In addition to authorizing capacity development under Titles I and II, the Managers establish a preference for rural areas under Title III that will allow program administrators to target capacity development grants, planning grants, and the delivery of primary care services to rural communities with a growing need for HIV services. However, urban areas are not excluded from consideration for future grants nor is funding reduced to current grants in urban areas.

Quality management: The Managers recognize the importance of having CARE Act grantees ensure that quality services are provided to people with HIV and that quality management activities are conducted on an ongoing basis. Quality management programs are intended to serve grantees in evaluating and improving the quality of primary care and health-related supportive services provided under this act. The quality management program should accomplish a threefold purpose: (1) assist direct service medical providers funded through the CARE Act in assuring that funded services adhere to established HIV clinical practices and Public Health Service (PHS) guidelines to the extent possible; (2) ensure that strategies for improvements to quality medical care include vital health-related supportive services in achieving appropriate access to and adherence with HIV medical care; and (3) ensure that available demographic, clinical, and health care utilization information is used to monitor the spectrum of HIV-related illnesses and trends in the local epidemic.

The Managers expect the Secretary to provide States with guidance and technical assistance for establishing quality management programs, including disseminating such models as have been developed by States and are already being utilized by Title II programs and in clinical practice environments. Furthermore, the Managers intend that the Secretary provide clarification and guidance regarding the distinction between use of CARE Act funds for such program expenditures that are covered as either planning and evaluation and funds for program support costs. It is not the Managers' intent to divert current program resources or to reassign current program support costs or clinical quality programs to new cost areas, if they are an integral part of a State's current quality management efforts.

Program support costs are described as any expenditure related to the provision of delivering or receiving health services supported by CARE Act funds. As applied to the clinical quality programs, these costs include, but are not limited to, activities such as chart review, peer-to-peer review activities, data collection to measure health indicators or outcomes, or other types of activities related to the development or implementation of a clinical quality improvement program. Planning and evaluation costs are related to the collection and analysis of system and process indicators for purposes of determining the impact and effectiveness of funded health-related support services in providing access to and support of individuals and communities within the health delivery system.

Early intervention services: The Managers authorize early intervention services as eligible services under Titles I and II under certain circumstances. The Managers intend to allow grantees to provide certain early intervention services, such as HIV counseling, testing, and referral services, to individuals at high risk for HIV infection, in accordance with State or EMA planning activities. The Managers recognize the range of organizations that may be eligible to provide early intervention services, including other grantees under titles I, II and III such as community based organizations (CBOs) that act as points of entry into the health care system for traditionally underserved and minority populations.

The Managers believe that referral relationships maintained by providers of early intervention services are essential to increasing the numbers of people with HIV/

AIDS who are identified and to bringing them into care earlier in the progression of their disease.

Health-care related support services: The Managers wish to stress the importance of CARE Act funds in meeting the health care needs of persons and families with HIV disease. The Act requires support services provided through CARE Act funds to be health care related. States and EMAs should ensure that support services meet the objective of increasing access to health care and ongoing adherence with primary care needs. The Managers reaffirm the critical relationship between support service provision and positive health outcomes.

Title I planning council duties and membership: The Managers have amended numerous aspects of CARE Act programs to enhance the coordination between HIV prevention and HIV/AIDS care and treatment services. In this case, Planning Council membership of the providers of HIV prevention services will help assure this coordination. To improve representation of underserved communities, providers of services to homeless populations and representatives of formerly incarcerated individuals with HIV disease are included in planning council membership. It is the intent of the Managers that the needs of all communities affected by HIV/AIDS and all providers working within the service areas be represented. The Managers also intend the Planning Councils more adequately reflect the gender and racial demographics of the HIV/AIDS population within their respective EMAs.

The Managers also intend that patients and consumers of Title I services constitute a substantial proportion of Planning Council memberships. The prohibited of officers, employees and consultants is not intended to impede the participation of qualified, motivated volunteers with Title I grantees from serving on Planning Councils where they do not maintain significant financial relationships with such grantees. In contrast to such significant financial relationships, volunteers may be reimbursed reasonable incidental costs, including for training and transportation, which help to facilitate their important contribution to the Planning Councils.

