

They said we should, instead, give them amnesty and citizenship.

They waved their Mexican flags with great pride.

Well, a new study just released by the Law Library of Congress, reveals that Mexico itself is far harsher on illegal immigrants than the United States. For example, in Mexico, it is a felony punishable by 2 years in prison merely to be an illegal immigrant. In contrast to giving them citizenship, Mexico actually deported 250,000 illegal immigrants last year. Mexico even put their military soldiers on their southern border to stop illegals from going into Mexico from Guatemala.

Hypocrisy has crossed the border. It makes you wonder, were they protesting the wrong country last week?

ALLOW A VOTE ON THE PUMP ACT

(Mr. STUPAK asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. STUPAK. Mr. Speaker, this weekend I held four town hall meetings in my vast rural northern Michigan district. I put on over 700 miles as I traveled from small town to small town to meet with my constituents. The number one concern of my constituents was the extremely high price of gasoline.

My constituents can't afford to drive the distances necessary to go to and from work. My constituents know they cannot afford the $50 to fill their gas tank. My constituents know that my PUMP legislation, Prevent Unfair Manipulating of Prices, would end the speculation in the pricing of a barrel of oil. My constituents know the legislation would reduce the cost of a barrel of oil by $20 and would lower the cost of the gas at the pump by one-third.

We could do that today.

My constituents also know that President Bush and the rubber-stamp Republican-controlled Congress will not allow a vote on my legislation.

Mr. Speaker, let's lower gas prices today. Let's lower it by bringing forward the PUMP legislation for a vote in this House, and do the people's work instead of the oil companies' work.

PROGRESS BEING MADE IN IRAQ

(Mr. PENCE asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. PENCE. Mr. Speaker, this weekend I had the privilege of leading a delegation of Republicans and Democrats to Operation Iraqi Freedom, and despite what you see on television, there is a lot of good news in Iraq, thanks to American and coalition forces and the good people of Iraq.

We were in Mosul, the ancient site of the city of Nineva. And where Mosul, over a year ago, was inflamed with insurgent violence, today Mosul is secure, thanks to the 101st Airborne, but also thanks to a local Iraqi police chief who is leading 1,500 Iraqi police into the streets daily to capture insurgents.

We also met with the new Prime Minister, Nuri al-Maliki, who told us of his plans to appoint a cabinet maybe as soon as this week, a clear agenda for stabilizing his country. He greeted us with the words, "Welcome to a new Iraq."

It will be our hope and our prayer that the American people will stand with the good people of Iraq to see freedom's fruition in that ancient land.

NURSE LOAN FORGIVENESS ACT OF 2006

(Ms. LORETTA SANCHEZ of California asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend her remarks.)

Ms. LORETTA SANCHEZ of California. Mr. Speaker, our country is facing an increasing nursing shortage. Currently, in California, we are one of the 30 States that faces significant shortages in full-time registered nurses. But by the year 2020, 44 States are expected to have significant nurse shortages. We are going to need more than 400,000 new nurses nationwide.

We need to take immediate action to recruit and retain nurses for our Nation's medical facilities and address this critical shortage.

Today I am introducing the Nurse Loan Forgiveness Act of 2006. This bill will help recruit and retain more nurses by providing financial incentives for students to enroll in and complete nursing programs. It would forgive up to $17,000 in Federal loans over a 5-year period for people who have been working for at least a year as a full-time registered nurse.

It is time for us to take action and to address this ongoing nursing shortage. I urge my colleagues to help me and co-sponsor this bill.

LANCASTER COUNTY, PENNSYLVANIA, GENEROSITY

(Mr. PITTS asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. PITTS. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize the wonderful generosity of the people of my district, the Pennsylvania 16th. This generosity has been on full display in the aftermath of the hurricanes that hit our gulf coast last year.

The small Mississippi town of Pass Christian is roughly 1,200 miles from Lancaster County, but this hasn't stopped the people of Lancaster County, including many of the Amish community, from providing an outpouring of volunteer help to this devastated gulf coast town.

