

records of his time serving as a corporal in World War I. We also have stories from the most current conflicts in Iraq and Afghanistan in the collection.

To have this personal record is so important to the history and nature of our country as it provides our Nation with the unique perspective of what it's like serving on the ground, a point of view often lost in the history books. Mr. Speaker, it is by preserving these stories and records that the past is shared with the future and lessons can be learned.

I highly encourage all veterans to participate in the Veterans History Project and support this resolution for the designation of National Veterans History Project Week to encourage public participation in this nationwide collection of stories.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to thank my colleagues, Mr. KIND of Wisconsin and Mr. WAMP of Tennessee, for introducing this bipartisan legislation, and Chairman FILNER and Ranking Member BUYER for moving the bill so quickly to the floor for consideration.

I urge all of my colleagues to support H. Res. 866.

I yield back the balance of my time.

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. WALZ. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks and include extraneous material on House Resolution 866.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Minnesota?

There was no objection.

Mr. WALZ. Again, I, too, want to thank Mr. WAMP, Mr. KIND, and everyone involved in this; it is absolutely appropriate as next week we stop to remember Veterans Day. This project does so all year and for generations to come. I urge unanimous support of this resolution.

Ms. JACKSON LEE of Texas. Mr. Speaker, I stand here today in support of H. Res. 866, which expresses support for designation of a National Veterans History Project Week to encourage public participation in a nationwide project that collects and preserves the stories of the men and women who served our nation in times of war and conflict. I support this resolution because the preservation of our country's history, as told by the men and women of the armed services, is a valuable piece of our nation's heritage and merits our wholehearted endorsement.

The Veterans History Project was established in 2000 by the Veteran's Oral History Project Act, which I was proud to support as a cosponsor. We knew then, as we know now, that the experience of our nation's veterans is a vital part of the history of military conflicts. The Congress unanimously supported the legislation, a testament to the necessity of this effort.

The American Folklife Center of the Library of Congress was charged by Congress to initiate and oversee the Veterans History Project. Its task is to engage the public to create a collection of oral histories, which would be available for scholars. The Veterans History Project is operated by volunteer interviewers, partner organizations, and an array of institutions' dedicated to the preservation of the United States' heritage. Interviews with American war veterans and the civilian workers who supported the veterans are conducted according to the guidelines provided by the Project. The Veterans History Project collects the memories and remembrances of veterans who served in World War I, World War II, the Cold War, the Korean War, the Vietnam War, the Persian Gulf War, and the Iraq and Afghanistan conflicts. So far, the Veterans History Project has collected over 66,000 oral histories, pictures, and diary entries from American men and women who served their country on the battlefield and at home. The stories are made available at the Library of Congress and on the Veterans History Project website for everyone to study and experience.

I would like to acknowledge that there are two official partner organizations assisting this project in my home state of Texas. The first is the League of United Latin American Citizens (LULAC) located in Irving, Texas. The second is the LULAC-Daughters and Mothers Assisting Success Program located in Dallas, Texas. I am proud of the generosity of these organizations that are willing to donate their time to honor veterans and preserve veterans' history.

Veterans History Project Week highlights the need to collect and preserve the personal narratives of the men and women who have served the United States in times of war and conflict. The collection of personal experiences of U.S. service men and women will be a vital part of the historical record that will help future scholars understand the conflicts. There are over 23 million wartime veterans in America whose personal narratives can elucidate both the experience of armed conflict throughout time and the proceedings of the conflicts themselves.

This resolution is a timely reminder of the importance of acting quickly to preserve the experience of U.S. veterans. Approximately 40 percent of veterans are 65 years old or over. Of the 2.6 million World War II veterans who were alive in 2008, we are losing nearly 900 on average each day. We must not let time irreversibly claim the memories that are our nation's heritage.

The Veterans History Project also serves as a tribute to the men and women who have fought our country's battles or supported the effort at home. Collecting and preserving the personal narratives of veterans for historical records demonstrates the importance of the individual experiences. The voices of veterans will be available to be heard by future students of history and their experience will remain alive.

Mr. Speaker, this resolution and the effort to preserve the memory of those who have served our country in times of war and conflict are an invaluable part of preserving our country's heritage.

Mr. WAMP. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in support of H. Res. 866, expressing support for designation of a National Veterans History Project Week to encourage public participation in a nationwide project that collects and preserves the stories of the men and women who served our nation in times of war and conflict. I joined with my colleague, Mr. KIND, to introduce this legislation.

Our Nation loses at least 1,000 veterans every day, and along with them we lose their stories of courage and memories of comradeship and sacrifice. In October 2000, Congress recognized the urgency of collecting these wartime memories, accounts and documents and created the Veterans History Project.

Today we honor all the lives of veterans and the project by supporting the designation of National Veterans History Project Week. We encourage Americans to join in the effort to preserve and honor the service of our wartime veterans by interviewing those in their families and communities to contribute to the Veteran's History Project. It is a unique opportunity to help document the personal accounts of our Nation's veterans for today's generation and future Americans.