To ensure that new Planning Council members are adequately prepared for full participation in meetings, the Managers direct the Secretary to ensure that proper training and guidance is provided to members of the Councils. The Managers also expect Planning Councils to provide assistance, such as transportation and childcare, to facilitate the participation of consumers, particularly those from affected subpopulations and historically underserved communities.

Consistent with the "sunshine" policies of the Federal Advisory Committee Act (FACA), all meetings of the Planning Councils shall be open to the public and be held after adequate notice to the public. Detailed minutes, records, reports, agenda, and other relevant documents should also be available to the public. The Managers intend for such documents to be available for inspection and copying at a single location, including posting on the Internet.

Title I supplemental: In order to target funding to areas in greatest need of assistance, severity of need is given a greater weight of 33 percent in the award of Title I supplemental grants. The Managers intend that Title I supplemental awards are not intended to be allocated on the basis of formula grant allocations. Instead, such supplemental awards are to be directed principally to those eligible areas with "severe need," or the greatest or expanding public health challenges in confronting the epidemic. The Managers have included additional factors to be considered in the assessment of severe need, including the current prevalence of HIV/AIDS, and the degree of increasing and unmet needs for services. Additionally, the Managers believe that syphilis, hepatitis B and hepatitis C should be regarded as important co-morbidities to HIV/AIDS.

It is the Managers' strong view that HRSA's Bureau of HIV/AIDS should employ standard, quantitative measures to the maximum extent possible in lieu of narrative self-reporting when awarding supplemental awards. The Managers therefore renew the Bureau's obligation to develop in a timely manner a mechanism for determining severe need upon the basis of national, quantitative incidence data. In this regard, the Managers recognize that adequate and reliable data on HIV prevalence may not be uniformly available in all eligible areas on the date of enactment. It is noted, however, that "HIV disease" under the CARE Act encompasses both persons living with AIDS as well as persons diagnosed as HIV positive who have not developed AIDS.

Title II base minimum funding: The minimum Title II base award is increased in order to increase the funding available to States for the capacity development of health system programs and infrastructure. The Federated States of Micronesia and the Republic of Palau are included as entities eligible to receive Title II funds, in recognition of the need to establish a minimum level of funding to assist in building HIV infrastructure.

Title II public participation: The Managers urge States to strengthen public participation in the Ryan White Title II planning process. While the Managers do not intend that States be mandated to consult with all entities participating in the Title I planning process, reference to such entities is intended to provide guidance to the States that such entities are important constituencies which the States should endeavor to include in their planning processes. Moreover, States may demonstrate compliance with the new requirement of an enhanced process of public participation by providing evidence that existing mechanisms for consumer and community input provide for the participation of such entities. The intent is to allow States to utilize the optimal public advisory planning process, such as special planning bodies or standing advisory groups on HIV/AIDS, for their particular population and circumstances.

The Managers are also aware of the difficulties that some States with limited resources may encounter in convening public hearings over large geographic or rural areas and encourage the Secretary to work with these States to develop appropriate processes for public input, and to consider such limitations when enforcing these requirements.

Title II HIV care consortia: The Manager intend that the States continue to work with local consortia to ensure that they identify potential disparities in access to HIV care services at the local level, with a special emphasis on those experiencing disparities in access to care, historically underserved populations, and HIV infected persons not in care. However, the Managers do not intend that States and/or consortia be mandated to consult with all entities participating in the Title I planning process. Rather, reference to such entities is intended to provide guidance to the States that such entities are important constituencies which the States should endeavor to include in their planning processes.