Organized through a group called Community Aid Relief Effort, dozens of Lancaster County residents have been traveling to the gulf coast every week since Katrina to help out with whatever was needed, and the results are showing. Debris has been cleared, damaged homes are being repaired and new homes are being built.

Mr. Speaker, while this outpouring of compassion warms my heart, it doesn't surprise me. The people of Lancaster County have a long tradition of helping those in need, and this is just the most recent example. I honor their efforts.

TAX POLICY BENEFITING TOP 1 PERCENT OF AMERICANS

(Mr. MCDERMOTT asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. MCDERMOTT. Mr. Speaker, some people say this is a do-nothing Congress. They are wrong. This is the rubber-stamp Congress. Every Member of the Republican side is right now looking through his office for where is his rubber stamp, because this is one of the days when they come over here and rubber-stamp the President's tax cuts.

The 13th page of the New York Times today carries the fact that the tax cut for the top 10 percent, 82 percent of the $69 billion goes to the top 10 percent.

Now, that is not do-nothing, that is just forgetting the other 90 percent in this country. And when a decent period has passed by, they are going to come out here and raise the debt limit again. That is in the paper today as well. They raised it in March, and they have given so much away and dug us so deep in debt that they are going to be out here doing it again.

There is nothing in what we will do today that is useful for anybody who is at the middle class or below. This is all for the top 10 percent. That is all these people are for. The time is coming for change in November.

(Mr. PRICE of Georgia asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. PRICE of Georgia. Mr. Speaker, the evidence is crystal clear: 32 straight months of job growth, 5.3 million new jobs created since August of 2003, the stock market within sight of a record high and homeownership at an all-time high. These are all good things.

So how should we keep the good things going? Continue the policies that brought them about. The House should ensure that we build on this success by supporting the tax conference report. Positive action today will prevent, prevent, a tax hike on millions of hardworking American families and small businesses that would greatly harm our economy.

By extending the reduced rates on capital gains and dividends, all Americans, all Americans, will be able to plan for the future with a greater sense of stability.

Furthermore, we will extend alternative minimum tax relief for Americans. The AMT was created in the 1970s, and times were much different. Today, an unacceptable number of families are exposed to this unfair tax, and this needs to stop.

Mr. Speaker, the facts are crystal clear: The Republican progrowth economic policies adopted by this House and this Congress are leading the way, and I urge my colleagues on both sides of the aisle to put politics aside, vote for the American people, vote today to prevent a tax increase on millions of hardworking American families.

TAX BREAKS NOT WORKING FOR MIDDLE-CLASS AMERICANS

(Mr. BISHOP of New York asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. BISHOP of New York. Mr. Speaker, is there any doubt today that this administration's first priority continues to be tax cuts for the wealthiest at the expense of education, health care and homeland security, all of which are being cut to pay for these tax cuts?

We have been promised that extending dividend and capital gains cuts will create a rising tide that lifts all boats. But American families know that it takes so much more than a trickle-down effect for tax cuts to deliver relief from rising gas prices, soaring tuition and skyrocketing health costs.

If the tax cuts had performed as our friends on the other side of the aisle promised, an exploding economy would have offset these strains. Instead, we are now burdened with $400 billion deficits, $3 trillion in new debt since 2001, and deep cuts to hospitals, schools and law enforcement.

How can we possibly justify tax breaks for millionaires worth more than the entire amount President Bush requested for the Department of Education and more than twice his budget for the VA? The answer is that we can't. We just can't.

Instead, Americans who need our help the most must get in line and patiently wait for the Republicans' tax cuts to make any meaningful difference, if they ever do, in their daily struggle.

Mr. Speaker, middle-class Americans deserve much better.

MEDICARE PRESCRIPTION DRUG PROGRAM SAVES MONEY FOR SENIORS

(Mrs. MYRICK asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend her remarks.)