More than 600 stories of veterans in the Tennessee Valley have been permanently archived at the Library of Congress as part of the Veterans History project. More than 100 of these local veterans' memories were aired on Chattanooga's WRCB-TV. Through WRCB's television coverage, many veterans were inspired to share their stories and more were collected than we could have ever expected. Some of these memories include those of fresh-faced high school graduates who stormed the beaches of Normandy on D-day, officers who fought through the Battle of the Bulge and left Europe as decorated heroes, and young women who voluntarily served in the Army Corps of Nurses helping our soldiers heal from their battle wounds. Theirs are the stories we may not have heard if not for the Veterans History Project.

Our Nation's history of freedom is passed down from one generation to the next by American patriots who were willing to stand between a threat and our civilian population. It is essential that we work together to preserve their memories and experiences for future generations who have much to learn from those who have so honorably served our Nation.

Mr. WALZ. Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from Minnesota (Mr. WALZ) that the House suspend the rules and agree to the resolution, H. Res. 866.

The question was taken.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. In the opinion of the Chair, two-thirds being in the affirmative, the yeas have it.

Mr. WALZ. Mr. Speaker, on that I demand the yeas and nays.

The yeas and nays were ordered.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to clause 8 of rule XX and the Chair's prior announcement, further proceedings on this motion will be postponed.

HONORING SENTINELS OF FREEDOM

Mr. WALZ. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and agree to the resolution (H. Res. 461) honoring Sentinels of Freedom and commending the dedication, commitment, and extraordinary work of the organization.

The Clerk read the title of the resolution.

The text of the resolution is as follows:

H. RES. 461

Resolved, That the House of Representatives—

(1) honors Sentinels of Freedom;

(2) commends Sentinels of Freedom's dedication and commitment to the brave men and women who have served the United States; and

(3) praises Sentinels of Freedom for its extraordinary work for the well-being of the Nation's veterans.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from Minnesota (Mr. WALZ) and the gentleman from Arkansas (Mr. BOOZMAN) each will control 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Minnesota.

Mr. WALZ. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I stand in full support of House Resolution 461 to honor the Sentinels of Freedom Scholarship Foundation.

Sentinels of Freedom is an organization that provides support and opportunities to selected veterans with injuries sustaining 60 percent or higher levels of disability in all branches of our military post-9/11. They provide significant support in assisting our veterans to readjust back to civilian life and prosper in their hometowns or new communities.

Each of the past recipients of the Sentinels of Freedom scholarship has an inspiring story of recovery. Many of them have lived through injuries which they were not expected to survive and further endured many surgeries and months of recovery. For example, Army veteran Jake Brown accepted the first Sentinels of Freedom Scholarship in 2004. Crushed by a tank while serving in Germany, he was in a coma for 10 days and was not expected to live, but now he is back in his hometown and he is thriving.

Jake returned to his hometown of San Ramon, California, with his wife and currently works for UPS, where he has earned two promotions. He is also on the dean's list at Diablo Valley College. He has dreams of ultimately attending UC Berkeley's Haas School of Business. Despite having life-altering physical handicaps, veterans like Jake Brown are grateful to be alive and continue to prosper in their communities.

As Mike Conklin, chairman and CEO of Sentinels of Freedom, describes, the program is not a charity but rather an investment in the life of a person who has served our Nation and has earned the right to achieve his or her part of the American Dream.

As our veterans return home from war, it is fitting to have House Resolution 461 before us today. I am grateful to have the Sentinels of Freedom and other organizations that assist our wounded veterans and shed light and let them achieve their dreams.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. BOOZMAN. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

I rise in support of H. Res. 461, a resolution honoring the Sentinels of Freedom and commending the dedication, commitment, and extraordinary work of the organization.

The bills we have passed this year will make enormous strides in helping our Nation's veterans improve their lives.

However, the Federal Government cannot do this job alone. It is through the work of organizations like the Sentinels of Freedom that our injured veterans can get back on the road to self-sufficiency.

Started by the father of three Army Rangers after one of his sons was wounded in Iraq in 2003, this 2- to 4-year life scholarship program is meant to assist veterans with severe service-related injuries who have the aptitude, attitude, and drive to become independent and successful members of society. The scholarship recipients are called "sentinels" in honor of their sacrifice and commitment to guarding America's freedoms. Over 32 service-members have joined the Sentinels of Freedom program. These sentinels are flourishing because of the help and assistance they have received from volunteers in their communities.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to thank my colleague and fellow committee member Mr. MCNERNEY of California for introducing this legislation to honor the work and dedication of the Sentinels of Freedom, as well as to thank the many volunteers working with this organization all across the country to help our injured service-members move back into society.

I would also like to thank Chairman FILNER and Ranking Member BUYER for moving the bill so quickly to the floor for consideration.

I urge all of my colleagues to support H. Res. 461.

Mr. Speaker, having no further speakers, again, I urge the passage of this very important resolution; and I yield back the balance of my time.

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. WALZ. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks and to include extraneous material on House Resolution 461.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Minnesota?

There was no objection.

Mr. WALZ. Mr. Speaker, I, too, urge my colleagues to unanimously support this resolution.

I want to thank Mr. MCNERNEY from California for the inspiring story of Jake and for bringing this piece of legislation to the floor—again, absolutely appropriate the week before Veterans Day.

I have no further requests for time, and I yield back all remaining time, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from Minnesota (Mr. WALZ) that the House suspend the rules and agree to the resolution, H. Res. 461.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds being in the affirmative) the rules were suspended and the resolution was agreed to.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.