Title II "emerging communities" supplement: There continues to be a growing need to address the geographic expansion of this epidemic, and this Act continues the efforts made during the last reauthorization to direct resources and services to areas that are particularly underserved, including rural areas and metropolitan areas with significant AIDS cases that are not eligible for Title I funding. A supplemental formula grant program is created within Title II to meet HIV care and support needs in non-EMA areas. There are a large number of areas within States that do not meet the definition of a Title I EMA but that, nevertheless, experience significant numbers of people living with AIDS. This provision stipulates that these "emerging communities," defined as cities with between 500 and 1,999 reported AIDS cases in the most recent 5-year period, be allocated 50 percent of new appropriations to address the growing need in these areas. Funding for this provision is triggered when the allocations to carry out Part B, excluding amounts allocated under section 2618(a)(2)(I), are $20,000,000 in excess of funds available for this part in fiscal year 2000, excluding amounts allocated under section 2618(a)(2)(I). States can apply for these supplemental awards by describing the severity of need and the manner in which funds are to be used.

The Managers intend to acknowledge the challenges faced by many areas with a significant burden of HIV and AIDS and a lack of health care infrastructure or resources to provide HIV care services. This supplemental program allows the Secretary to make grants to States to address HIV service needs in these underserved areas. The Managers understand the necessity to continue to support existing and expanding critical Title II base services.

AIDS Drug Assistance Program supplemental grant and expanded services: Under this Act, the AIDS Drug Assistance Program (ADAP) has been strengthened to assist States in a number of areas. The Secretary is authorized to reserve 3 percent of ADAP appropriations for discretionary supplemental ADAP grants which shall be awarded in accordance with severity of need criteria established by the Secretary. Such criteria shall account for existing eligibility standards, formulary composition and the number of patients with incomes at or below 200 percent of poverty. The Managers also encourage the Secretary to consider such factors as the State's ability to remove restrictions on eligibility based on current medical conditions or income restrictions and to provide HIV therapeutics consistent with PHS guidelines.

States are also required to match the Federal supplement at a rate of 1:4. The Managers expect the State to continue to maintain current levels of effort in its ADAP funding. The Managers intend that the 25 percent State match required to receive funds under this section be implemented in a flexible manner that recognizes the variations between Federal, State, and programmatic fiscal years.

In addition, up to 5 percent of ADAP funds will be allowed to support services that directly encourage, support, and enhance adherence with treatment regimens, including medical monitoring, as well as purchase health insurance plans where those plans provided fuller and more cost-effective coverage of AIDS therapies and other needed health care coverage. However, up to 10 percent of ADAP funds may be expended for such purposes if the State demonstrates that such services are essential and do not diminish access to therapeutics. Finally, the Managers recognize that existing Federal policy provides adequate guidelines to states for carrying out provisions under this section.

Partner notification, perinatal transmission, and counseling services: Discretionary grants are authorized under this Act for partner notification, counseling and referral services. The Managers have also expanded the existing grant program to States for the reduction of perinatal transmission of HIV, and for HIV counseling, testing, and outreach to pregnant woman. Funding for perinatal HIV transmission reduction activities is expanded, with additional grants available to States with newborn testing laws or States with significant reductions in perinatal HIV transmission. In addition, this Act further specifies information to be conveyed to individuals receiving HIV positive test results in order to reduce risk of HIV transmission through sex or needle-sharing practices.

Coordination of coverage and services: This Act also strengthens the requirements made on the States and EMAs in a number of areas aimed at improving the coordination of coverage and services. Grantees must access the availability of other funding sources, such as Medicaid and the State Children's Health Insurance Program (SCHIP) and improve efforts to ensure that CARE Act funds are coordinated with other available payers.

Titles II and IV administrative expenses: The administrative cap for the directly funded Title III programs is increased. The administrative cap for Title III grants is raised from 7.5 percent to 10 percent to correspond with the 10 percent cap on individual contractors in Title I. The Secretary is directed to review administrative and program support expenses for Title IV, in consultation with grantees. In order to assure that children, youth, women, and families have access to quality HIV-related health and support services and research opportunities, the Secretary is directed to work with Title IV grantees to review expenses related to administrative, program support, and direct service-related activities.

Title IV access to research: This Act removes the requirement that Title IV grantees enroll a "significant number" of patients in research projects. Title IV provides an important link between women, children, and families affected by HIV/AIDS and HIV-related clinical research programs. The "significant number" requirement is removed here to eliminate the incentive for providers to inappropriately encourage or pressure patients to enroll in research programs.

