

Fortunately, the bill included sunset provisions, allowing Congress to revisit the law, reflect on its implementation, and fix those parts of the law that have clearly become overreaching. Four years later, Congress has failed to seize the opportunity to do so.

I urge my colleagues to oppose the leadership's attempt to irresponsibly rush another flawed bill into law.

Let us not repeat the mistakes of the past. Let us instead strike the right balance between our national security and our constitutional rights.

At a time when so much of the world questions our commitment to our own values, I urge my colleagues to show the American people and the world that we will defend our country, but that we will do so in a way that protects those rights that make it worth defending.

OUR ECONOMIC EXPANSION CONTINUES

(Mr. STEARNS asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. STEARNS. Mr. Speaker, recent reports and statistics are showing that the American economy has rebounded from the devastation of Hurricane Katrina and is back on its historic track of growth and productivity.

In November, 215,000 new jobs were created for a total of 4.4 million new jobs over the last 2½ years. Our economy grew at a solid 4.3 percent in the third quarter, and unemployment is at a low 5 percent rate. In addition, the productivity of American workers is at an impressive annual rate of 4.7 percent, the fastest pace in 2 years.

Mr. Speaker, this astounding economic growth has all taken effect ever since we passed, and the President signed, the jobs and growth bill into law in May of 2003.

However, we in Congress still have work to do. We must make these tax cuts permanent, cut wasteful spending, and create an environment so that key sectors of our economy, such as the telecommunications industry, can reach their full potential.

If we continue on this path, the ultimate winner will be the American people.

THE PATRIOT ACT REAUTHORIZATION

(Mr. LARSEN of Washington asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. LARSEN of Washington. Mr. Speaker, I am here today to highlight the contents of H.R. 3889, the Combat Meth Epidemic Act, which has been included in the PATRIOT Act conference report. As a co-chair of the Meth Caucus, I worked with our caucus members to craft a comprehensive meth bill that would attack our Nation's meth problem on multiple fronts. While I would have preferred a straight up-or-down vote on a stand-alone meth bill, these meth provisions do benefit our communities.

Meth has been attacking this country, starting on the west coast and moving steadily eastward. It devastates communities, affecting not just meth users, but families, neighborhoods, public health, the environment, and crime rates.

This conference report takes necessary steps to limit access to a key meth precursor, pseudoephedrine. Significantly, it will allow for an additional prison sentence for individuals convicted of cooking or selling meth where children reside. Children are too often the silent victims of this drug. So this will help protect them by authorizing grants to assist children who have been found in meth labs.

For the first time, Congress is passing comprehensive anti-meth legislation that gives our local law enforcement and communities the tools, resources, and standards to protect themselves against the scourge of meth.

THE BORDER PROTECTION, ANTI-TERRORISM, AND ILLEGAL IMMIGRATION CONTROL ACT

(Mr. BEAUPREZ asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. BEAUPREZ. Mr. Speaker, I rise this morning in support of H.R. 4437, the Border Protection, Antiterrorism, and Illegal Immigration Control Act, because I believe it is past time we took serious steps to secure our borders and the safety of this country.

Rest assured, this legislation is not perfect nor is it a silver bullet, but it is a good start in terms of shutting off the magnet that is drawing people into our country to work illegally. Specifically, this bill contains provisions to establish the mandatory use of an employee eligibility verification program, designed to help employers hire only those who are in this country legally.

I submit that I am just as pro-business as anyone else in this Chamber. As such, I believe the Federal Government has a duty to provide the business community with the tools necessary to abide by the rules and then we need to enforce them.

I believe the Border Protection Act takes us a big step in that direction.

FIX THE MEDICARE BENEFIT

(Mr. BISHOP of New York asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. BISHOP of New York. Mr. Speaker, hundreds of seniors in my district showed up to five town hall meetings I hosted over the past month to explain the Medicare drug benefit.

For as much interest as my constituents demonstrated, they are just as confused and frustrated by the daunting task, as President Bush put it yesterday, of understanding and then choosing a drug plan from the dozens of plans with different premiums, deductibles, copayments, and lists of covered drugs.

Through no fault of their own, seniors are already encountering delays in their applications. Consequently, many will not receive their drug cards until after the sign-up deadline.

But we should not be surprised by a benefit whose flawed design was the result of ideology prevailing over practicality.

It is up to us here and now to make sure seniors understand their benefit and receive, without further delay, the affordable, life-saving drugs they deserve.

The first step should be extending the deadline by at least 6 months. I urge my colleagues to support this simple measure.

Seniors should not be rushed or penalized as they make this very important decision.

IRAQ SOLIDARITY DAY

(Mr. PRICE of Georgia asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. PRICE of Georgia. Mr. Speaker, Iraqis tomorrow will vote and America will stand firmly behind them for this historic milestone. While we look into the future, it is instructive to look back just a few short years. Iraqis lived in fear. "Freedom of expression" were three words most Iraqis thought they would never experience, and a brutal dictator oppressed millions of people.

Now optimism and success are sweeping Iraq. Hundreds of candidates vying for 275 representative spots are a product of this success. In the span of a few short years, Iraq's economic sector is setting the stage for growth. Introducing a new currency, reopening their stock exchange, loans to encourage small businesses, and infrastructure improvements are just a start.

More Iraqi security forces are being trained every day; and today, over 210,000 have been trained and equipped. The election this week is the next important step that must be taken in order to allow our men and women to begin coming home, having accomplished a great deal.

Mr. Speaker, tomorrow will be a historic day for Iraq, and all America will watch proudly as we witness freedom and democracy coming to reality before our eyes.

MEDICARE DRUG PLAN

(Mr. DEFAZIO asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. DEFAZIO. Mr. Speaker, the President breezed through a senior center yesterday, and he said, well, the Medicare drug plan seems perplexing, but he urged seniors to sign up anyway. It's a good deal, he said, of the program.

Well, it's a great deal for the pharmaceutical industry because it protects
