

United States Marines who were killed in action during World War II while participating in a combat raid on Japanese forces on Makin Atoll in the Gilbert Islands in August, 1942, and whose remains were recovered from Makin Atoll in 1999; and

Whereas Congress hopes and prays for the recovery of the remains of 9 additional United States Marines engaged in that raid who, after surrendering in accordance with the law of armed conflict, were beheaded by their captors on Kwajalein Atoll: Now therefore be it

Resolved by the Senate (the House of Representatives concurring), That it is the sense of Congress that—

(1) the United States Marines killed in action or beheaded in captivity on Makin and Kwajalein Atolls during World War II gave hope to the world by offering up their lives; and

(2) a place of honor in Arlington National Cemetery near the Space Shuttle Challenger Memorial at the corner of Memorial and Faragut Drives should be provided for a suitable monument to the Marine Raiders, both as a reminder of United States resolve during the dark, early days of World War II, and as a reminder that the heroism and dedication of those Marines represents the sacrifice all members of the United States Armed Forces stand ready to make when the security of the United States is threatened.

Mr. BURNS. Mr. President, I am honored to stand here today with my distinguished colleague, Senator INOUE, and submit a resolution honoring the Marine Raiders. In recent months, heroism and service to our great Nation have risen as qualities valued and held dearly in the hearts of all Americans, but the men and women of our armed forces are no strangers to these qualities. Our American servicemen and women were not introduced to the concepts of bravery, sacrifice, and patriotism on September 11. The men and women of our armed forces have dedicated their lives to serving this great country since its conception, and I rise today to honor some of this country's greatest servants.

In August, 1942, the United States Marines conduct a combat raid on Japanese forces on Makin Atoll in the Gilbert Islands. On August 17 and 18, 1942, these Marines raided Butaritari Island, in the Makin Atoll. These men were members of the 2nd Raider Battalion, a Marine unit trained to conduct guerrilla-style attacks behind enemy lines. The unit was led by Lieutenant Colonel Evans Carlson; his second-in-command was Major James Roosevelt, son of President Franklin D. Roosevelt. The unit came under heavy Japanese resistance, and during the two-day battle, the Raiders killed 83 Japanese soldiers. However, because of weather, were unable to evacuate the bodies of their fallen comrades. The remains of these valiant men, known as Marine Raiders, were recovered and brought home to a grateful nation, at long last, in 1999. A funeral ceremony was held in August 2001 for nineteen of these brave men.

As Americans, we have become accustomed to the risks and losses incurred while defending the great American principles of democracy, liberty, and patriotism. Our strength and spirit continue to prevail, and our continuing efforts to honor those who make the ultimate sacrifice in maintaining America's freedom, must not be lost upon the Marine Raiders. The bravery and heroism of these men has gone unsung for almost sixty years, and the time has come now to honor the Marine Raiders by establishing a monument in Arlington National Cemetery.

This site would respectfully honor the Marine Raiders with a monument established at a point next to the Challenger Monument. Such recognition will demonstrate to our country and to the world that America will never leave any of our fallen servicemen and women behind, either in memory or geographic location, and will bring them home to the American soil they perished defending.

As a former Marine, I am proud to have served this great Nation. The call to service as a member of the armed forces is a strong and noble call. In light of the recent attacks upon America, we remain united in a common vow to never forget those make the ultimate sacrifice in protecting the liberty we as Americans hold so precious. We, as Members of Congress and as citizens of this country, must remain united in fulfilling this promise to those who make that sacrifice today and tomorrow, without forgetting the men and women who made it yesterday, and in every war of America's past. We owe these heroes the honor of remembrance, both for the liberty we enjoy today and our freedom tomorrow.

Honoring the Marine Raiders presents us the unique opportunity to present to the world the love and respect we have for our fallen warriors. With the challenges of war looming for our servicemen and women today, this demonstration of respect seems particularly appropriate. I ask my colleagues to join Senator INOUE and me in honoring these men, and their sacrifice, with a memorial in Arlington Cemetery.