To maintain appropriate access to research opportunities, providers are required to develop better documentation of the linkages between care and research. The Secretary of Health and Human Services (HHS), through the National Institutes of Health (NIH), is also directed to examine the distribution and availability of HIV-related clinical programs for purposes of enhancing and expanding access to clinical trials, including trials funded by NIH, CDC and private sponsors. The Managers encourage the Secretary to assure that NIH-sponsored HIV-related trials are responsive to the need to coordinate the health services received by participants with the achievement of research objectives. Nor do the Managers intend this requirement to require the redistribution of funds for such research projects.

Part F Dental Reimbursement Program: The Managers have established new grants for community-based health care to support collaborative efforts between dental education programs and community-based providers directed at providing oral health care to patients with HIV disease in currently underserved areas and communities without dental education programs. Although the Dental Program has been tremendously successful, there is still a large HIV/AIDS population that has not benefitted because there is not a dental education institution participating in their area. These patients are also in need of dental services that could be provided at community sites if more community-based providers would partner with a dental school or residency program. In these partnerships, dental students or residents could provide treatment for HIV/AIDS patients in underserved communities under the direction of a community-based dentist who would serve as adjunct faculty. By encouraging dental educational institutions to partner with community-based providers, the Managers intend to address the unmet need in these areas by ensuring that dental treatment for the HIV/AIDS population is available in all areas of the country, not just where dental schools are located.

Technical assistance and guidance: The Managers reaffirm the Secretary's responsibility in providing needed guidance and tools to grantees in assisting them in carrying out new requirements under this Act. The Secretary is required to work with States and EMAs to establish epidemiologic measures and tools for use in identifying the number of individuals with HIV infection, especially those who are not in care. The legislation requests an IOM study to assist the Secretary in providing this advice to grantees.

The Managers understand that the Secretary has convened a Public Health Service Working Group on HIV Treatment Information Dissemination, which has produced recommendations and a strategy for the dissemination of HIV treatment information to health care providers and patients. Recognizing the importance of such a strategy, the Managers intend that the Secretary issue and begin implementation of the strategy to improve the quality of care received by people living with HIV/AIDS.

Data Collection through CDC: The Managers believe that an additional authorization for HIV surveillance activities under the CDC will serve to advance the purposes of the CARE Act. To better identify and bring individuals with HIV/AIDS into care, States and cities may use such funding to enhance their HIV/AIDS reporting systems and expand case finding, surveillance, social marketing campaigns, and other prevention service programs. Notwithstanding its strong interest in improving the coordination between HIV prevention and HIV care and treatment services, the Managers intend that this enhanced funding for CDC and its grantees ensure that CARE Act programs and funds not duplicate or be diverted to activities currently funded and administered by the CDC.

Coordination: This Act requires the Secretary to submit a plan to Congress concerning the coordination of Health Resources and Services Administration (HRSA), Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration (SAMHSA), and Health Care Financing Administration (HCFA), to enhance the continuity of care and prevention services for individuals with HIV disease or those at risk of such disease. The Managers believe that much greater effort is required to ensure that the provision of HIV prevention and care services becomes as seamless as possible, and that coordination be pursued at the Federal level, in the States and local communities to eliminate any administrative barriers to the efficient provision of high quality services to individuals with HIV disease.

A second plan for submission to Congress focuses on the medical case management and provision of support services to persons with HIV released from Federal or State prisons.

Administrative simplification: The Managers intend for the Secretary of HHS to explore opportunities to reduce the administrative requirements of Ryan CARE Act grantees through simplifying and streamlining the administrative processes required of grantees and providers under Titles I and II. In consultation with grantees and service providers of both parts, the Secretary is directed to (1) develop a plan for coordinating the disbursement of appropriations for grants under Title I with the disbursement of appropriations for grants under Title II, (2) explore the impact of biennial application for Titles I and II on the efficiency of administration and the administrative burden imposed on grantees and providers under Titles I and II, and (3) develop a plan for simplifying the application process for grants under Titles I and II. It is the intent of the Managers to improve the ability to grantees to comply with administrative requirements while decreasing the amount of staff time and resources spent on administrative requirements.

