While at Mt. Sinai, Dr. Frost sold a disposable instrument for skin biopsies to Miles Laboratory. He and his partner in that venture then purchased Key Pharmaceuticals, which was later sold to Schering-Plough for $600 million. Eager to explore the then-unglamorous world of generic drugs, Dr. Frost next founded IVAX Corporation, which became recognized for its consumer-directed research, development, manufacture, and marketing of pharmaceutical products worldwide. Since 1987, Dr. Frost has served as chairman of the board of directors and chief executive officer of IVAX; he also was president from 1991 to 1995. IVAX was recently acquired by TEVA Pharmaceutical Industries Ltd. and, according to published reports, Dr. Frost will receive more than $1 billion of TEVA stock as a result of its sale.

Residents of Florida for over 40 years, Dr. and Mrs. Frost also have been ardent supporters of local community efforts. In addition to their commitment to the visual arts, the Frosts made a $33 million gift to the University of Miami for its school of music (now called the Phillip and Patricia Frost School of Music), one of the largest individual gifts the university ever has received. Dr. Frost serves as campaign co-chair of the fund-raising initiative "Momentum: The Campaign for the University of Miami," having previously served as chairman of its board of trustees, and co-chaired the successful launch of the Miami Art Museum's fund-raising campaign "Art for All People." He is a former member of the Florida International University (FIU) Foundation board and the FIU board of trustees. The Patricia & Phillip Frost Art Museum at FIU is so-named as a tribute to their longstanding support; likewise, the university presented Dr. Frost with an honorary degree in 1993 for his many contributions in medicine, business, and community service. He also was named the 2001 National Ernst & Young Entrepreneur of the Year.