Mrs. MYRICK. Mr. Speaker, to date, more than 30 million Americans have signed up for the new Medicare prescription drug program, and that is because it saves them money. An AARP survey found that almost 80 percent of those enrolled in the Medicare prescription drug plan say that the new benefit is meeting or exceeding their expectations. Seniors don't have to choose between prescription drugs and paying their bills or putting food on the table anymore.

And there is still time for seniors who are not currently enrolled to sign up for the program. They have until May 15th to sign up without any penalty.

They simply have to call 1-800-MEDICARE and ask about drug savings, and there will be someone there who will help to walk them through the process.

Again, the deadline to sign up with no penalties is May 15, so call and save today.

PROVIDE REAL TAX RELIEF FOR CONSUMERS AND REPEAT ENERGY TAX BREAKS

(Mr. CLEAVER asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. CLEAVER. Mr. Speaker, how high do gas prices have to go before this administration is willing to break its ties with the oil and gas company CEOs? For 5 years now, the major oil companies have been bringing in record profits, while the pain at the pump has grown worse for average Americans.

Today, consumers are paying $3 a gallon. If you are making minimum wage, that means your first hour at work is used to buy 1½ gallons of gasoline for your car.

Major oil companies just reported $16 billion in profits for the first quarter alone, and the national response has been moral outrage. Yet last year they pushed through an energy bill that gave oil and gas companies an additional $20 billion in tax breaks and subsidies.

The problem is, those in charge here are not willing to have the courage to stand up and make things right.

TIME FOR ACTION ON ILLEGAL IMMIGRATION

(Mrs. BLACKBURN asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend her remarks.)

Mrs. BLACKBURN. Mr. Speaker, one of my colleagues referenced the study from the Law Library of Congress entitled "Immigration Law Sanctions and Enforcement in Selected Foreign Countries." It evaluates the policies and the practices of Brazil, Egypt, Japan, Mexico, Sweden and Switzerland. The countries were selected specifically to provide a geographically and racially diverse group for comparison purposes.

What the study found is that strong enforcement of immigration law and tough sanctions can effectively reduce illegal immigration.

Mr. Speaker, it is of concern to us that we learned yesterday that the U.S. Government is releasing information on the Minutemen border patrols to the Mexican Government. It is very frustrating that our government would be both willing and able to release information to the Mexican Government on these patrols, yet unable to adequately deter illegal entry into this country.

Mr. Speaker, I want to see a border wall or technology improvements that will actually halt illegal border crossings. There is incredible consensus among Tennesseans that enough is enough on this issue. It is time for action.

DO-NOTHING CONGRESS REFUSING TO ADDRESS NEEDS OF AMERICANS

(Mr. BUTTERFIELD asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. BUTTERFIELD. Mr. Speaker, today is the 130th day of 2006. Guess how many of those days this House has been in session to address the needs of the American people? Twenty-nine. Twenty-nine. This is only the 29th voting day of the year here in the House of Representatives.

No wonder, Mr. Speaker, the American people have lost confidence in this Congress. The Republican majority would rather recess than tackle the tough issues of our day.

Or could it be that the Republicans are simply incapable of governing? House Republicans have yet to pass a budget for the upcoming fiscal year. Before the April recess, the House Republican leadership brought a bill to this floor, but was forced to pull it from consideration after determining that it would fail.

Regardless of whether or not Republicans are able to pick up enough Republican votes this week, the fact remains that they have presided over the largest fiscal collapse in American history. Five years ago they inherited record budget surpluses, and they have turned those into record deficits.

PORK BOOTLEGGERS

(Mr. MCHENRY asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. MCHENRY. Mr. Speaker, some say we have no border security. The Associated Press reported that border authorities inspecting a car crossing into the United States from Mexico uncovered a food item in a strange place. Customs and Border Patrol officers searched the man's car, and they found two pounds of raw pork, oh, heaven forbid.

The meat was wrapped in foil inside two disposable diapers. Bringing in pork is prohibited because the "other white meat" can carry hog cholera. Some say we have no border security. Authorities seized these items and fined the man $250.