Program and service studies: The Managers request that the Secretary, through the IOM, examine changing trends in the HIV/AIDS epidemic and the financing and delivery of primary care and support services for low-income, uninsured individuals with HIV disease. The Secretary is directed to make recommendation regarding the most effective use of scarce Federal resources. The purpose of the study is to examine key factors associated with the effective and efficient financing and delivery of HIV services (including the quality of services, health outcomes, and cost-effectiveness). The Managers expect that the study would include examination of CARE Act financing of services in relation to existing public sector financing and private health coverage; general demographics and comorbidities of individuals with HIV disease; regional variations in the financing and costs of HIV service delivery; the availability and utility of health outcomes measures and data for measuring quality of Ryan White funded service; and available epidemiologic tools and data sets necessary for local and national resource planning and allocation decisions, including an assessment of implementation of HIV infection reporting, as it impacts these factors.

The Managers also require an IOM study focuses on determining the number of newborns with HIV, where the HIV status of the mother is unknown; perinatal HIV transmission reduction efforts in States; and barriers to routine HIV testing of pregnant women and newborns when the mothers' HIV status is unknown. The study is intended to provide States with recommendations on improving perinatal prevention services and reducing the number of pediatric HIV/AIDS cases resulting from perinatal transmission.

Development of Rapid HIV Test: The Managers encourage the Secretary to expedite the availability of rapid HIV tests which are safe, effective, reliable and affordable. The Managers intend that the National Institutes of Health expand research which may lead to such tests. The Managers also intend that the Director of CDC should take primary responsibility, in conjunction with the Commissioner of Food and Drugs, for a report to Congress on the public health need and recommendations for the expedited review of rapid HIV tests. The Managers believe that the Food and Drug Administration should account for the particular applications and urgent need for rapid HIV tests, as articulated by public health experts and the CDC, when determining the specific requirements to which such tests will be held prior to marketing.

Department of Veterans Affairs: The Managers note that the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs is the largest single direct provider of HIV care and services in the country. Over 18,000 veterans received HIV care at VA facilities in 1999. Veterans with HIV infection are eligible to participate in Ryan White Title I and Title II programs when they meet eligibility requirements set by EMAs and States, whose plans for the delivery of services must account for the availability of VA services. VA facilities are eligible providers of HIV health and support services where appropriate. The Managers expect that HRSA's Bureau of HIV/AIDS shall encourage Ryan White grantees to develop collaborations between providers and VA facilities to optimize coordination and access to care to all persons with HIV/AIDS.

International HIV/AIDS Initiatives: The Managers note that the CARE Act provides a model of service delivery and Federal partnership with States, cities and community-based organizations which should prove valuable in global efforts to combat the HIV/AIDS epidemic. The Managers strongly encourage the Secretary, the Bureau of HIV/AIDS at HRSA, and the CDC to provide technical assistance available to other countries which has already proven invaluable in helping to limit the suffering caused by HIV/AIDS. It is the Managers' hope that the hard-earned knowledge and experience gained in this country can benefit people with HIV/AIDS overseas.

Mr. KENNEDY. Mr. President, it is a privilege to support the CARE Act Amendments of 2000. I commend the many Senators who worked hard and well on the issue of HIV and AIDS. Senator JEFFORDS and Senator HATCH have championed this issue since 1990 when the CARE Act was first proposed, and Senator FRIST has been an impressive leader in recent years. Their leadership has and the leadership of many others has raised our collective conscience about the HIV/AIDS crisis. Our goal in this legislation is to ensure that citizens with HIV disease continue to receive the benefits of advances in therapies and a system of support that has achieved remarkable success in recent years.

For 20 years, America has struggled with the devastation caused by HIV/AIDS. It is a virus that knows no color, religion, political affiliation, or income status. AIDS continues to kill brothers and sisters, children and parents, friends and loved ones—all in the prime of their lives. This epidemic knows no geographic boundaries and has no mercy on those it strikes. HIV/AIDS has become one of the greatest public health challenges of our times. The CARE Act has directed needed resources to accelerate research, develop effective therapies, and support the 900,000 persons and families living with HIV/AIDS in America, and it clearly deserves to be extended and expanded.

