

every American taxpayer. But because there was liberal opposition in the Senate, we had to agree to a sunset provision. In 10 years, the marriage penalty, the death tax, and a whole host of other taxes will shoot right back up to where they were unless we make them permanent.

This week, we will be voting to make the death tax repeal permanent. For years, the death tax has taken as much as 55 to 60 percent of the value of a family farm or small business just to pay the taxes. This is a terrible tax and we should get rid of it for good.

I encourage my colleagues to support this bill, return power to the American people, and get rid of the death tax once and for all.

PRESCRIPTION DRUG BENEFIT

(Ms. WOOLSEY asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend her remarks.)

Ms. WOOLSEY. Mr. Speaker, we all know that today prescription drugs are a fact of life and a fact of death. The average American senior uses 18 prescription drugs each year, and the cost of those lifesaving drugs keeps going up.

That is why it is our responsibility as Members of Congress to enact a comprehensive prescription drug benefit plan, but it must be a plan that benefits all seniors and that it is not the kind of plan that our GOP leadership has proposed. Under their plan, only some seniors in limited scenarios will actually benefit.

Seniors should be spending time with their grandchildren, not trying to figure out how to pay for the medicines they need to live. Let us not make Americans' golden years, when they are seniors, into their darkest years, forcing them to choose between paying for food and paying for their medication. Seniors deserve better than that.

My Republican colleagues need to stop stalling. They need to come up with a meaningful proposal. They need to start helping seniors by providing a real prescription drug benefit.

HUNTINGTON'S DISEASE

(Mr. WILSON of South Carolina asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. WILSON of South Carolina. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to draw attention to a disease which affects thousands of people in the United States. Approximately 30,000 people in the United States suffer from Huntington's Disease. Each child of a parent with Huntington's Disease has a 50 percent risk of inheriting the illness, meaning that there are more than 200,000 individuals who are at risk today.

Huntington's Disease results from a genetically programmed degeneration of nerve cells in certain parts of the brain. While medication is available to help control symptoms of Huntington's Disease, there is no treatment to stop or reverse the course of the disease.

I would like to commend Dr. Ruth Abramson of Columbia, South Carolina, for her leadership and dedication in the fight against Huntington's Disease.

I encourage the American people to be aware of their own family histories, to be aware of the issues in genetic testing, and to advocate for families with Huntington's Disease in their communities, such as the Wayne and Ouida Dell family of Ridgeland, South Carolina. I also call on my colleagues in the House to join me in this effort to find a cure for those suffering from this disease.

MAKE TAX RELIEF PERMANENT

(Mr. GIBBONS asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. GIBBONS. Mr. Speaker, today this House will consider two bills under suspension which will make parts of the tax relief package that we passed last year permanent. I encourage all my colleagues to support these bills and to support making last year's tax relief bill permanent in its entirety.

By not doing so, we will force thousands of married couples to once again pay the unfair marriage penalty tax beginning in 2010. We will force thousands of small business owners to sell their companies for fear that they will not be able to afford the estate tax that will be reinstated.

Americans approved of last year's tax relief package. Now it is time to make it permanent to ensure that Americans do not face the largest tax increase in history in just a few years.

Mr. Speaker, this past week I met with many Nevadans, and this was the message they wanted me to bring back to Washington: Make tax relief permanent.