AIDS has claimed over 420,000 lives so far in the United States and it continues to claim the most vulnerable among us, especially women, youth, and minorities. We have good reason to be encouraged by medical advances over the past ten years, but we still face an epidemic that kills over 47,000 people each year. Like other epidemics before it, AIDS is now hitting hardest in areas where knowledge about the disease is scarce and poverty is high. The epidemic has dealt a particularly severe blow on communities of color, which account for 73 percent of all new infections. Women account for 30 percent of new infections. Over half of new infections occur in persons under 25.

An estimated 34 percent of AIDS cases in the U.S. occur in rural areas, and this percentage is growing. As the crisis continues year after year, it becomes increasingly difficult for anyone to claim that AIDS is someone else's problem. We all share in a very real way in being touched by the epidemic.

Fortunately, we have been able to slow the progression of this devastating disease. Many people living with HIV and AIDS are alive today and leading longer and healthier lives. AIDS deaths declined by 20 percent between 1997 and 1998, thanks to advances in care and effective new treatments. The smallest increase in new AIDS cases—11 percent—took place in 1999, compared with an 18 percent increase in new cases just a year before. We are helping people earlier in their disease progression and keeping them healthier longer.

Nevertheless, an estimated 30 percent of persons living with AIDS do not have insurance coverage to pay for costly treatments. As a result, heavy demands are placed on community-based organizations and state and local governments. For these Americans, the CARE Act Amendments of 2000 will continue to provide the only means to obtain the care and treatment they need.

In Massachusetts, there has been a 77 percent decline in AIDS and HIV-related deaths since 1995. But the number of cases increased in women by 11 percent from 1997 to 1998. Fifty-five percent of persons living with AIDS in the state are persons of color. Massachusetts is fortunate to have a state budget that provides funding for primary care, prevention, and surveillance efforts. But no state is economically sufficient enough to provide the significant financial resources needed to enable all persons living with HIV disease to obtain the medical and supportive services they need without the Ryan White CARE Act.

The CARE Act will continue to bring hope to the over 600,000 individuals it serves each year in dealing with this devastating disease. This reauthorization builds on past accomplishments, while recognizing the challenge of ensuring access drug treatment for all who need it, reducing health disparities in vulnerable populations, and improve the distribution and quality of services.

Funds totaling $3.4 billion over the next five years will target the hardest hit 51 metropolitan areas in the country under Title I of the Act. Local planning and priority-setting under Title I assures that each of the eligible metropolitan areas responds to local HIV/AIDS needs. Safeguards are put in place to ensure that Title I areas are protected from drastic shifts in funding that can destabilize their HIV care infrastructure by limiting these losses to a maximum of 15 percent over its FY 2000 levels without compounded the effects of the loss from year to year. We also have assured EMAs the opportunity to reset the clock each time they find they do not need hold harmless protection in order to allow them the needed time and resources to plan, prioritize, and redirect resources in response to major shifts that may occur in funding and in the local epidemic.

Under Title II, $4.4 billion over the next five years will provide emergency relief to assist states in developing their HIV health care infrastructure. These funds will also provide life-sustaining drugs to over 61,000 persons each month. In addition, these funds will provide assistance for emerging communities that are increasingly affected by HIV/AIDS, but do not currently qualify for additional assistance, while assuring that base Title II funding losses do not occur in any fiscal year for any state or territory.

Title III programs will receive $730 million during the five year period to assist over 200 local health centers and other primary health care providers in communities with a significant and disproportionate need for HIV care. Many of these communities are located in the hardest hit areas, serving low income communities. An additional $30 million in funds under Title III will provide planning and capacity development grants for hard-to-reach urban and rural communities.

In Title IV, $2700 million over the next five years will be used to meet the specific needs of women, infants, youth, and families. An additional $42 million will assure that oral health care is available to persons with HIV/AIDS who are uninsured. One hundred and forty-one million dollars in funding over the five-year period will assure that we continue our investment in improving the skills of the healthcare workforce.

In total, the CARE Act will authorize over $8.5 billion in funding to fight HIV/AIDS over the next five years.

I commend the dedication of the AIDS community and the Administration in working with Congress over the past year to bring forward the best possible legislation. I also commend Sean Donohue and William Fleming of Senator JEFFORDS' staff, Dave Larsen of Senator FRIST's staff, and Stephanie Robinson and Idalia Sanchez of my staff for their effective work on this landmark legislation.

The Senate's action today reaffirms our long-standing commitment to provide greater help to those with HIV/AIDS and to families touched by this devastating disease. America has the resources to win the battle against AIDS. We must face this disease with the same courage demonstrated by Ryan White, the young man with hemophilia who contracted AIDS through blood transfusions, and for whom the original act was named. Ryan White touched the world's heart through his valiant effort to speak out against the ignorance and discrimination faced by persons living with AIDS. This legislation carries on his brave work and I urge the Senate to approve it.

Mr. FRIST. Mr. President, I am pleased to acknowledge the final Senate passage of the Ryan White CARE Act Amendments of 2000 today, which follows the actions of House of Representatives earlier this morning. This important bill forms a unique partnership between federal, local, and state governments; non-profit community organizations, health care and supportive service providers. For the last decade, this Act has successfully provided much needed assistance in health care costs and support services for low-income, uninsured and underinsured individuals with HIV/AIDS.

Through programs such as the AIDS Drug Assistance Program, ADAP, which provides access to pharmaceuticals, the CARE Act has helped extend and even save lives. Last year alone, nearly 100,000 people living with HIV and AIDS received access to drug therapy because of the CARE Act. Half the people served by the CARE Act have family incomes of less than $10,000 annually, which is less than the $12,000 annual average cost of new drug "cocktails" for treatment. The CARE Act is critical in ensuring that the number of people living with AIDS continues to increase, as effective new drug therapies are keeping HIV-infected persons healthy longer and dramatically reducing the death rate. Investments in enabling patients with HIV to live healthier and more productive lives have helped to reduce overall health costs. For example, the National Center for Health Statistics reported that the nation has seen a 30 percent decline in HIV related hospitalizations, producing nearly one million fewer HIV related hospital days and a savings of more than $1 billion.

During the 104th Congress, I had the pleasure of working with Senator Kassebaum on the Ryan White CARE Act Amendments of 1996 to ensure that this needed law was extended. Senator JEFFORDS, who has done a terrific job in crafting this bill, has already outlined some specifics of this legislation, however, I would like to conclude by discussing a specific provision which I am grateful Senator JEFFORDS included in this reauthorization.

This bill contains a provision, under Title II of this Act, addressing the fact that the face of this disease is changing as AIDS moves into communities which have not been impacted as great as several Title I grantees. One important aspect of this provision is the creation of supplemental grants for emerging metropolitan communities, which do not qualify for Title I funding but have reported between 500 and 2,000 AIDS cases in the last five years. For cities that have between 1,000 and 2,000 AIDS cases this provision would provide cities, including Memphis and Nashville, at least $5 million in new funding to divide each year, or 25 percent of new monies under Title II, whichever is greater. For cities with 500 to 999 AIDS cases in the last five years, at least $5 million in new funding each year will be divided, or 25 percent of new monies under Title II, whichever is greater. This provision will be implemented as soon as the appropriation level for Title II, excluding the ADAP program, is increased by $20 million above the FY2000 funding level. Once implemented, this program would remain in place every year after the initial trigger level is met with at least $10 million coming from the Title II funding to support this needed effort.

Mr. President, I would like to thank Senator JEFFORDS for his leadership on this issue, and Sean Donohue and William Fleming of his staff for all their expertise in drafting this bill. I would also like to thank Senator KENNEDY and Stephanie Robinson of his staff for their work and dedication to this issue. And finally I would like to thank Dave Larson and Mary Sumpter Johnson of my health staff for their work on passage of this bill.
